The Jolly Bachelors are to give a social at the residence of Mr. A. B. Walker Thursday evening, to which the public is invited. Among the novelties is "Gymnastics," whatever that is. An oyster supper and other treats for stomach and head are promised, and a good time for all.

Among the late permits to wed are those given to John Smith, of Neola, and Lizzie Ritter, of Garver township; George Page, of Kansas, and Leonora Wilson, of Macdonalds; James Hartman and Mary Jane McGinnis, both of this city.

Mike Marney was brought in from Neola yesterday and lodged in jail here to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of gambling. Neola is being pretty well represented in jail here, there being now six in jail here from Neola. As there are only eight prisoners now, Neola has just one-third of the total number, and yet Neola gave a big majority against the building of a new jail here. Neola evidently thinks the present quarters good enough for its citizens.

Tom Hughson, who was arrested some days ago for playing policeman with the star belonging to Sweigert, of the California house, who is a special, had his case disposed of yesterday. On looking up the law it was found that there was no city ordinance covering the offense, and under the state law the penalty is very severe, it being a choice between $1,000 fine and a year in jail. Tom claimed that he meant no harm in wearing the star, but was just in fun. It seems like a heavy penalty for a joke, and the matter was finally dropped on Tom pleading guilty to being drunk and paying a fine of $7.60. He won't try to joke any more.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, upon whom a surgical operation was performed a few days ago, by which an ovarian tumor weighing twenty-five pounds was removed, died Sunday afternoon. She has suffered from the tumor for ten years past, and the operation seemed the only possible chance for prolonging her life, and that chance was but a slim one. Mrs. Smith was aged 46 years, and with her husband has lived here for the past seventeen years, being known by many and respected by all. The funeral services are to be held this forenoon from the Catholic church, the friends to meet at the house at 10 o'clock.

A middle-aged man from Onawa spent Sunday in this city and took in the city. The city took him in also, according to his story. He says that he went into a Broadway saloon, even if it was Sunday, and sat down to play for the drinks. He got full, and claims that he was drugged. Anyway he was so boozed that he let the fellows he was playing with get his pocket book, including $40. He says one fellow objected, and said that wasn't right, and the others kicked him out of doors. They then went out the other way and let their victim smooze it out. He was rather mortified and preferred not to prosecute because he did not care to be dragged into publicity.

AN EARLY FREEZE.

A Poor Victim Found With Feet and Hands Badly Frozen.

Yesterday morning there was brought to this city from Underwood in Norwalk township, about sixteen miles from the city, an unfortunate man who was in a terrible condition. His feet and hands were very badly frozen, and the man presented otherwise a pitiable appearance, he having a starved look of the face, his clothes torn and thin, and his only possession being a few dollars raised for him by subscription at Underwood by those there who took pity upon him on seeing his condition there, and one of the residents brought him in here for the county authorities to look after. His right hand was in a particularly bad condition, and Dr. Bellinger, who examined the unfortunate's condition, says he fears one at least of the fingers will have to be amputated. The man is a Russian and unable to speak any English, but can speak German, though poorly. In German he maintained to tell his story to the effect that he had been at work threshing for a man about eight miles from this city, and after working for him about a week was turned out in the cold last Monday night, without being paid off even. He tried to get a chance to sleep at some of the other houses, and was refused, and had to sleep out of doors. He thus froze his hands and feet. He crawled the next day from house to house, and by begging his way succeeded in getting to the little station of Underwood, from whence he was brought here. He had evidently received no medical or surgical help during the whole week and hence his hands and feet were in a most horrible condition. He was taken yesterday to the county house where he was taken care of, and the authorities say that as soon as he is well enough to travel they will take him back to where he claims he was at work, and see if he can point out the man who, he says, inhumanly turned him out of doors to freeze. The man says he is unable to tell the farmer's name exactly, but claiming simply that he is a German called Yonky, but says he can point him out.

SKIPPED TOGETHER.

The Young Husband of an Old Woman Escapes With a Well-Known Amazon.

A man named Davis, who came here about three months ago, has suddenly left for parts unknown. He is a man about thirty-five years old, and is the husband of a woman of about sixty, who is his second wife, and among whose attractions to him seems to have been a small fortune of $1,600. It is said he managed to get hold of most of his wife's money for his own purposes, and that when he disappeared he had in his possession about $600 of it. The money was not the only thing which he is said to have taken with him. The rest of his baggage consisted of a hale, hearty, muscular young woman known as Mrs. Barbara Bush, and still better known as Ella Harris. She will be remembered as the woman, who a short time ago got considerable free advertising for shooting several times at a woman in Siretville, of whom she became jealous on account of some man whose solidity each doted on. She failed to hit her target, but succeeded in getting in jail, where she became noted as one of the most filthy mouthed and noisy persons in the jail ever held. She was at last released on his own recognizance to await the action of the grand jury next month. Now that she has a fresh man with $600 in money, she will probably not be anxious to return to find out what the grand jury think about her case. It is said that one of the inciting causes which led to Davis' disappearance, is that it was discovered by one of the officers of the county that Davis voted on election day, when he had no right to do so, having only been here three months. It was intimated to him that the next grand jury was to look into his case for illegal voting, and it is thought that this frightened him, and not wishing to travel alone, he took the lusty amazon with him. The wife who has thus been bereft of man and money has not decided whether to prosecute or not. She has no means which she cares to expend in getting him back, and the pair will probably be allowed to continue their journey westward without molestation.

A SUNDAY WEDDING.

