ORDER ARMS!!

A Batch of Interesting Information for the Regular Army.

Fort's Hall and Cameron to be Abandoned.

News From General Crook in Arizona.

Where Captain Bourke is Doing Excellent Missionary Service.

It is a very cold day when Colonel Stanton's fund of information is frozen, and when vigorous pumping fails to produce some military items from the "fighting paymaster."

A THREE WEEKS' TRIP through the department during which he visited Forts Sidney, Russell, Bridger, Douglas, Cameron and Hall, accompanied by Mr. Chase, his affable and grizzled clerk.

Foot, so well known in Omaha society, was found heartily cursing sage brush and cotton-wood and sighing for another season with the Omaha girls.

Fort Bridger has been increased by a company of the Seventh Infantry and is now commanded by Lieut.-Col. H. L. Chipman, of that regiment, who will devote his time, like all good army officers at that post, in shooting black tailed deer and jerking the festive trout from the icy waters of Black's Fork.

Fort Douglas with six companies is now the largest post in the department, and is under command of Gen. McCook who is making a visit to San Salt Lake yesterday for the latter post.

Fort Thornburgh to bring back the remains of Lieut. Russel H. Day, Sixth Infantry, who died at that post early last month.

The body was buried in the cemetery at Douglas with appropriate military honors. At Wahsatch where the tratis met,

GEN. HOWARD and Capt. Hayden were interviewed for a few moments. The general was on his way from Fort Washa'tis to Fort Hall yesterday for the latter post.

General Sheridan is now in Utah, and it is believed that both posts will be abandoned before the close of the year.

This is directly in the line of the policy recommended by Generals Sherman and Crook, which contemplates the concentration of troops at several large posts in the department adjacent to the line of railroad.

THE DEPARTMENT now contains five regiments namely the Fifth cavalry, headquarters Fort Sidney, Fourth Infantry, headquarters Fort Omaha, Ninth Infantry, headquarters Fort Russell, Sixth Infantry, headquarters Fort Douglas, and the Seventh Infantry headquarters Fort Laramie.

There are fourteen garrisons extending from Fort Omaha in Nebraska to Fort Hall in Idaho. The most northerly is Fort McKinney in Wyoming, and the most southerly is Fort Cameron in Utah.

The oldest colonel is John Gibbon, of the Seventh Infantry, the youngest Col. Van Voast of the Ninth now on sick leave.

Letters received from the genial, talented and pleasantly eccentric Capt. John G. Bourke, and dated at San Carlos agency give some interesting details of

THE WORK OF GENERAL CROOK since his arrival in Arizona. The day after his arrival in Prescott, he started with Captain Bourke for a tour of the Indian agencies to investigate the causes of discontent among the Apaches.

From that day to this "all quiet" has been the report from these redoubtable hair raisers. Every Indian has been counted, tagged and numbered, and each day a roll call of the braves at the agencies show whether any of the bucks have slid into plot mischief.

General Crook has been absent ten weeks, the greater portion of the time at San Carlos, where Captain Bourke has been acting as head missionary, and conducting an Indian Bible class with the marked success that so constantly attends his efforts at evangelization.

The last letter announced the departure of the general and his aide for Prescott, where Col. Martin has been doing the heavy dignified since his arrival. One his first steps is said to have been the issuance of an order prohibiting the use of liquors or cards by officers of the garrison.

NOTES. First Lieutenant Frank Michler, Fifth cavalry, is doing temporary duty at department headquarters.

Lieutenant C. E. S. Wood, aide-de-camp, is the literary man of General Howard's immediate staff, and is a frequent contributor to the Century and other magazines.

Captain Bobb's company, Fourth Infantry, arrived yesterday from the west to take station at Fort Omaha.

Seven companies are now at the garrison, including Captain Rawley's light battery, of the Fifth artillery.

