MINOR MENTIONS

J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. -Subscribe for newspapers and periodicals at H. E. Seaman's book store.

CHEAP RAILROAD TICKETS.-Buy them from D. W. Bushnell, 5 doors north of postoffice.

-To-morrow morning Rev. Mr. Lemen, pastor of the Baptist church, preaches his annual sermon.

-Permit to wed was yesterday given to Charles P. Altwein and Margaretta Brahm, both of this city.

-Society folks are in expectancy over a marriage in high life promised to take place here next week.

-J. D. Stringer, arrested for obtaining goods under false pretenses, was before Justice Abbott yesterday and had his case continued for one week.

-L. C. Baldwin & Son have rolled into their new office in Shugart's block an elegant new safe, weighing nearly two tons.

-The trains were all late arriving here yesterday, owing to the severe storm. They were from one hour to four and five hours behind, demoralizing travel badly.

-John Hammer yesterday disposed of his fine farm, which he has owned for years and is located near this city.

-The history of this county, on which Colonel Kestley has been at work for some time past, is expected to appear in a few days.

-There was an incipient blaze in Dr. White's house yesterday, catching from a grate, but it was speedily quenched without serious damage.

-Justice Schurz yesterday continued for one week the adultery case of Strauss and Mrs. Johnson, the attorneys on both sides agreeing to this arrangement.

-The thermometer touched below 20° here yesterday morning, and as much lower as the consciousness of the narrators would allow of their telling. During the day mercury touched about 10° below.

-The driving of piles on the west side of upper Broadway to remedy the damage by last spring's washouts, and to prevent further damage, was commenced this week, but the cold has now caused a temporary suspension.

-The ladies sewing circle have arranged to have a fair and festival for the benefit of the poor on the 1st and 2d of February, at Dohany's hall, it being intended as the last and crowning appeal of the season.

-In one of the school buildings yesterday the janitor did not succeed in getting up a very high degree of heat, the thermometer at the time of opening school standing in one room only 30 degrees above and in another as low as two degrees below zero. The children sought warmer quarters.

-There was an alarm of fire yesterday morning turned in from box 13, but before the department had got fairly out, word was brought that the blaze was out. It proved to be an incipient one at St. Francis academy and did no damage.

-The cold weather, so severe for the past day or two, has caused a great increase in the number of applicants at the Baptist chapel for aid. The woolen clothing, stockings, etc., have given out and there is need of further supplies. Those who are able to bring or send contributions will have the same called for if notice is sent by postal card.

-One keno room in this city nightly draws a crowd of from fifty to seventy-five men and boys. Most of them can ill-afford the money they lose, and many are led into the game whose small stakes are needed for the support of those dependent upon them. It is time that the ascendant stiffened up their backs, and at least make an attempt to regulate the gambling of the city, if they have not the nerve to attempt its suppression.

-In view of the many disastrous fires elsewhere, many citizens here are calling for a more systematic and thorough inspection of buildings here, especially public buildings. It is not enough that flues and heating apparatus be examined, but there should be a measurement of stairways and investigation as to modes of ingress and egress to public halls and places of amusement, and the hotels should by no means be left out. An official report on these matters would serve to calm the nerves about some places and warn the public about others.

-The "Lights of London" was being presented at Milwaukee Thursday evening when the explosion of a calcium light caused a panic, the audience thinking the theater was on fire. Five persons were injured, some fatally. This same company was lately booked for here, but on the way to this city met with a railway accident, and the delay caused thereby led them to cancel the engagement here. "It" is a great problem, but if the panic had been caused here instead of Milwaukee, would there have been more or less than five victims? Are the chances for exits of the public buildings here sufficient? In some the answer is evident.

-There is a healthfulness in having just rivalry among the members of the police force as to who can do the most and best detective work, but this seems to be carried to such an extent here that in some cases criminals are allowed to escape. It is growing to be more and more of a custom here for each man to keep to himself any information he may gain, and leave the others in the dark. For several days past a man has been here, who is wanted in Omaha, but only one or two of the police force knew anything about it, and they did not inform the others. The man was up and down the streets here, and was probably passed and repassed by officers who did not know that he was wanted, and who could readily have picked him up on description. It seems that a change should be wrought by which a man is not allowed to escape through the lack of information given to some officers and kept from others.