A Colored Damsel Arrested for Being Drunk is Released by Becoming a Bride.

On Sunday two colored girls, Minnie Holmes and Lizzie Dixon, were arrested and locked up in the new parlor at the calaboose, they being pretty full of booze. After getting somewhat sobered up a young colored fellow appeared on the scene. He gave his name as Mark Lowry, and explained that the girl Dixon was about to become his bride, but her getting drunk interfered with her keeping her engagement. Mayor Bowman, who chanced to be present, offered to marry the couple right there and then if they wanted to be joined. The colored young man showed his ivory most merrily and hastened to get out a license, while the mayor waited for his return. On coming back with the necessary document, the fair and blushing bride being well sobered now, was called out of the calaboose, and, standing up beside the dinky groom, Mayor Bowman proceeded to perform the ceremony. It was the first time the mayor had ever acted in this capacity, but he performed his duty well and didn't make a break or a slip until he had made the twain one. The bride was given her freedom as a gift, and the only fee the mayor received was a polite "Thank you" on the part of the groom. The city clerk looked around with a hungry look for cake, but in vain, and was so disappointed that he failed to salute the bride. The bride's female comrade, who had been with her on her spree, was hauled out by Mollie Wallace, and

TRAPPED FOR THIEVERY.

Yesterday afternoon a young man, who refuses to give his name, was arrested on the charge of having stolen a horse and buggy. He came to the California house yesterday and was recognized there by the proprietor, Sweigert, as having boarded there last spring for some time. He said he had just sold a horse and buggy, and had the harness still unaid. He wanted to get rid of that, so he could start for Chicago. Sweigert finally bought the harness for $5 and an unpaid board bill against a chum, now in Chicago, of whom he thought he could collect the money. Sweigert also bought of him a lap robe for $1.50. Afterwards he found that the property was stolen, and on tracking the young man about it the young fellow gave him half of the money paid. Officer Barhyte and Sweigert then took the young man to jail and looked him up. Sweigert found out where the horse and buggy were, and the officers took possession of them to await the discovery of the owner.

How She Caught Him.

Seated in the parlor of her father's magnificent residence, Lurline Loose hair allowed her taper fingers to wander idly over the keys of the piano, and obedient to her delicate touch, there floated forth upon the air the strains of that beautiful miscegenation, "Since Papa Tore His Pants." And as she sat there, absorbed in the reflections to which the music gave rise, the door opened softly, and Berwyck Hetherington entered the room. Lurline, all the senses of her passionate nature absorbed in the music, continued to play, not knowing that the man she loved, and to win whose pocketbook in return she would have hustled around with dread earnestness, was standing by her side. But at last Berwyck placed his hand gently on her shoulder, and by that indefinable sense that tells us of a human presence, although we see it not, she knew that somebody was around. Turning quickly she saw Mr. Hetherington.

Further Facts.

To the Editor of the Daily Bee: Please make corrections in your morning paper about the case of combustion in the alley back of Weis & Clausen's store. It is not back of their store, but on Franklin avenue, between the residence of John Clausen and that of the chief of police, where the heavy rains of last summer washed holes in the middle of the street to the depth of twenty or thirty feet, and the city, instead of fixing the street, fenced it up. Since that time several hundred loads of manure have been deposited in these holes, and last Saturday somebody set fire to it, to the great annoyance of the neighborhood, on account of the offensive odor it sent forth.

LET LOOSE.

The Tony Pair of Confidence Men are Released on Bail.

Yesterday the two men, Connorton and Howard, who were locked up here for an assault on the crippled Gillis, secured bail in the amount of $500, and were released to appear for the action of the grand jury at the December term of the district court. Tom Ratliffe became their bondsman. This will cause a stop to the further proceedings in regard to raising or lowering the amount of the bonds, which was to be further considered to-morrow morning, on a motion made last Saturday to increase the bonds from $300 to $500.

Men are but sorry witnesses in their own cause.

"The greatest of Kidney-Wort comes from the mouths of those who have been made strong and healthy by it. Listen: "It is curing everybody," writes a druggist. "Kidney-Wort is the most popular medicine we sell." It should be by right, for no other medicine has such specific action on the liver, bowels and kidneys.

Photographing a Ballet Dancer.

"The other day we had rather an amusing instance of posing," said a local photographer. "Billie Asteggiano, the premier danseuse, gave us some sittings. One of her dresses was the costume she wears in the world of nations. She could not speak a word of English, and as there were no linguists in the establishment we had great difficulty in conversing. She came out of the dressing room with a hop, skip, and a jump, and pirouetted in front of the camera. The artist tried to explain to her that she was too near, but she did not understand and immediately began a mazourka movement with lightning rapidity all over the studio. In and out of the chairs, around the camera stand, up and down the room, went the nimble dancer in every possible attitude of grace, except that of repose, but a photograph was not feasible. Finally, we sent for an interpreter, and while awaiting the advent of that person the ballet-queen continued her dancing, looking at the artist from time to time with a puzzled and impatient expression. Talk about a pas-de-deux, what I witnessed that day was the most wonderful exhibition of leg-agility you ever imagined. Finally the interpreter arrived, and Mlle. Asteggiano paused for breath. "Is it finished?" she asked in Italian. "I am tired." On it being explained that she was expected to remain still for a few minutes she leaped very heartily. "Dear me!" she exclaimed, "here I have been performing a complete ballet in front of the camera under the idea that all my movements were being instantaneously photographed. However, I am ready now." She gave a bound in the
