IOWA ITEMS.

Ottumwa is preparing for a fifth ward. Davenport is getting up a benefit for its poor.

Spencer business men have formed a board of trade.

Shelby county has $3,000 in outstanding warrants.

West Union will have a bank with a capital of $100,000 to start on.

Dubuque sends a gold medal to Herman Struss, the brave Newhall house fireman.

The Muscatine Canning company has paid a dividend of 17 per cent. on $50,000 capital this year.

A terrible famine in Creston, which threatens to prove serious to the business interests of the city.

Monmouth county was slightly disturbed by an earthquake shock, which made itself apparent on Tuesday, the 6th.

A new flouring mill will be built at Odebolt. The subscription of $2,000 has been raised within $200, which will be subscribed.

Iowa City's new water works system has given a satisfactory test. Streams are thrown eighty-five feet high without extra pressure.

A terrible epidemic of scarlet fever is prevailing at Stratton. Six or eight deaths have been reported and the number of cases is steadily increasing.

T. M. Bowen, the newly-elected senator from Colorado, was at one time a resident of Clarinda, and raised the first company of soldiers in Page county.

A man in Maquoketa named W. C. Boardman recently bought a dwelling house for $2,200, and then presented it to the Congregational church for a parsonage.

Glennwood has a respectable burglar. The son of a well-to-do citizen was found the other night by a storekeeper quietly going through his stock. The young man's name has not been divulged.

The Cedar Rapids water works company is pumping 1,500,000 gallons per day, which is an excess of 700,000 over the usual supply, the increase being caused by consumers leaving their pipes open.

Dr. Reinhold of Clarinda, was cowhided on the 6th by J. W. Calhoun, a book store man of the same place. Reinhold had undertaken to treat Calhoun's wife and had nearly killed her. He then presented a bill, and the indignant husband thrashed him soundly. The medical man was badly cut up.

Sergeant-at-arms of the house of commons, Mr. D. W. McDonnell, Ottawa, Canada, this endorses the Great German remedy: "I used St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism and found it all that it is claimed to be."

Fun in a Drug Store.

Peck's Sun.

"You would be astonished at the fun that crops out among the customers that visit a drug store," said a druggist the other day, after he had got through trying to convince a young man that it would be impossible to take back a tooth brush after it had been used three or four days, and give him another one a size smaller.

"So you strike all classes of customers," he said the newspaper man.

"Well, I should reckon," said the druggist. "A woman came in this morning and handed me an old black number porous plaster, one that looked as though it had been taken off an Egyptian mummy, and wanted me to give her another one. She said the old man had worn it on his back for two weeks, and it never drew a blister. It just loafed around on his back, and was of no more account than so much sand paper. I tried to tell her that a porous plaster was not intended to blister, but simply to retain the back in its proper place, and let the pain crawl out through the holes. She kicked and said I was a worse fraud than the other plaster. But she was not as bad as a man who came in with his wife one day and told my clerk he wished he would take his wife's measure for a porous plaster for her left lung. The clerk is a modest sort of a fellow, who was just thinking of getting married, and he blushed, and finally, after looking at the lady, and taking a mental measurement of the locality of her left lung, went and got a porous plaster and said he would warrant it to fit. I pledge you my word, the next day the man came in and complimented the clerk on the excellent fit of the plaster. He said it was just right. But the worst case of economy I ever saw was a woman who brought back four big blue pills that she had left after her husband's illness, and wanted to trade them for borax to wash with. I didn't want to hurt her feelings, and I gave her some borax and took the pills and threw them out in the alley, because nobody would like it if I sold them second-hand pills. Even then I came near getting into trouble, as a couple of Polack boys picked up the pills and ate them, thinking it was licorice drops, and their father was going to sue me for poisoning his children."

Burlington's Bank.

A Missouri Town Moves in the Interest of a Money.

Correspondence of The Bee

BURLINGTON JUNCTION, Mo., February 10.—A few weeks ago Prof. J. M. Martin, of Galzburg, Ill., came among and proposed establishing a bank by getting up a joint stock company with a subscribed capital of $50,000. He has succeeded in his undertaking. There are about fifty stockholders who are worth collectively more than $1,500,000, and what is far better the most of it is made up by our citizens and farmers here at home. On the 8th the stockholders met at Bryant's hall and elected thirteen directors as follows:

W. W. Washburn, John W. Davis and Myron Roden, of Galzburg, Ill.; M. Martin, James Rankin, W. H. Davis, J. Johnson, George H. Hotelling, C. D. Caldwell, J. F. Montgomery, William Woods, Shyler Rome and J. A. Thompson, of Burlington Junction, Mo.