ROYAL REPEAT.

The Pioneer Council R. A. of Omaha Visit Their Brethren Here.

They are Heartily Welcomed and Happily Entertained.

Details of the Doings.

The Fidelity Council No. 156, Royal Arcanum, of this city, lately paid a visit to Omaha, and were entertained by their brethren there in a most hospitable and happy manner. Last evening the Council Bluffs folks had a chance to reciprocate and they improved the chance most successfully, making their guests evidently happy. The Omaha visitors were entertained at the Pacific house, where all wants and wishes were fully supplied.

The visitors, on arriving at the hotel, found awaiting their signatures a new register, the opening pages of which had been set apart for their use and most beautifully decorated by the skillful pen of J. A. Roff, of the Rock Island road, who is really an artist in that line.

The early part of the evening was spent in the hall of the Fidelity council, which is one of the most attractive and most finely furnished in this part of the land. The regular order of business was then transacted and several were initiated. At the close of the council all repaired to the Pacific house, where a sumptuous banquet was provided. The menu and programs was printed in a very pleasing manner, with a beautiful frontispiece in colors, making a charming souvenir for the guests to take back with them, and preserve as a happy reminder of a happy occasion. The menu was as follows:

- MENU: Raw, Stewed, Fried, Corned Beef, Cold Turkey, Elk, Chicken, Venison with Jelly, Chicken Salad, Spiced Tongue, Cold Slaw, Mixed Pickles, Tomato Soy, Horseradish, Jelly Cake, Pound Cake, White Cake, Lady Fingers, Chocolate Oake, Crackers, Cheese, Coffee, Tea.

The tables were elegantly arranged and decorated, and the Bavarian band discoursed sweet music during the feast.

A merry season of toast making followed, Major Joseph Lyman serving as master of ceremonies, the following being the regular programme arranged:

Music-Toast, "Our Guests," Joseph H. Arthur, regent Fidelity council 156. Response by S. C. Gridley, regent Pioneer council 118.

Music-Toast, "Our Order," A. T. Flickenger, past regent, Fidelity council 156. Response by Dr. Joseph Neville, sitting past regent, Pioneer council 118.

Music-Toast, "Our Orator," M. A. Stimpson, J. N. Gridley, A. H. Sander, A. O. Powell, Robert Doherty, C. L. Fritcher, Fred Mack, J. H. Butler, Herman Rosenwald. Of Fidelity Council there were about fifty present.

About Our Seventh Page. The very attractive advertisement of Dr. A. J. Cook, which occupies the upper half of our seventh page, is not, as some may suppose, the display of a common quack. The name of A. J. Cook, M. D., is perfectly familiar to our people in a professional way, and also in connection with various moneyed interests with which the Doctor is conspicuously associated.

As a graduate of the old school, he has acted with the "regulars" until he tired of the impossibility of trying to acquire fame by being a "quack" doctor of all diseases, and hence, in the branches where he has been most conspicuously successful, and for which he has taken a special line of study, he proposes to devote his skill, energy and experience.

Specialists must advertise, and Dr. Cook, being a man of independence, has determined to advertise according to his own notions, and not in obedience to the dictates of those who are his competitors.

A Grand Concert will be given every Sunday in Bock's Beer Hall. In the evening a ball, with music both day and evening, by "The Little German Band."

All friends invited by Bokemper Bros. Jan 20- Fri & Sat ft.

BUYING BEEF.

A Heavy Cattle Transaction, Involving a Big Wyoming Ranch.

There have been for two or three days past reports of a large sale of stock being in progress, and now the negotiations have been completed. The transaction is, in brief, the purchase by L. C. Baldwin, of all the other interests in a large cattle ranch at Pine Bluffs, Wyoming, thus making him the sole owner of the whole.

