SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE BEE. TAYLORVILLE, Ill., January 29.—The condition of Miss Emma Bond, the victim of the brutal outrage last summer, is very critical.

She is believed to be at the point of death. The condition of Emma Bond grows more critical each day, and she is now lying at the point of death at her brother's house, just east of this place.

The terrible spasms into which she passes every twenty hours have about absorbed her vitality, and her death is looked for at any moment.

Not Exactly That.

Detroit Free Press. A Buffalo man went the other day to consult a lawyer, and when ready to open on the business that brought him, he said: "Fifteen years ago I was appointed the guardian of a girl six-year-old."

"I see, and she had property?" "Yes; she had $40,000." "Aha! ha!" "And I have had the handling of it, of course." "Of course—I see—exactly. And she is now of age and wants a settlement. Exactly—exactly. You have used up the estate and want to know what to do. Exactly—exactly. My advice is to marry the girl. In case she won't marry you, I'll sell you $30,000 worth of worthless bonds for $25, and you can show 'em to prove where most of the money went. Exactly—just so—see $30."
