

The Daily Bee. COUNCIL BLUFFS. Thursday Morning, Jan. 25. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier, 50 cents per week. By Mail, $10.00 per year.

MINOR MENTIONS.

-J. Mueller's Palace Music Hall. -Subscribe for newspapers and periodicals at H. E. Seaman's book store. -Jacob Sims was yesterday morning moving his fine office into Shugart's new block. -Officers Barbyte and Sterling are now assigned to day duty, the other policemen being on nights. -A new floor of ash and walnut is being placed in the Ogden house billiard parlor, six inches above the old floor. -The trains yesterday morning from the east arrived about on time. Quite a change of time for the better. -There are meetings being held every evening at the Broadway M. E. church, with preaching by the pastor. -In connection with the Catholic Fair being held in Dohany's hall, another very enjoyable quadrille party was given last evening, which was well attended. -A fine fish aquarium has just been put in the Tremont house, it having been made by Mathew Weaver, a brother of Mr. Danziger. Weaver has shown himself to be a skillful tinsmith. -There will be a meeting of Division No. 16, Yardmasters' Benefit association, at their rooms in Omaha, Sunday, January 28, at 2 o'clock p. m. It is a request of the president and secretary that all members be present this meeting. -Rev. Thos. H. Cleland, D. D., will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath at the usual hours. The morning sermon will be followed by a communion service. There will be the usual preparatory services Friday evening next. -Slade, the prize thumper, is said to have at one time been in the spice business in New York, his real name being Herbert Pinckney. He sold out his business there some time ago to Smith & Vanderbeck. -The church folks believe in advertising. Last week the non-day prayer meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was advertised by a liberal scattering of dodgers. Yesterday there were notices all about town calling attention to revival meetings at the Methodist church. -The replevin case of Mrs. Goldstein against her husband, S. Goldstein, caused some six or eight witnesses from Omaha to visit Justice Vaughan's court yesterday, but the case was continued and hence no new developments. -Mr. and Mrs. Wood, in the First ward, celebrated their wedding anniversary last evening in a very enjoyable manner, a large number of friends participating in the festivities, and hospitality and happiness crowning every detail. They have resided here many years. Mr. Burboro, the jeweler, is a son-in-law of Mr. Woods. -The Nonpareil has been very justly finding fault with the poor manner in which the streets are lighted, but it lets its enthusiasm get away with itself when it proceeds, as it did yesterday morning, to complain of the streets being left in utter darkness the night before on account of poor gas, when the fact was that it was a bright moonlight night. -E. J. Farrell, of Neola, on a recent visit to this city left his pocket book containing about $200 in Sherraden's photograph gallery, where it was found a little later and the glad news telegraphed him, he having gone home. Farrell was lately married, which perhaps accounts for his absent mindedness. -There are so many wicked stories going the rounds about the personal reputation of one of the city officials, that it seems as if the hero of the romances would either demand an investigation, choke the stories down the throats of the throats of the originators, or else the city council should investigate. There is so much street talk that the public is wondering why the city fathers do not take steps either to vouch for the assailed character or to cause removal. -Chas. Voght whipped the county doctor of Pottawatomie, and on the plea that any one who would thrash a Council Bluffs man is insane, was declared non compos mentis. Sheriff Jones brought him back to Denison, and our commissioners declared him of sound mind. He was ordered to the poor farm, but refused to go. He was then told to go to the (), and he went to see his girl.-Crawford County Bulletin.

HOPKINS' CHOICE WATERWAYS.

Tapping the Missouri and Compelling its Current to Run Up Hill.

The Status Quo of the Council Bluffs Water Works.

Why We Have the Best Works in the West

There is great cause for congratulation as the near approach of the completion of our water works indicates a termination of the numerous ills we have suffered from in the past, owing to the very inferior water furnished by the wells, which, in the central portion of our city, have become so filthy as to be breeders of diphtheria, malarial fever and a thousand ills.

Surface drainage poisons almost every well in this city, and this difficulty must of course increase. But in an economic way there is one feature that is worth a great deal to our manufacturers, and that is this: At present no boiler lasts more than two years owing to the peculiar character of our well water, and that is all the water now obtainable. Hauling water from the river, a distance of three miles and a half, to fill cisterns is a common thing. The ice and water brought from the Missouri is now a heavy tax upon our people.

The water rent for a residence will be only about one fourth the amount now paid on the average for filling cisterns, as during the winter months coal soot accumulates upon the roof to such a degree that the water from that source is unfit even for washing purposes. Our Iowa bituminous coal is a wonderful manufacturer of soot. The unprecedentedly rapid growth of Council Bluffs makes water for manufacturing and fire department purposes a necessity of the most imperative character. Yesterday your reporter received an invitation to inspect the works. The Bureau has always maintained that every interest of our city should be closely guarded, while dealing with this as with any other corporation, yet it is always ready to investigate and award praise as promptly as censure, where the former is due.

