

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Dogsport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1884. For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight. O. B. SARGENT.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

BALL'S
Elastic Section
Coiled Springs
CORSETS

Every Corset is warranted satisfactory to its wearer in every way, or the money will be refunded by the person from whom it was bought.

PRICES, by Mail, Postage Paid:
Health Preserving, $1.50. Self-Adjusting, $1.50.
Abdominal (extra heavy), $2.00. Nursing, $1.50.
Health Preserving (the healthiest), $2.00. Parasol, $1.50.
Health Preserving, $1.50.

For sale by leading druggists, everywhere.
CHICAGO CORSET CO., Chicago, Ill.
In St. Louis, Mo.

United States Depository
First National Bank,
OMAHA
Cor. 13th and Farnam Sts.
OLDEST BANKING ESTABLISHMENT IN OMAHA.

SUCCESSORS TO KOUNTZE BROTHERS.
ESTABLISHED 1856.
Organized as a National Bank August 29, 1868
CAPITAL SURPL. & PROFITS $250,000
$150,000

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS
HERMAN KOUNTZE, President
ADOLPH KOUNTZE, Vice President
F. H. DAVIS, Cashier
A. J. FORSYTH, J. A. CHRISTENSEN.

This bank receives deposits, without regard amount. Issues time certificates bearing interest. Draws drafts on San Francisco and principal cities of the United States, also London, Paris, Edinburgh and the principal cities of the continent of Europe. mar7d

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED
BANKING HOUSE
IN NEBRASKA.
CALDWELL, HAMILTON & CO.,
BANKERS.

Business transacted same as that of an incorporated bank. Accounts solicited and kept subject to check without notice. Certificates of deposit issued payable in three, six and twelve months, bearing interest, or on demand without interest.

Advances made to customers on approved securities at market rates of interest. The interests of customers are closely guarded and every facility compatible with principles of sound banking freely extended.

Draw Sight Drafts on England, Ireland, Scotland, and all parts of Europe. Sell European Passage Tickets. Collections Promptly Made.

DUPRENE & MENDELSSOHN
ARCHITECTS,
REMOVED TO OMAHA NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.
Architects of the Omaha National Bank, Nebraska National Bank, Paxton & Galligan's Block, Academy of the Sacred Heart, Millard Hotel, Etc.

THE CAPITAL PRESS.

Washington Newspapers, Past and Present--The National Republican as Arthur's Organ.

How Its Predecessors Rose and Fell--Duff Green and the Telegraph.

The Present Corps of Correspondents and Their Duties--Society Geese and News.

Washington Correspondence of the Cleveland Leader.

Ever since Samuel Harrison Smith came to Washington in 1800 to edit the National Intelligencer in the support of President Jefferson, there has been an official organ at the Capital. Nearly every president has had his newspaper to support him, and President Arthur's new organ, the National Republican, is by no means different. It has started out bravely with the opening of Congress, and it bids fair to make of itself a first-class newspaper, as well as the president's mouthpiece. Frank Hatton, the First Assistant Postmaster General, and one of its editors, has been connected with the Burlington Hawkeye, which Bob Burdette has made famous, and Snowden, formerly connected with the Chicago Times, brings all of the spice and brains of the west to build up its columns as managing editor. Eaton, its dramatic man, is well up in the profession, and his critiques are attracting much attention among theater goers. The paper starts out with a strong force, and it will be a power for the administration. Through it Mr. Arthur will make his capital of a re-nomination, and already many clippings bearing towards that point are industriously collected and published by its editors. Favorable comments on the message received much space, and praise of the president are sure to receive its attention.

ORGANS IN THE PAST.

