Bokemper was fined $20 Saturday for gambling. -Dishes, glassware, lamps, etc., at 303 Broadway. Howe & Son. -There were no services in the Presbyterian church yesterday. -Subscribers for newspapers and periodicals at H. E. Seaman's book store. -The district court opens one week from to-day. -Furniture of all kinds repaired by Howe & Son, 303 Broadway. -The matter of bridging the Missouri is to be talked over at the board of trade meeting this evening. -Large quantity of stoves and furniture at 303 Broadway. Howe & Son. -New lot nicely decorated, 56 pieces of tea sets, only $5 at Maurer & Craig. -There was another land slide in Furlay's Glen Saturday, by which a large quantity of dirt came tumbling down in dangerous proximity to the workmen, and giving some of them a very narrow escape. -Hand-painted china, art pottery, solid silverware, bronzes, etc., at Maurer & Craig. -The new meat market of Shull & Muller, 799 South Main street, guarantee best of meats and prompt attention. -Arrangements are made for union services in the Presbyterian church next Thursday, Thanksgiving, at which Rev. G. C. Armstrong, pastor of Broadway Methodist church, will preach and the other pastors will assist in the services. -Cheap railroad tickets to all points, Bushnell, five doors north of postoffice, tells them. Entrance, Main or Pearl streets. -Joseph Reiter makes the finest Suits in the latest styles, at the lowest possible prices. His merchant tailoring establishment is at 310 Upper Broadway, Council Bluffs. -Lewis has quarantined against Moreland and the south half of Wright township, in this county; also against Griswold and portions of Cass county. The Lewis Independent and Griswold Advocate are having hot words about it. -Numerous instances of sneak thievery have been reported of late, the merchants being chiefly the victims, one losing an overcoat, another a bolt of cloth, and so on, the articles being in most instances among those displayed in front of business places to draw trade, but which seem to draw thieves, also. -There are no further charges reported in railway rates from here. The Milwaukee & St. Paul still keeps its sign out "One dollar to St. Paul and Minneapolis, but the other roads do not announce any cut yet. The rumored reduction of a cent by the Milwaukee & St. Paul to one dollar from Chicago to Council Bluffs is not confirmed here. -A lively time is reported as having taken place at Turner hall Saturday evening. One man missed his pocketbook containing, as he claimed, $600, and he and his friends had quite a matinee with the suspected persons and their friends. There was a wild scene for a time, but the finding of the missing pocketbook caused quiet to be restored without any arrests being made. -There were several plain $7.00 drinks in the police court Saturday, among them Hugh Cameron, B. Young and William Harris. Another fellow, George Glasby, who put on the extra flourish of kicking in a door, was taxed $10 and allowed to board it out in jail. -The Nonconformist, the greenback paper published at Tabor by Vincent & Sons, has suspended, the chief reasons seeming to be that subscribers failed to pay their dues promptly enough to warrant the publishers in incurring any further liabilities. The Vincents promise to start up again, however, soon, and possibly in Council Bluffs next time. -In another column appears the business card of Dr. Meagher, who is stopping at the Metropolitan hotel. The doctor makes the eye, ear and rheumatic troubles specialties. He has numerous certificates from parties he has benefited. -Jacob Appel commenced business a few years ago in the stand formerly occupied by Felker Bros. and later by John Kost. From the very first he has met with a steady success. He has made several improvements to keep pace with his increasing trade, until to-day he has one of the most complete grocery stores in Council Bluffs. The best proof of success is success. Read his card in to-day's Bee. -Macomber, an account of whose murder by his companion, Wolfe, and his own suicide has already been given in The Bee, was not only well known in Carroll, but also here, as he was for a time a railway office in this city. His remains were brought east on the same train with that of his victim, whose friends live in Illinois. Notice A special meeting of the board of trade will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the question of bridging the Missouri river between Council Bluffs and Omaha. The incorporators of the company which was organized last spring to forward the project are especially requested to be present. E. H. ODELL, Secretary.

THE BRIDGE ENTERPRISE.

It Promises to Arouse from Its Slumber and Take on New Strength. As will be seen by the call given elsewhere, the board of trade is to have a special meeting this evening to consider the question of having another bridge between Council Bluffs and Omaha. Last spring this matter was agitated considerably, and the pros and cons discussed. Committees were appointed representing each city, and as the result of several conferences a bill was drawn up providing for the necessary governmental approval of a plan for a bridge, and naming certain persons in each city as incorporators. The bill was introduced in the house at its last session and referred to the committee, in whose hands it still is. Since then the matter has gained little public attention, and other interests have crowded the enterprise out of sight. It is now proposed to revive the matter and take such steps as will tend to make the bridge one not built merely on paper, but built in fact. The enterprise is a very important one and must necessarily be moved slowly, but it ought to be moved surely. It is hoped that all will take renewed interest in the matter, and that steps may at once be taken to put the scheme into active operation in some form or another, as may seem to be for the best interests of the residents of both cities.

Horford's Acid Phosphate FOR NERVOUSNESS.

Dr. H. N. D. PARKER, Chicago, says: "I have thoroughly tested it in nervous diseases, lyppepna and general debility, and in every case could see great benefit from its use."

PERSONAL.