The inspection of the works revealed a parallel case truly remarkable, for in spite of the thermometer having steadily indicated an Arctic temperature for fully a week past, we found work progressing on a vast well and in the shops a corps of workmen were busy, while the out stone is laying around in piles and the woodwork for the buildings is all completed, and everything indicated substantial and careful engineering, and no materials were being used that were cheap or trashy. The best of pressed bricks, the Illinois stone, and oak, walnut and hickory were being put in where the cheaper grade of materials are ordinarily utilized. The water mains are larger than the corresponding ones put in by our much vaunted Omaha works, and in fact your reporter is compelled to acknowledge general superiority.

The facts were so favorable that the party present were unanimous in their expressions of approval.

Hon. Sidney W. Hopkins, the president of the company, explained every detail with care, and in a future article we will try and do justice to the company by giving all the figures, and we must admit that a vast sum has been well expended by this company. Mr. Hopkins has made a very favorable impression upon our people. His quick perception and prompt, vigorous yet courteous ways, stamp him as a man that knows how to do business in a minute, and to the satisfaction of all concerned. Of course a wealthy capitalist from New York, like Mr. H., will always find plenty of friends, but there must be something more than dollars to commend a man to our people. Nevertheless, the president of our water works is a gentleman in the most complete sense of the word.

Mr. Harry Birkenbine, the engineer in charge, has shown remarkable skill and energy. H. P. M. Birkenbine, the chief engineer, is now here, and expresses full and complete satisfaction with the entire results.

Among the items we jotted down are the following:

There are one and a quarter miles of piling under the engine house and the machinery foundations. All the piling is capped. The siphon well is nearly completed. A large force of men are now engaged upon it, and it is a large affair, with massive boiler casing, and lined with brick. Preparations are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible for work upon the conduit, which is to connect the main stream of the river with the siphon well, and we are assured that as soon as the thermometer gets over this spring, a large force of men and teams will be put to work, and that the building will be finished early in the season, so that the machinery can at an early day be put in place and tested.

The brick in sight is the most extensive array your reporter has ever seen in Council Bluffs. Two of the piles were about 100x25, and fully 25 feet high. Then there was still another pile about half that size. The brick that lines the east reservoir is placed on edge, and over a half a million were used in that work. The west reservoir is not quite completed, but the east one is ready for business. The store reservoir will be the subject of a future article, when we get time to take it in and the pressure on our columns will permit.

The "visiting statesmen" that THE BEE reports to-day honored with his company were S. Farnsworth, president of the First National bank; Thos. Bowman, mayor of the city; Thomas Tostevin, city engineer; Messrs. Birkenbine, engineers of the company, and our editorial friend, Colonel J. H. Kestley. The president, Mr. Hopkins, took good care of the whole party, and strange to say, that even the natural critics had no words but those of surprise and satisfaction with which to express their thoughts. Under the circumstances, we fear THE BEE must follow suit and leave its stinger in the rear, where it may be of use on some future occasion.

There is a great clearing out sale at Harkness, Orcutt & Co.'s.

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE

Those Who Were Introduced to Court yesterday and the Disposition of Their Cases.

Yesterday morning Chief Field got his official eye upon a young Poleander who was wanted for the seduction of a 17 year-old girl and who has kept out of sight for several days. The young man was brought before Judge Aylesworth and explained that he had intended to marry the girl and had gone to Omaha to get a license, which accounted for his absence from the city. The girl, learning that he had gone out of town, became frightened, and hence entered the complaint. As he expressed a willingness to marry the girl and father the coming responsibility, an officer escorted him to the court house, where he procured a license, and then securing the services of a priest, was duly wedded, whereupon the case was dropped.

J. O'Brien was before the bar yesterday for stealing two pairs of over-shoes from Z. F. Lindsey's store, and a cap from Mr. Newman on Washington street. He had the property in his possession when arrested, and pleaded guilty to taking the over-shoes, but denied taking the cap, claiming that he had bought that at Missouri Valley. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail, his only excuse for the felony being that he was drunk at the time.

Death of Mrs. Baldwin. Mrs. Jane Baldwin died yesterday noon at her home in this city. The simple announcement sends a feeling of sadness to many homes, and calls forth great sympathy throughout the community for those upon whom the blow falls directly, for many here feel that the loss is not confined to the friends where she was so loved and respected, but in it they, too, have a share.

Mrs. Baldwin was the widow of Judge Caleb Baldwin, to whom she was married in Ottumwa in 1848. He died here about six years ago, and was so widely known in this part of the country that his name was familiar in almost every household. She was born in Ohio in about the year 1830, and was in the 53rd year of her age at the time of her death. The family settled in this city in 1856, and during the long stretch of years since no member of that family more or more true friends here than did Mrs. Baldwin herself. Her many noble qualities of mind and heart and her true womanliness are so familiar in detail to many here that they need not be rehearsed in public, and her grand character as a mother and wife forms a rich legacy indeed to those of the same home, upon whom the shadow of her death rests deepest, while the memory of her as a true woman will long be cherished in this community, where her kindness and helpful influence has so long been felt.

