Zorbaugh was the Mary "who had a lamb that followed her to school one day," while Clinton Spooner, in a unique representation of the lamb, caused the laugh to go the rounds again. Gracie Ford made an admira-ble old lady, while Charlie Dolan as the hen, was just as comical as could be, and the pair made much fun for the little folk. Eddie Schoentgen as the man in the moon, and George Evans as the man in the south, the former with golden crescents as a head, and the latter with a blazing sun, were also among the chief fun After the children had had a chance to thus see Mother Goose and her little folk, old Santa himself stuck his head out of the window of the house, and after peering about, concluded to come out. Mr. J. F. Barke took this character to perfection. Santa brought with him candies, nuts, popcorn, etc., for all the children present, and with their bundles of goodies the little ones started home with merry hearts, Sullivan & Fitzgerald, accompanied by the older ones, who were none the less happy because the vounger were.