As I said above, the National Intelligencer was the first organ in Washington. It boomed Jefferson and the doings of his cabinet in 1800, and kept its place under Calhoun and Jackson, the first reporters of Congress, down through every administration to that of Andrew Jackson in 1828. Jackson was not satisfied with anything which he had not made himself. Hence he did not like the Intelligencer. At this time Duff Green had started the United States Telegraph, and him Jackson took up through the influence of Calhoun and made the Telegraph the administration sheet. It got the government printing, which, as Green afterwards stated, when he had a fuss with Jackson and lost it, was then worth $50,000 a year. This quarrel of Green's arose on account of his support of Calhoun over Jackson for re-nomination. Jackson's action in taking the government support from him made him very angry. He would not visit Jackson though invited, and refused to take his hand in the presence of his cabinet and both houses of Congress. Jackson's first organ was that famous paper, the Congressional Globe, and its editor was

FRANK P. BLAIR, of Kentucky, one of the most powerful writers who ever wielded a pen in a Washington sanctum. Blair had John C. Rives as his business partner, and the two were considered the ugliest men in Washington. Colonel Clairborne, of Mississippi, says "Blair was a volcano constantly in eruption, blazing and burning, and overwhelming with its lava floods all that ventured to withstand it. He wrote with singular facility. His most powerful leaders were jostled down upon his knees upon scraps of paper and passed immediately to the compositor--mental daguerotypes leaping from a brain of prodigious energy."

John C. Rives, his partner, in 1856, thus speaks of Blair's personal appearance: "He is about five feet ten inches high, and would be full six feet if his brains were on the top of his head instead of being stuck in a poll behind it. He looks like a skeleton, lacks but little of being one, and weighed last spring when dressed in thick winter clothing, 107 pounds all told; about 85 of which we suppose was bone, and the other 22 pounds made up of nerve, gristle and brain. Flesh he had none. His face is narrow, taking the hatched kind, according with his mean air disposition when writing of his enemies. His complexion is fair, his hair sandy, and his eyes blue. His countenance is so remarkably mild, so firm, and he can look any man in the face without winking. We still think he is as homely as one man in ten thousand." Blair and Rives both made fortunes out of "The Globe." Jackson spoke through it as his own mouth, and he dictated many of his editorials through Amos Kendall. It held its place as the governmental organ under Van Buren, but the hard cider and log cabin campaign brought in Harrison, and it stepped to the rear. The National Intelligencer then became the organ, but by Tyler's accession it stuck still to Henry Clay and the whigs, and a new organ, The Madisonian, was the result. With the annexation of Texas The Washington Union was established to support Polk. It was edited by Ritchie and Heiss, and took the place of The Globe as the democratic organ, much to the disgust of old Hickory, who wrote angry protests against the change. It served under Polk, again came into power under Buchanan, but died when the war broke out.

With the war the independent newspaper started into existence, and organs as organs went out. No paper of the present as an organ can have the power of the organ of the past, and The National Republican, though it will support Mr. Arthur in general, will still hold an independent voice and be a newspaper for the present and be a newspaper for the future. The present has been forgotten.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Washington has more newspaper men than any city in the Union. All of the leading papers of the country have offices here, and many of them large corps of correspondents. Some have private telegraph lines connecting their offices in Washington with

STAR ROUTE THIEVES.

A Glance at the Jury That Convict or Acquit Dorsey.

Vast Resources of the Defence.

What Dorsey May Do to Escape Just Punishment for His Crimes.

Editorial Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The star route trials are fairly under way, and they excite much interest here, as elsewhere throughout the country. I stepped in Judge Wylie's court, in the dingy, dingy court-room of the old City hall, to take a look at the administration of justice in the capital of the nation, and there was anything but an air of business about it. Judge Wylie presides with creditable dignity, except when he allows Ingersoll to speak the court in the most disgraceful manner; but he probably expects to even things up with the eloquent infidel before the case goes to the jury. He is pretty thoroughly permeated with the belief that the star route defendants are unmitigated scoundrels and thieves, and he is given to making occasional severe threats into the disjuncted arena of the defence. Bliss was engaged in his elaborate opening for the government; the judge was busy examining some notes or papers, Ker sat close to Bliss with his arms folded in the most composed manner; Corkhill flitted about in genial conversation with visitors, and a gaping crowd of spectators jostled each other, although the long, dry and by no means rhetorical speech of Bliss furnished little of interest for them. Occasionally he would arrest the attention of the audience when he told of some such feat of the star route thieves as running up the Garland and Parrot City routes to $31,343.76 annually, when the entire annual postal revenue of the route was only $194.95. But as he multiplied the history of franchises of nearly equal magnitude, even star route ingenuity in theft became monotonous. The Mineral park and Pioche route in Wyoming probably capped the climax of Bliss' arraignment, as it was advanced to $29,000 annually, when half the days there was not a single letter or postal-card passed over it, and the other days averaged only a few of one letter or postal-card each day. None of the defendants were in the court, nor were any of their counsel present. They were familiar with Bliss' speech, as they had heard it all before, and as there was no chance for rhetorical fireworks, Ingersoll and his colleagues enjoyed themselves elsewhere.