Mrs. Baldwin was soon after her husband's death made postmistress of the Council Bluffs office, a position which she filled for five years with credit to herself and satisfaction to the public, showing good administrative ability in the management of the rapidly increasing business and great faithfulness and accuracy in looking after the details of the office.

About three months ago she left for the east to visit friends and if possible to better her health, which during the past year had not been of the best. While away she visited her daughter, Miss Susie Baldwin, who is teaching in a primary school in Fulton, Ky., and while there was taken quite ill, but was able to be removed to her home in this city, reaching here about a week ago. It was hoped that she would rally from this illness, but the complications were of such a nature that it was hoping against judgment, and despite the skillful care and tender nursing death came about noon yesterday.

She leaves six children living: Thos. B. Baldwin and John N. Baldwin, Mrs. W. S. Ament, and Misses Laura Susie and Jennie Baldwin. All are in this city except Miss Susie Baldwin, and the sad news having been telegraphed her she is expected to arrive here to-morrow.

To His Memory. Resolutions passed by the Bluff City Typographical union No. 203, on the death of Stephen J. Julian:

WHEREAS, By the death of our beloved and worthy brother, Stephen J. Julian, Bluff City Typographical union No. 203, deeply mourns the loss of one of its brightest members and staunchest followers of its principles, and

WHEREAS, By his death the craft throughout the entire jurisdiction of the International union is deprived of a life of restless activity and unflinching energy that has ever been devoted to its advancement; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That Bluff City Typographical union, while yielding in humble submission to the will of the Almighty, deeply feel this affliction, the first in his career, in taking from midst the youngest and most beloved of our circle; and be it further

RESOLVED, That through this and calamity the widowed mother, who is not only bowed down with the burden of grief in her loss of an affectionate son, but loses as well the protection of his watchful care, has the deep and heartfelt sympathy of this Union; and his relations we extend in this bereavement our condolence and sympathy; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Union, and a copy of the same be forwarded to his mother and family.

A MYSTERIOUS STRANGER. Purchasing Files of Goods from Various Merchants.

A mysterious stranger has been for a day or two selecting goods at different business houses here and having them laid aside, saying he would call for them and then settle in cash. In this way clothing, jewelry, ladies' wear and various other articles have been selected, and as yet no instances are reported of the man getting any goods or paying any cash. The amount selected is in all about $2,000, and all for personal use. There seems much difference of opinion as to whether he is an eccentric millionaire who has struck it big out west or whether he is a little off in his head, or whether he has some little scheme of his own. The merchants who have been thus patronized are exchanging experiences and conjectures, and seem at a loss to know whether they have hooked on to a wealthy customer or been played as fools.

PERSONAL. F. J. Ries, of Milwaukee, is at the Ogden. Charles F. Bates, of St. Louis, is at the Ogden. R. H. Teed, of Marion, was in the city yesterday. Isaac Johnson, of Randolph, Iowa, is in the city. A. C. Gardner, Chicago, arrived at the Pacific yesterday. W. F. S. Urgis, of Carroll, dined at the Pacific yesterday. B. Cohen, of New York, arrived at the Ogden yesterday. A. N. Klinefelter, of Joliet, spent yesterday in this city. H. M. Rosenblatt, of Chicago, is an Ogden house guest. Allen Smith and child, of Boone, are registered at the Ogden. J. D. Halstead, Pattersburg, Mo., was at the Pacific yesterday. John M. Boyd, of Rockford, was visible on the streets here yesterday. E. P. Caldwell, one of Logan's best-known business men, was in the city yesterday. Geo. Metz, of Riverton, Iowa, was in the city yesterday, with headquarters at the Pacific. William Zietlow, of New York, who represents one of the largest tobacco pipe manufacturing in the country, is in the city interviewing those in that line. Dan Carroge, of Atlantic, who has many acquaintances here, was in the city yesterday. He has lately pur-chased a $10,000 block in Atlantic, and seems to be prospering wonderfully in his finances. Charles Officer and his bride have arrived home, and are the recipients of many worthy bestowed congratulations and well wishes. The latter part of their trip was not so enjoyable as it might have been, snow and storm causing the trains much delay.

The many friends of Rev. Dr. Cleland, now of Keokuk, but whose long pastorate of the Presbyterian church here, gives Council Bluffs a perpetual claim on him, will be glad to know that he is to spend the next few days with his old friends here, and will occupy the Presbyterian church pulpit next Sunday morning and evening.

Dr. B. F. Gardner, of Bloomberg, Pa., who has recently been called to Yankton on a case in the family of his uncle, G. V. Pennington, arrived here last evening on his way back to his home, and was met at the depot by W. R. Vaughan and Dr. Seybert, the latter of whom is an old classmate and the former a relative. During his stay here the doctor will be entertained at Mr. Vaughan's home.
