lovers in this city and vicinity to learn that arrangements have been perfected by Ahich Miss Lydia Harris has been secured to give three recita's here, the dates fixed upon being Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of next week, December 12th, 14th and 16th. It has been arranged to have these at Mueller's Palace music hall, and those desiring tickets or further information concerning the recitals can obtain the same by calling there. Miss Harris gained an enviable reputation while associated with Mrs. Ford here, but she has since added greatly to her musical skill and reputation, and is to-day a favorite pianist in Chicago. The programme, as arranged for the recitals here, will afford the musiclovers three grand treats.

He Has Two Wives and Criminal Prosecution on Hand.

The Young Man Arrested and Now En Route For This City.

A few months ago a young man named Harry J. Carpenter, employed as clerk at the Western house in this city, wooed and won a rather simple, innocent young girl named Rachael Stevens, daughter of a widow living on Pierce street. The bride was a young one, indeed, being only 15 years of age, while Carpenter was several years her senior and many years older in the way of the wor'd. He lived with her only a few days and then disappeared. Since then she has not seen him or heard from him directly. About the time that Carpenter disappeared there were one or two petty burglaries committed here, prostitute, will come into Justice Frainey's and the police officers in tracing up such clues as they could get, obtained evidence which caused them to suspect Carpenter. They went to his young too, was naturally anxious to learn where he was, as aside from her nat-

The letter fell into the hands of a "Mrs. Carpenter," but not the mother of the youngman, but another wife. The Virginia wife at once wrote to the Council Bluffs wife, stating that she was in correspondence with Carpenter, and would keep track of him. By this means it was learned that Carpenter was at work in Danmark, Iowa, near Burlington. The authorities were notified by telegraph to arrest and hold him, and Officer Edgar, of the Council Bluffs force, -E. W. Ticknor, of "Our Meat Market," yesterday purchased some hogs to this city, and he will probability arrive here to day. He is to be prosecuted for bigamy, and if the evidence can be had to confirm the suspicions already aroused he may clothing, which some sneak-thief nipped have to answer a charge of burglary as well There is much sympathy -Large quantity of stoves and furni- felt for the Council Biuffs wife on account of her youthfulness, her condition, and her simplicity of mind, and the Virginia wife promises to come to the front also, and see that the evi-

The District Court.

The December term of the district court opened yesterday, the proceedings, as usual on the first day, containing but little of general public interest. Among the attorneys in attendance from outside the city were F. Benjamin, of Avoca, D. H. Solo-man and George Getty, of Shelby. Two new members were admitted to position of alderman and mayor there saides having been queen's coun-yesterday and started in upon its labors. Of the regular panel, A. M. Battelle, of Avoca, J. W. Butler, of Neola, J. W. Crossland, of this city, and J. L. Fetter, of Oakland, were excused, and P. Bechtele, J. J. Bolin, J. H Jones and Warren Hough selected to fill the vacancies. Worster Fay, of this city, was chosen foreman and M. G. Griffin, clerk.

LARSON & ANDERSON, The docket was called and a number of cases assigned and motions heard, this completing the doings of the day.

THIEVE'S TRICKS,

Some Silverware Stolen Some Months Ago Found Planted in the Blaffs.

The Mysterious Return of a Valuable Diamond Ring.

As many readers of THE BEE will remember, the residences of Mr. Turley and Mr. Wallace were burglarized a few months ago and some silverware taken. Since that time there has been no clue to the thieves or to the plunder until yesterday, when some boys playing in the bluffs near the high school accidentally came across the stolen silverware. The boys take delight in burrowing out small caves in the sides of these bluffs and it was in one of these that the stolen property was found planted. The thieves have probably been arrested somewhere else, or on some other charge, and have not been free to take away the plunder which they supposed to be thus safely hidden to await their pleasure.

THE AETURN OF THE RING. Yesterday's BEE chronicled the fact that C. B. Hungerford, traveling for a jewelry house, had lost a valuable diamond ring, which had been stolen from his room at the hotel. A colored boy, Frank Washington, was arrested, it being believed that when he entered the room to build a fire he picked the ring up from the dressing case, where it lay. Yesterday the chambermaid in cleaning up a room found the ring on a window-sill, and reported the fact to the office. The room in which the ring was found was one which the loser of the ring had occupied, but he had changed dence is not wanting to bring upon and been given another room, and several circumstances cause belief to exist that fellow who was arrested become frightened, and had sent word to a partner of his at the hotel, telling him where the ring was, and bidding him return it slily to the man's room, and the latter in doing so made a mistako and put it in the wrong room. The ring is a very fine solftaire, and is valued at $300. Yesterday afternoon an attempt was made to release young Washington on a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that no information had been filed against him, the officers having walted port of the auditor showing the ex- to see what the owner of the ring proposed to do about it. A YOUTHFUL THIEF. Yesterday the boy giving his name as Ed Inman, charged with stealing a revolver from a man named Morris, was before Judge Aylesworth. The boy pleaded guilty, and claimed to be very sorry that he had done so. He claimed that his folks lived in Des in the reform school at Eldora for three years and a half. He said that instead of doing him good it had only made him worse, as he learned there all sorts of tricks and crooked ways. He promised not to make another break for the bad, and was sent down IF YOU ARE GOING EAST to jail for fifteen days. The theft was altogether inexcusable, as the boy was given a charce by Mr. Morris to earn good wages husking corn, and instead of working he proceeded to steal from his employer and then skip out.