THE NEW STAR-ROUTE JURY.
As the twelve men in the jury box, supposed to be good and true citizens, are to be the final judges of both the law and the facts in this important trial, public interest naturally turns to them. They are, with few exceptions, men of very moderate intelligence, and some of them evidently far below mediocre. Eight of the jurors are white and four colored, the colored jurors all having been accepted from the regular panel, while four of the whites are title-men, summoned to the ungracious task by Marshal Michael. The jury, as a whole, looks to be quite below the average of Philadelphia jurors, and it lacks what is usually noticeable in Philadelphia juries--several apparently intelligent and controlling minds. It may seem harsh to prejudge the new star route jury, but it is safe to say that if such a jury was sworn to try a case of equal importance in Philadelphia, with rich, powerful and unscrupulous defendants, the jurors turned loose every night for forty or fifty days, there would be no conviction. And when I remember that Washington is now less prepared to guard the integrity of the jury box than is Philadelphia, I must look for little less than a miracle to compass a conviction of Dorsey and Brady.

THE STAR-ROUTE COMBINATION.
The star route combination ramifies everywhere in this city. It has its fingers and toes in the departments, in the hotels, and its feelers extend to barbers, coachmen, servants, bootblacks and every channel where men of any grade can be made useful. The colored jurors, all of whom are in straightened circumstances and one of whom earns a precarious living by day labor, will be reached and tempted in a hundred ways, and when such men, who have never owned $500 in their lives, and who have no great amount of reputation to lose, can be tempted with tens of thousands, it is reasonable to expect a conviction? They may prove stronger than the wealth they never dreamed of possessing, or they may be intimidated by the fear of punishment; but it will be a marvel, indeed, if a jury with a little intelligence to guide them and little character to lose, as a rule, shall be able to maintain the majesty of justice in her own sanctuary.

THERE CAN BE NO HONEST ACQUITTAL.
This case differs from most important criminal prosecutions. There is no reasonable doubt, and there can be no reasonable doubt, of the deliberate and repeated frauds perpetrated by the defendants, by which the government was robbed of millions of dollars. Of the perpetration of these monstrous frauds there can be no dispute, and that Dorsey, then a senator, and Brady, then the assistant postmaster general who had charge of mail contracts, were the chief criminals in conceiving and executing these crimes, is just as clearly established as it is that Guttaeum shot Garfield. The frauds have been detected; the amount of money stolen is known; the parties who directed the scheme of theft and most largely shared the profits, are as well known as Arthur is known as president. There is not a single plausible ground for the defence to stand upon on the merits of the case. The judge knows the defendants to be guilty; the counsel on both sides know them to be guilty, and every juror went into the box knowing that the men they are sworn to try are neither more nor less than a confederation of the most desperate and successful public thieves. Such are the circumstances under which the trial starts, and there is only one way of escape for the criminals. They must corrupt jurors or witnesses, or

What Three Applications Did.
"I was troubled very much with sore feet. Three applications of Thomas' Electric Oil entirely cured them. Nothing better in the market." Jacob Butler, Reading, Pa.

Manusome (Ga. York).
Probably one of the greatest deformities in the world is that of Mr. Gaultney, now living in Taylor county. There seems to be an accumulation of adipose matter about every joint in his body, and the nearer the joints, of course, the greater amount of this fatty matter. Consequently his feet and hands are enormous; each of his hands weighing over sixteen pounds, and being several inches heavier than his head. He is 25 years old, and only 36 inches in height. The joints seem to have taken away all flesh from the other part of his body, and the limbs look like threads supporting enormous weights, and so great is the weight of his hands that they hang helpless at his sides, he being unable to lift them of his own accord. This fatty-matter continues to increase and his hands and feet get larger every year. This man is a great curiosity, and there are crowds at his home to see him.