U. S. Court. The attention of the above court is to-day devoted to the case of the United States vs. Rev. J. Harvey Rockwell, the divine who is charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

The arguments were being heard yesterday forenoon, and it is hoped that a verdict will be reached to-day.

The next case to be called is that of Caroline J. Van Meter vs. State National Bank of Lincoln, in which plaintiff sues for $16,000 damages for conversion of personal property.

Called. A happy event occurred at the Merchants' Exchange, on the corner of Sixteenth and Dodge streets, on the evening of the 21st. Mr. Geo. Higgins, the deservedly popular proprietor, was the recipient of a gold-headed cane. A large number of his patrons and friends assembled with the intention of giving him a pleasant

A MODEL ROAD AGENT.

Arrest of a Man Who Worked Out the Road Tax for Railroads.

Deputy Sheriff Grebe returned yesterday from California with W. W. Warren, whom he arrested at San Diego, Cal., and brought back to this city to answer to the charge of obtaining $815 under false pretenses from Caldwell, Hamilton & Co., of this city some weeks ago.

Warren made a contract some months since with the U. P. and B. & M. railroads to settle their road taxes in a number of counties in this state. His scheme was to make contracts with the road supervisors in the several districts to do the work of obtaining the supervisors' receipts, which he would then present to the railroad companies and receive his pay.

By getting the work done cheaper than the railroads could he made a small margin of profit. By some means he got hold of a number of receipts for work which he had never performed. These he presented to the tax agent of the U. P., Mr. McMurray, and asked for money on them.

McMurray, however, delayed payment, fearing something tricky, and Warren called Caldwell, Hamilton & Co.'s, and informed them that Mr. McMurray was out of town and that he was therefore unable to realize upon them, obtained an amount above mentioned, giving his note as security, paying up these receipts as collectors to the amount of $1,700. He then left the country.

When the bankers made inquiry they found the collateral which they held worthless.

The Union Pacific, although not a loser by the transaction, began to search for Warren to bring him to punishment. They tracked him Los Angeles, Cal., to which place the household goods had been shipped last September, under the name of H. O. Tibbitts, and from which place they were reshipped to San Diego, where Mr. Grebe obtained a clue to Warren's whereabouts at that time.

Mr. Grebe proceeded to the locality, which was at a ranch in Southern California, near the Mexican line, and there got him.

Warren will be examined before the police court this morning, and proposes to make a hot fight for his liberty.

RECEPTION OF SODALISTS

An Interesting Ceremony at Creighton College Sunday.

The attendance at the 9 o'clock mass Sunday in Creighton college taxed the accommodations of the chapel to the uttermost extent. It was composed in the main of students of the college and adults who had been attracted by the announcement that an act of more than ordinary significance and interest was to take place.

One of the features of the college, as indeed of all the colleges under the direction of the Jesuits, is a students' sodality, organized for the purpose of encouraging the young folks in the practice of morality and inspiring them with a tender devotion to the Blessed Virgin. The director of this sodality is Rev. P. J. Leeson, S. J., vice-president of the college, to whose interest and energy the progress made by the sodality this year is to be credited.

It had been decided, in view of the number of postulants, or students, who had passed the period of probation, of whom there were thirty-four, to hold a public reception. It had also been determined upon, at the same time, to bless a new statue of the Blessed Virgin which had just been purchased. The mass was celebrated by Father Leeson, and at the conclusion a few remarks concerning the nature of the act they were about to make, and the holy men who had idealized the name of sodality, were addressed to the students by Father Miles. The statue, placed upon a high pedestal and in itself some five or six feet high, was blessed by the same gentleman according to the Roman ritual.

The students were then arranged around the statue, while one of their number read aloud the act of consecration to the Blessed Virgin. The words were repeated, also aloud, by the students. This act over, the latter were invested with the medal and the blue ribbon of the sodality as an evidence of their reception into its ranks. The older members of the sodality renewed their act of consecration after which the general assembly closed. The new sodalists were entertained by the faculty at substantial breakfast, served soon after the conclusion of the exercises.

