The trustees suggest that it will be very fortunate indeed, if the city could furnish the library in a public building with more commodious quarters free of expense, where the danger public for the enjoyment of these opportunities for intellectual improvement which this institution presents.

The present tax of one-half mill leaves to the trustees, after paying necessary expenses, about $400 per year for the purchase of new books, and for supplying the reading room. The trustees suggest that an increase of one-fourth of one per cent would add about $700 to this fund, and could be used to great public advantage for these purposes.

The terms of office of Horace Everett, J. P. Casady and Thomas Officer expire to morrow, and the council will have to take action in regard to filling the vacancies.