Swindlers Ahead.
If any one has represented that we are in any way interested in any bogus bitterns or stuff with the word "Hops" in their name, cheating honest folks, or that we will pay any of their bills or debts, they are frauds and swindlers, and the victims should punish them. We deal in and pay for the bills for the genuine Hop Bitters, the purest and best medicine on earth.

HOP BITTERS MANUFACTURING CO.
BROOKIN'S ARITHM. GAVE.
The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetor, Chapped Hands, Chapped Cheeks, Corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures them. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by C. F. Goodman.

Free of Charge.
All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, are requested to call at C. F. Goodman's drug store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery of the Cause and Cure of Coughs, which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular all-size bottle will do. Call early.

STAR ROUTE THIEVES.

A Glance at the Jury That Convict or Acquit Dorsey.

Vast Resources of the Defence.

What Dorsey May Do to Escape Just Punishment for His Crimes.

Editorial Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The star route trials are fairly under way, and they excite much interest here, as elsewhere throughout the country. I stepped in Judge Wylie's court, in the dingy, dingy court-room of the old City hall, to take a look at the administration of justice in the capital of the nation, and there was anything but an air of business about it. Judge Wylie presides with creditable dignity, except when he allows Ingersoll to speak the court in the most disgraceful manner; but he probably expects to even things up with the eloquent infidel before the case goes to the jury. He is pretty thoroughly permeated with the belief that the star route defendants are unmitigated scoundrels and thieves, and he is given to making occasional severe threats into the disjuncted arena of the defence. Bliss was engaged in his elaborate opening for the government; the judge was busy examining some notes or papers, Ker sat close to Bliss with his arms folded in the most composed manner; Corkhill flitted about in genial conversation with visitors, and a gaping crowd of spectators jostled each other, although the long, dry and by no means rhetorical speech of Bliss furnished little of interest for them. Occasionally he would arrest the attention of the audience when he told of some such feat of the star route thieves as running up the Garland and Parrot City routes to $31,343.76 annually, when the entire annual postal revenue of the route was only $194.95. But as he multiplied the history of franchises of nearly equal magnitude, even star route ingenuity in theft became monotonous. The Mineral park and Pioche route in Wyoming probably capped the climax of Bliss' arraignment, as it was advanced to $29,000 annually, when half the days there was not a single letter or postal-card passed over it, and the other days averaged only a few of one letter or postal-card each day. None of the defendants were in the court, nor were any of their counsel present. They were familiar with Bliss' speech, as they had heard it all before, and as there was no chance for rhetorical fireworks, Ingersoll and his colleagues enjoyed themselves elsewhere.

THE NEW STAR-ROUTE JURY.
As the twelve men in the jury box, supposed to be good and true citizens, are to be the final judges of both the law and the facts in this important trial, public interest naturally turns to them. They are, with few exceptions, men of very moderate intelligence, and some of them evidently far below mediocre. Eight of the jurors are white and four colored, the colored jurors all having been accepted from the regular panel, while four of the whites are title-men, summoned to the ungracious task by Marshal Michael. The jury, as a whole, looks to be quite below the average of Philadelphia jurors, and it lacks what is usually noticeable in Philadelphia juries--several apparently intelligent and controlling minds. It may seem harsh to prejudge the new star route jury, but it is safe to say that if such a jury was sworn to try a case of equal importance in Philadelphia, with rich, powerful and unscrupulous defendants, the jurors turned loose every night for forty or fifty days, there would be no conviction. And when I remember that Washington is now less prepared to guard the integrity of the jury box than is Philadelphia, I must look for little less than a miracle to compass a conviction of Dorsey and Brady.

THE STAR-ROUTE COMBINATION.
The star route combination ramifies everywhere in this city. It has its fingers and toes in the departments, in the hotels, and its feelers extend to barbers, coachmen, servants, bootblacks and every channel where men of any grade can be made useful. The colored jurors, all of whom are in straightened circumstances and one of whom earns a precarious living by day labor, will be reached and tempted in a hundred ways, and when such men, who have never owned $500 in their lives, and who have no great amount of reputation to lose, can be tempted with tens of thousands, it is reasonable to expect a conviction? They may prove stronger than the wealth they never dreamed of possessing, or they may be intimidated by the fear of punishment; but it will be a marvel, indeed, if a jury with a little intelligence to guide them and little character to lose, as a rule, shall be able to maintain the majesty of justice in her own sanctuary.