This ranch is known as the "Cool Spring" ranch, its name being very appropriately given on account of several ever flowing, and never freezing springs of clear water, which serve to furnish an abundance for the ranch purposes. The ranch is located right at Pine Bluffs station, there being large tracts of land on both sides of the railway track, and several large pastures, all fenced. There are now about 6,000 head of cattle there, besides 100 horses, 300 or 400 tons of hay, etc., and the whole reaches a value not far from $200,000, it taking rank among the large ones of the great west. Mr. Baldwin, besides buying out the interests of others in this ranch, retains his breeding farm at Persla, where he keeps his fine blooded short horns and uses this as a foundation for bettering the stock on the ranch. Males from this breeding farm are turned to the ranch, and placed with the best of the stock in the pastures, and the best males of these herds are in turn placed with the other stock. By this system the quality as well as the quantity is being steadily increased, and a double advantage thus taken. The purchase among the heaviest transactions of the kind of any which have been made by parties in this section of the country.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Paving Question Discussed.

An adjourned meeting of the city council was held last evening. Aldermen Wood, Echer, Newell and Shugart present. The resignation of Col. Kestley as trustee of the public library was accepted and J. P. Cassidy elected to fill the vacancy. Special order of business, the consideration of the question of paving Broadway and Main streets, was taken up. Ald. Newell reported as the result of his investigation in Chicago. He was in favor of cedar blocks for a city the size of Council Bluffs, as it would last for 100 or more years and cost only about half of what granite would. He believed that block was the only pavement which could be put down here without confiscating property.

Mayor Bowman reported that by visiting Portland, Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, he became convinced that granite was the only thing, though costly. He recommended macadamizing with a view of afterwards laying a paving on top.

Alderman Echer had visited Pittsburgh. There Belgian block was being used entirely. From inquiries at Chicago he thought that he could pave twice with cedar at the same cost as for one with granite. Considering the value of property here and the amount of wear and tear cedar was the best.

Alderman Shugart had been corresponding with other cities, and he favored block pavement. Chicago recommended block for this city; Kansas City recommended block on concrete; Detroit was using Medina stone and favored it, and City Engineer Testevin suggested that a trial be made of a macadam of Sioux Falls granite. He thought it could be laid down here at $25 per yard.

Further consideration was postponed until Monday evening. The question of licensing saloons was referred to the police committee, with instruction to report an ordinance at the next meeting.

A resolution was adopted that at the next city election two assessors be chosen and the city divided into two districts, one including the First and Second wards, the other the Third and Fourth.

PROHIBITION OR LICENSE.

The City Council Will Now Wrestle With the Question Again.

The news of the decision of the supreme court that the prohibitory amendment is null and void has caused the aldermen of this city to put on their thinking caps and to consider the advisability of making a change in regard to the saloon business here.

When the amendment was adopted the council passed a strictly prohibitory ordinance, which is still in force, providing a penalty of $25 for every violation. Under this ordinance the saloon men have been complained of regularly once a month and have deposited $25 every time for their appearance, which deposit has been always forfeited, thus going into the city treasury as a real license of $25 a month, under the disguise of a penalty. This mode of procedure has brought no credit to the authorities that be, and has tended to lessen at least the dignity of the law.

Now that the amendment is declared null, the city council is at liberty to license wine and beer as of old, but not whisky. Some seem in favor now of passing a regular license ordinance, but raising the amount from $500 to $1,000 per year. It is claimed that if the council means license, it should so say, out and out, instead of giving license under the mask of prohibition. It is also claimed that the raise from $300 to $500 will increase the revenue, and weed out some of the more objectionable saloons, and get the business into the hands of more responsible persons. When the license was $100 per year there were about 75 saloons here. Now that it is $300 there are about 65 saloons, so that the raise of $200 has only caused a slight falling off in numbers, and the revenue has been nearly tripled. It is urged that a still further raise of $200 will increase the revenue still greater.

The old difficulty in the license system still exists, the council not being able to license whisky at all that being still prohibited by state law. This difficulty some think to avoid by passing an ordinance licensing saloons, and so defining a saloon as to cover what is desired.

Others suggest that there be a low license fixed for the sale of beer and wine, and a heavy penalty for selling whisky, so that the two together would make quite a sum for the regular saloon-keeper to pay for keeping both on sale.

Most of the aldermen seem in favor of a still higher license, however, though differing as to how it shall be taxed, whether as straight license, or a mixed license and penalty, or straight penalty.