J. Cohen, of Sioux City, was in the city yesterday. J. H. Bell, of Aurora, Neb., spent Sunday in the city. Harry Stern is back from a business trip over the Wabash. W. P. Cole, of St. Louis, is among the Ogden house guests. Attorney S. I. King, of Logan, attended church here yesterday. J. D. Ainsworth, of the Onawa Gazette, visited the Bee Saturday. Lieut. Gov. Manning is in the city again. His wife accompanies him. L. D. Davidson, principal of the normal school at Malvern, was in the city yesterday. Rev. P. F. Brees was yesterday at Blanchard, called there to dedicate a new Methodist church. On Saturday last A. T. Whiteley, editor of The Glenwood Journal, and wife, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Hon. John R. Raymond, the republican delegate elected to congress from Dakota, is visiting his brother, E. W. Raymond, in this city. Dr. E. J. Marshall, Miss Alice P. Marshall and Miss Emma E. Primer, of Marshalltown, Pa., arrived here Saturday on a visit to their relative, Mr. J. M. Palmer and wife. Fred Geise, son of Conrad Geise, after successfully completing with honor to himself a thorough schooling at Davenport, has returned home, and will probably engage actively in business here.

A Yelling Baby

is something to be avoided. Babies with colds, croup, babies with scalds, burns, bites, aches, sprains, or pains are bound to become noisy tenants of the household. Dr. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL will cure all these complaints.

Flick's Dog.

The News tells us that the dog which has been the well known brother and partner of A. T. Flickinger, of this city: "J. N. Flickinger, of Wayne, Neb., was in town yesterday. He says he felt perfectly happy on the western prairies until a couple of weeks ago, when he lost his dog, and life was not the same to him or to his neighbors' chickens since. Flick thought a good deal of that dog. Not because he was brindle and mangy and full of fleas, but on account, mainly, of the way he had of getting into a fight and when, on account of the howling, some other dog came along to upbraid the mill, the innocent way he had of getting the umpire into the row, and getting out himself on the pretext of having a sore toe and a bad cold. And then Roger, that was his surname, was the boldest of the bold; when half a dozen dogs formed a conspiracy to put it onto some bigger dog, he was modest and would stand in the rear until the big dog was pretty well chewed up, when he would rush to the front and get in a clip or two, and when the victim was walking off he would tear round and howl, as much as to say 'Don't fool around me; I'm a prairie blizzard in a fight; the megatherium, or big thing, so to speak, in my line.'"

What We Want.

Give Homeopath his pellets. Allopath his pills but for rheumatism, for aches, for pains and sprains, THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL is infallibly superior to either. It has benefited as many people as it has had purchasers. All druggists sell it.

Suffering for Suffrage.

Mr. Amelia Bloomer of this city was unable to attend the annual meeting of the Iowa Woman Suffrage association, held at Des Moines last week, and expressing her regrets, gave her expression to her view of the late defeat of the cause in Nebraska. She says: COUNCIL BLUFFS, Nov. 20.—DEAR MRS. COGHEMALL: I had hoped until to-day to be with you in convention, but circumstances have so shaped that I cannot well leave home and must therefore deny myself the pleasure of being your guest. In convention I am sure I shall not be missed—knowing as I do, that able speakers will be there with their strength, and experience the council. The defeat in Nebraska, as I know, a great disappointment to those who have so faithfully and earnestly labored in that state for woman's enfranchisement; but to outsiders success was hardly looked for.

Notice

A special meeting of the board of trade will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the question of bridging the Missouri river between Council Bluffs and Omaha.

The Incorporation of Laramie was a miraculous operation. No one thinks of raising the dead these times, though some desperately cling to death's door have been completely restored by BURROGH'S Bitters to genuine and lasting health.

A TYPICAL MONOPOLY.

Enormous Profits of the Standard Oil Company.

Cleveland Cor. New York Times. John D. Rockefeller alone holds the key. The Standard is the greatest monopoly in America, as powerful in its own field as the government itself, and holding the entire refined and crude oil market in the world in the hollow of its president's hand. Its methods and dealings are the most securely covered up and hidden from the public eye of any corporation that anywhere approaches it in size or ramifications. It fears nothing in the world so much as to be talked about, and the last thing desired by its managers is the advertisement of the public press. Its business is done by a few hands, although an army of executive officers carry out their decrees. No ray of information in the shape of an interview or otherwise ever shines out of the general office, and Mr. Rockefeller or Col. Payne are the last men ever questioned as having opinions on the question of oil. All departments of the Standard are kept distinct, and the most prominent and best-trusted men in one branch know nothing whatever of what may be occurring in another. A great many transactions never go on the books. The works are fenced in by high pickets to keep the public out; but a less palpable and effectual reserve hedges the employees in and causes them to keep their counsels to themselves. The press of Cleveland never reports it. When The Standard was first incorporated its capital stock was placed at $1,000,000. In 1873 that stock was increased $3,500,000. Within the last four months it has been expanded to $7,000,000, and the stock allowed to go into the market, although it has never got into the street. It is now worth about eighty cents, which would give the company a value of some $6,000,000. When this increase of stock was made all possessions and branches were turned into the common stock—the various works, pipe-lines and oils. It is surmised that this increase has been made with a view to unloading from the few on to the many, as against a possible coming day when the oil fields shall give up, and the whole colossal business go to pieces.

Meeting an Old Friend.

The Des Moines Register a day or two ago, in a lengthy interview with Miss Fanny Kellogg, and a sketch of her career, thus relates her meeting there an old Council Bluffs friend, who will be recognized by the description as Major Marshall, who formerly lived here, and still has many old friends and acquaintances in this city. It says: When the performance concluded the first person to enter on the stage to meet her was a well known Des Moines gentleman. It appeared that Miss Kellogg and he had sung together in a church choir at Council Bluffs nine years ago, and the career that they both began together has resulted in proving her acknowledged superior ability as a soprano, while his fate has been to become a valuable railroad officer, and has just about as much ability to sing melodiously or in good harmony as a locomotive can toot. There is music in his soul, however, and while he has lost in a degree the power to display it in voice, he has, however, the pleasing genius of utilizing it in his nature. His meeting with Miss Kellogg was as the meeting of old friends, and feeling like a stranger that intrudes, the reporter bids the little lady a reluctant good night.