THERE CAN BE NO HONEST ACQUITTAL.
This case differs from most important criminal prosecutions. There is no reasonable doubt, and there can be no reasonable doubt, of the deliberate and repeated frauds perpetrated by the defendants, by which the government was robbed of millions of dollars. Of the perpetration of these monstrous frauds there can be no dispute, and that Dorsey, then a senator, and Brady, then the assistant postmaster general who had charge of mail contracts, were the chief criminals in conceiving and executing these crimes, is just as clearly established as it is that Guttaeum shot Garfield. The frauds have been detected; the amount of money stolen is known; the parties who directed the scheme of theft and most largely shared the profits, are as well known as Arthur is known as president. There is not a single plausible ground for the defence to stand upon on the merits of the case. The judge knows the defendants to be guilty; the counsel on both sides know them to be guilty, and every juror went into the box knowing that the men they are sworn to try are neither more nor less than a confederation of the most desperate and successful public thieves. Such are the circumstances under which the trial starts, and there is only one way of escape for the criminals. They must corrupt jurors or witnesses, or

What Three Applications Did.
"I was troubled very much with sore feet. Three applications of Thomas' Electric Oil entirely cured them. Nothing better in the market." Jacob Butler, Reading, Pa.

Manusome (Ga. York).
Probably one of the greatest deformities in the world is that of Mr. Gaultney, now living in Taylor county. There seems to be an accumulation of adipose matter about every joint in his body, and the nearer the joints, of course, the greater amount of this fatty matter. Consequently his feet and hands are enormous; each of his hands weighing over sixteen pounds, and being several inches heavier than his head. He is 25 years old, and only 36 inches in height. The joints seem to have taken away all flesh from the other part of his body, and the limbs look like threads supporting enormous weights, and so great is the weight of his hands that they hang helpless at his sides, he being unable to lift them of his own accord. This fatty-matter continues to increase and his hands and feet get larger every year. This man is a great curiosity, and there are crowds at his home to see him.

Swindlers Ahead.
If any one has represented that we are in any way interested in any bogus bitterns or stuff with the word "Hops" in their name, cheating honest folks, or that we will pay any of their bills or debts, they are frauds and swindlers, and the victims should punish them. We deal in and pay for the bills for the genuine Hop Bitters, the purest and best medicine on earth.

HOP BITTERS MANUFACTURING CO.
BROOKIN'S ARITHM. GAVE.
The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetor, Chapped Hands, Chapped Cheeks, Corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures them. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by C. F. Goodman.

Free of Charge.
All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, are requested to call at C. F. Goodman's drug store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery of the Cause and Cure of Coughs, which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular all-size bottle will do. Call early.

STAR ROUTE THIEVES.

A Glance at the Jury That Convict or Acquit Dorsey.

Vast Resources of the Defence.

What Dorsey May Do to Escape Just Punishment for His Crimes.

Editorial Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The star route trials are fairly under way, and they excite much interest here, as elsewhere throughout the country. I stepped in Judge Wylie's court, in the dingy, dingy court-room of the old City hall, to take a look at the administration of justice in the capital of the nation, and there was anything but an air of business about it. Judge Wylie presides with creditable dignity, except when he allows Ingersoll to speak the court in the most disgraceful manner; but he probably expects to even things up with the eloquent infidel before the case goes to the jury. He is pretty thoroughly permeated with the belief that the star route defendants are unmitigated scoundrels and thieves, and he is given to making occasional severe threats into the disjuncted arena of the defence. Bliss was engaged in his elaborate opening for the government; the judge was busy examining some notes or papers, Ker sat close to Bliss with his arms folded in the most composed manner; Corkhill flitted about in genial conversation with visitors, and a gaping crowd of spectators jostled each other, although the long, dry and by no means rhetorical speech of Bliss furnished little of interest for them. Occasionally he would arrest the attention of the audience when he told of some such feat of the star route thieves as running up the Garland and Parrot City routes to $31,343.76 annually, when the entire annual postal revenue of the route was only $194.95. But as he multiplied the history of franchises of nearly equal magnitude, even star route ingenuity in theft became monotonous. The Mineral park and Pioche route in Wyoming probably capped the climax of Bliss' arraignment, as it was advanced to $29,000 annually, when half the days there was not a single letter or postal-card passed over it, and the other days averaged only a few of one letter or postal-card each day. None of the defendants were in the court, nor were any of their counsel present. They were familiar with Bliss' speech, as they had heard it all before, and as there was no chance for rhetorical fireworks, Ingersoll and his colleagues enjoyed themselves elsewhere.