The sodality has now about 140 members, and is in a most flourishing and edifying condition, the credit of which is to be accorded to Father Leeson, its zealous and competent director.

DEWEY'S CONTEST.

He Hopes Yet to be One of the Douglas County Senators.

At the solicitation of his friends Mr. Charles H. Dewey, late republican candidate for the state senate in this county, has determined to contest the election of Mr. George Canfield, by whom he was beaten by a few votes, and yesterday served notice to that effect upon Mr. Canfield, stating that depositions would be taken on the 14th of December, at 2 p. m., before E. W. Simeral. Mr. Dewey claims errors were made by the boards of election in the First, Fourth and Fifth wards of this city and in Saratoga, Jefferson, Chicago and Millard precincts. Those conversant with the facts state that a correct count—that is, going behind the returns—will show a majority of fully 100 for Mr. Dewey.

PERSONAL. S. H. H. Clark is expected home from the east to-day.

Paymaster Lowe will and wife have gone to Marshall, Mich., to spend Thanksgiving Day with friends.

F. M. Crittenton, for a long time chief night operator of the Western Union in this city, left for Denver last evening to become day chief there. Mr. Crittenton and family will be greatly missed. Mr. C. Dwyer, an experienced telegrapher, takes the vacancy created, and Mr. E. W. Mayfield becomes his assistant.

CONCERT AND OPERA.

The Kellogg-Brignoli Performance at Boyd's Last Night.

The Kellogg-Brignoli attraction at the opera house last night was attended by an audience that would be called large, the most desirable seats and boxes being filled with a select and musical class of people. Mr. Gloce, a new pianist in the west, was the first to open the concert part, he giving an excellent solo from Chapin that displayed marked peculiarity of touch and ease, his playing being free from affectation that is becoming so noticeable among our new pianists. Mr. L. G. Gottschalk rendered "Barbieri di Siviglia" in a manner that was inclined to be somewhat stiff and uncertain at times, his ease apparently being more at rest in opera than in concert part. Miss Dickinson, the soloist in one of the latest additions to the concert singing, this being her first appearance in the west. Her voice is rich and quite sympathetic, her lower tones being particularly strong and effective, as shown in her singing of "Luzetia Berga," which gained for her hearty encore. Mr. Adamowski's violin execution was received with the greatest silence and appreciation, and he declined to render his admirers' recalls. He made a decided impression among our best orchestrians, and will always receive a friendly welcome from Omaha's best musicians. Miss Kellogg, on making her first appearance, attended by Mr. Gloce, the accompanist, was enthusiastically welcomed, and received a "bravo" after her encore to "Some Day." Her voice displays the same clearness and easy range of expression that was so noticeable years ago, and shows a marked increase in volume and power.

In Il Trovatore her singing appears more finished and brilliant, the scene in the fourth act being the climax of her best endeavors, both in the perfection of her singing and dramatic ability. Brignoli appeared to nearly as good a year ago as he does now, and infused his role now and then with that old-time fire and vigor that seemed to fairly wake the slumbering echoes. The audience was inclined to be not over enthusiastic, but appreciative in quiet attention to the numbers in the concert parts, as well as in the opera that they could not understand.

A Grand Season of Opera. It is decidedly to the credit of Manager Boyd that he has secured the Boston Ideal Opera company, as one of the coming attractions at the opera house. This admirable organization, numbering fifty-two people, with a list of eleven principals and an orchestra of thirteen pieces, is so much superior to all other English opera companies in America that it is justly said to be without a rival. In fact, it has demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of both the public and the critics that it is fully entitled to the name of "Ideal." Formost among the artists of the company stands Myron W. Whitney, whose reputation as the greatest of living basses is as wide as it is deserved. It was his voice which aroused the greatest enthusiasm. On the occasion of Adelina Patti's first appearance in Omaha, a year ago, and during the May festivals in Chicago and New York, he has for years been looked upon as the one "indispensable singer." Of Tom Karl, the leading tenor, it is not necessary to say anything of an introductory or eulogistic character in Omaha. He has been heard here, and the recollection of his admirable method and splendid voice has not faded from the minds of music lovers in this city. Recognized as the first of American tenors for several years past, it only need be said that he has grandly maintained his reputation during the present season, and is now in the zenith of his powers and fame. And then comes

ON TO OGDEN.