The above are all men of honor and integrity. The board of directors elected Wm. H. Davis, president; James Rankin, vice-president; J. M. Martin, cashier; W. J. Nelson, attorney.

The Northwestern bank will erect a five business house the coming season; until then they will occupy the bank building occupied by Orrin Miller.

Ever since the town started we have felt the want of a bank whose officers were honest, not pretentious, and who would not charge us three prices for accommodations. I have mentioned this in The Bee before. And now that we have all this insured, we are proud and happy. Our citizens have shown a commendable spirit by their liberal subscriptions, for nothing will build up our little city and the county like this new institution.

S. Wolcott has resigned the principalship of our schools and J. J. Bryant, junior editor of the Post, has been employed to fill the same.

We have a new Post G. A. R. established in this place which is flourishing.

Judge George H. Hotelling took his seat as county judge last Monday for the first time since his election. Judge Hotelling will make an excellent officer.

Our worthy postmaster, I. B. Chislinger, took in St. Louis this week.

We have been having some very pleasant weather, but really this has been the most severe winter we have seen in this section for some years.

More anon. JARON FALL.

Millions Given Away.

Millions of Bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have been given away as Trial Bottles of the large size. This enormous outlay would be disastrous to the proprietors, were it not for the rare merit possessed by this wonderful medicine. Call at C. P. Goodland's Drug Store, and get a Trial Bottle free, and try for yourself, never fails to cure.

The Cabinet Dinners.

Many of those reading the descriptions of the splendid dinners and other entertainments at Washington must wonder how members of the president's cabinet can manage to afford such display. Their salaries are only $8,000 a year and they have to pay a heavy rent. Living may be, say, 10 per cent cheaper at Washington than at New York, but even assuming this, the mystery of this magnificence in hospitality, house-ent and famine attire is not to be explained except by the hypothesis that a minister draws heavily on private resources. An English cabinet minister of the first class has $25,000 a year and two or three have residences. A French minister has $12,000 with a fine furnished residence and certain allowances aggregating at least $15,000 a year. In London, if a minister has little but his official salary he is not expected to entertain, that burden falling upon his wealthy colleagues. The late Sir George Grey, for example, who was long in office, lived in quite a small house and only gave one annual state dinner, at a hotel, on the queen's birthday. The nation has now put the president in a position to entertain handsomely without trenching on his private fortune, and it is but right and proper that he should do so; but this custom of his cabinet entertaining one another with gorgeous banquets would be much more honored in the breach than the observance.

March On, March on to Victory.

Under date of November 21, 1882, Mr. Albert W. Handy, of Pratt and Whitney Company, Hartford, Conn., writes—

"Having been a great sufferer from a severe attack of Kidney Disease, and endured for a long time the intense pain, many aches, and extreme weakness that always attend this dread disease, including the terrible back-ache, after trying doctor's prescriptions and many other so-called cures, without gaining any benefit, I was finally persuaded to take Hunt's Remedy; and after using it a very short time I find myself entirely relieved from the back-ache and other pains, and better than all the other improvements in my general health, my Kidney disease is cured. It affords me great pleasure to recommend Hunt's Remedy to all who may be suffering as I have been, as it is safe and reliable medicine for Kidney Disease."

Honest Indorsement.

Mr. C. T. Melvin, of Providence, R. I., says—

"Believing, as I do, that an honest endorsement of all you claim for the virtues of Hunt's Remedy, I with pleasure attest to the fact that its action in restoring a healthy condition to diseased Kidneys and Liver is, in my case, little less than miraculous."

"So say we, all of us, One, two, three, four of us," said so on up to thousands, that Hunt's Remedy is incomparably the best Kidney and Liver medicine known.

If you are not married, write the Marriage Fun and Mutual Trust Association, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for circulars explaining the plan.

COOL. L. T. FOSTER.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 10, 1882.

"Dr. R. J. Hamilton & Co.—I have a very valuable Hamiltonian coil that I priced very high, he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it and got our crucibles here to send for it, and they ordered three bottles; I took all and I thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the coil ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the coil's limbs are as free of lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. It is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that have let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it."

Very respectfully,

L. T. FOSTER.