THE NEW STAR-ROUTE JURY.
As the twelve men in the jury box, supposed to be good and true citizens, are to be the final judges of both the law and the facts in this important trial, public interest naturally turns to them. They are, with few exceptions, men of very moderate intelligence, and some of them evidently far below mediocre. Eight of the jurors are white and four colored, the colored jurors all having been accepted from the regular panel, while four of the whites are title-men, summoned to the ungracious task by Marshal Michael. The jury, as a whole, looks to be quite below the average of Philadelphia jurors, and it lacks what is usually noticeable in Philadelphia juries--several apparently intelligent and controlling minds. It may seem harsh to prejudge the new star route jury, but it is safe to say that if such a jury was sworn to try a case of equal importance in Philadelphia, with rich, powerful and unscrupulous defendants, the jurors turned loose every night for forty or fifty days, there would be no conviction. And when I remember that Washington is now less prepared to guard the integrity of the jury box than is Philadelphia, I must look for little less than a miracle to compass a conviction of Dorsey and Brady.

THE STAR-ROUTE COMBINATION.
The star route combination ramifies everywhere in this city. It has its fingers and toes in the departments, in the hotels, and its feelers extend to barbers, coachmen, servants, bootblacks and every channel where men of any grade can be made useful. The colored jurors, all of whom are in straightened circumstances and one of whom earns a precarious living by day labor, will be reached and tempted in a hundred ways, and when such men, who have never owned $500 in their lives, and who have no great amount of reputation to lose, can be tempted with tens of thousands, it is reasonable to expect a conviction? They may prove stronger than the wealth they never dreamed of possessing, or they may be intimidated by the fear of punishment; but it will be a marvel, indeed, if a jury with a little intelligence to guide them and little character to lose, as a rule, shall be able to maintain the majesty of justice in her own sanctuary.

THERE CAN BE NO HONEST ACQUITTAL.
This case differs from most important criminal prosecutions. There is no reasonable doubt, and there can be no reasonable doubt, of the deliberate and repeated frauds perpetrated by the defendants, by which the government was robbed of millions of dollars. Of the perpetration of these monstrous frauds there can be no dispute, and that Dorsey, then a senator, and Brady, then the assistant postmaster general who had charge of mail contracts, were the chief criminals in conceiving and executing these crimes, is just as clearly established as it is that Guttaeum shot Garfield. The frauds have been detected; the amount of money stolen is known; the parties who directed the scheme of theft and most largely shared the profits, are as well known as Arthur is known as president. There is not a single plausible ground for the defence to stand upon on the merits of the case. The judge knows the defendants to be guilty; the counsel on both sides know them to be guilty, and every juror went into the box knowing that the men they are sworn to try are neither more nor less than a confederation of the most desperate and successful public thieves. Such are the circumstances under which the trial starts, and there is only one way of escape for the criminals. They must corrupt jurors or witnesses, or

What Three Applications Did.
"I was troubled very much with sore feet. Three applications of Thomas' Electric Oil entirely cured them. Nothing better in the market." Jacob Butler, Reading, Pa.

Manusome (Ga. York).
Probably one of the greatest deformities in the world is that of Mr. Gaultney, now living in Taylor county. There seems to be an accumulation of adipose matter about every joint in his body, and the nearer the joints, of course, the greater amount of this fatty matter. Consequently his feet and hands are enormous; each of his hands weighing over sixteen pounds, and being several inches heavier than his head. He is 25 years old, and only 36 inches in height. The joints seem to have taken away all flesh from the other part of his body, and the limbs look like threads supporting enormous weights, and so great is the weight of his hands that they hang helpless at his sides, he being unable to lift them of his own accord. This fatty-matter continues to increase and his hands and feet get larger every year. This man is a great curiosity, and there are crowds at his home to see him.