Meeting of the California Pool to Consider the C. B. & Q. Ways.

It has been evident for the past year and a half that the C. B. & Q. have determined to push their line on to a Central Pacific connection, thereby giving them a continuous through line independent of the Union Pacific road. While they have a through line on the Southern Pacific by means of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, still it is a lengthy route, as compared with the middle lines, and it would be much more convenient to their patrons and better time made if they had their own line, which has now reached Denver, extended a matter of a few hundred miles to Utah.

With this idea of extension in view, a meeting will be held at Kansas City on December 1st, of the California pool lines, consisting of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Central Pacific roads. The B. & M. in connection with it, and which has already extended to Denver, will in March next be another California line running in connection with the Central Pacific. This new line will therefore take part in all deliberations affecting business to California after March 1st.

AN APPEAL TO THE ELECT.

What is Expected of the Next Legislature.

Correspondence of THE BEE. DAVID CITY, November 28.—Of one fact none can be mistaken that the railroad faction of the republican party are bending every effort to hold every member in line by caucus in the hope doubtless to retrieve what was lost on the 7th of this month at the ballot box. For what purposes have these vampires labored in the past for republican supremacy? We all know only for purposes of barter and self-aggrandizement, and nine-tenths of even the republicans in this state are convinced that these men are classing off the members elect of the next legislature in three classes—i. e. anti-monopoly, democrat and republican, are only doing so for the purpose of scaring timid republicans into their own camp. Now, sir, I make bold to assert that not one of the members elect could have been elected but for their earnest professions of anti-monopoly principle; not even the valorous Val, or the valiant Laird could have been elected by a plurality but for their warm espousal of anti-monopoly. Then, is it not plain that the people of this state are anti-monopoly? First Republican or democratic only when these are strongly flavored with anti-monopoly, which means zeal and wisdom for the right, and in the name of justice and right, in the name of three-fourths of the voters of this state, in the name of good government by the people of the people and for the people, I appeal to every man who will fill a seat in our next general assembly, be he republican or democrat, to rise above party name, and strike for the best interests of the masses. The greatest good to the greatest number is what is expected by the people this winter at the hands of their lawmakers regardless of whether Lincoln shall have another capital appropriation, or Mr. Gere shall have the public printing, or that Messrs. Nye & Yost shall get a United States senator who will do their masters' bidding.

In the glorious name of republicanism, what monstrous injuries have we been forced to endure. Now we do think Messrs. Nye, Yost and Gere's masters should come down and take their chances with other citizens. Let our precinct assessors assess their property and levies according to its value; let them live like free Americans should, equally with every other man before the law; no special partisan fraud to protect them in their princely style at the expense of the bone and sinew of this people.

Now, gentlemen elect, we expect you to bury whatever of partisan spirit yet may linger in your breast, and your best efforts to serve our interests. Only justice do you ask, and simple plain justice do we most cordially bespeak for every citizen and industry in our great young state. Brains and money have ruled us too long. At our late election, the people dissolved this firm, now let brains and money care take care of itself without a ruler's powers, or in other words without having power to rule. Trusting that a good honest majority of our next legislature, will join hands and minds in meeting the demands of the people zealously, wisely and independent of party lash or caucus pledges, we anxiously wait your action, when you meet, in the meantime feel assured our demands will receive your honest attention, and the power to abuse us shall be abolished.