Swindlers Ahead.
If any one has represented that we are in any way interested in any bogus bitterns or stuff with the word "Hops" in their name, cheating honest folks, or that we will pay any of their bills or debts, they are frauds and swindlers, and the victims should punish them. We deal in and pay for the bills for the genuine Hop Bitters, the purest and best medicine on earth.

HOP BITTERS MANUFACTURING CO.
BROOKIN'S ARITHM. GAVE.
The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetor, Chapped Hands, Chapped Cheeks, Corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures them. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by C. F. Goodman.

Free of Charge.
All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, are requested to call at C. F. Goodman's drug store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery of the Cause and Cure of Coughs, which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular all-size bottle will do. Call early.

J. J. BROWN & CO
WHOLESALE DRY GOODS
NOTIONS,
Boots and Shoes.
OMAHA, - - - - - NEB.

J. A. WAKEFIELD,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN LUMBER.
Lath, Shingles, Pickets,
SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, MOLDINGS, LIME, CEMENT
PLASTER, ETC.
STATE AGENT FOR MILWAUKEE CEMENT COMPANY!
Near Union Pacific Depot. OMAHA, NEB.

C. F. GOODMAN,
WHOLESALE DEALER IN DRUGS, PAINTS, OILS,
Window and Plate Glass.
Anyone contemplating building store, bank, or any other fine structure to cover and with us before purchasing their Plate Glass.
C. F. GOODMAN,
OMAHA - - - - - NEB.

W. B. MILLARD. EDWARD W. PECK.
MILLARD & PECK,
Storage, Commission and Wholesale Fruits.
1421 & 1423 FARNHAM STREET.
CONSIGNMENTS COUNTRY PRODUCE SOLICITED!
Agents for Peck & Bauslers Lard, and Wilber Mills Flour
OMAHA, - - - - - NEB

STEELE, JOHNSON & CO.,
WHOLESALE GROCERS
AND JOBBERS IN
Flour, Salt, Sugars, Canned Goods, and
All Grocers' Supplies.

A Full Line of the Best Brands of
CIGARS AND MANUFACTURED TOBACCO.

AGENTS FOR BENWOOD NAILS AND LAFIN & RAND POWDER CO.
HENRY LEHMANN, JOBBER OF
WALL PAPER,
AND WINDOW SHADES
EASTERN PRICES DUPLICATED.
118 FARNAM ST. - - OMAHA

P. BOYER JO.
DEALERS IN
HALL'S SAFE AND LOCK CO.
Fire and Burglar Proof
SAFES
VAULTS,
LOOKS, O.
1020 Farnham Street,
OMAHA, - - - - - NEB

F. C. MORGAN,
WHOLESALE GROCER
1213 Farnam St., Omaha, Neb.

PERFECTION
HEATING AND BAKING
is only attained by using
CHARTER OAK
Stoves and Ranges,
WITH WIRE GAUZE OVER DOORS.
For sale by
MILTON ROGERS & SONS
OMAHA
Full-activity

Notice is hereby given to the owner or owners of the following described property, situate in the city of Omaha, county of Douglas, and state of Nebraska, to wit: Lot 4, east side of 16th street, in block 43, twenty (20) feet wide, and containing one (1) and eight (8) feet side of 16th street, in block 43, twenty (20) feet wide. Such sidewalks to be constructed of two inch plank and to be in width as above specified, and the respective owner or owners of the above described premises are hereby required to construct the same.

AGENTS THE CHARTER OAK STOVE CO.
Be it resolved by the City Council of the City of Omaha, that a sidewalk be within fifteen days from this date constructed and laid to the permanent grade in said city, in front of and adjoining the following described premises, viz:
Lots one (1) and eight (8), west side of 16th street, in block 43, twenty (20) feet wide. Lots four (4) east side of 16th street, in block 76, twenty (20) feet wide. Such sidewalks to be constructed of two inch plank and to be in width as above specified, and the respective owner or owners of the above described premises are hereby required to construct the same.

(Signed) J. J. C. Jewett, City Clerk.
Chairman Board of Public Works City of Omaha.
Omaha, Dec. 15, 1884. d. thur. fr. ast.