A PATENT CASE. The senate committee on patents to-day gave a hearing upon the charges of corruption filed by patent practitioners who are opposing Dr. Robert G. Degrenforth to be assistant commissioner on patents. No con-clusion was reached. The committee will meet again.

THE JEANNETTE BOARD adjourned subject to orders from the secretary of the navy When Bartley and his companions return from Siberia they will be examined in reference to the De Long Collins' difficulty. MACE AND SLADE gave a boxing exhibition at Theatre Comique to-night. In the audience were a number of persons of distinction, including several members of congress. Slade was greatly admired for his proficiency, though the opinion was freely expressed that he is hardly quick enough to make a successful fight with Sullivan. A check for $2,500 was shown as forfelt money a match with Sullivan, $5,000 a e. Siade visited the capital to-

A LAWVER INDICTED. The grand jury has found an indictment against A. B. Williams, one of the star route counsel employed by Dorsey, on the charge of receiving stelen goods, based upon his action as counsel for the parties charged with having stolen a watch and other valuables from Mrs. Ellis over a year ago. Williams and Dorsey declare the charge is absurd. They say the proceedings are a part of the prosecution being carried on by the department of juttice against Dorsey.

CONGRESSIONAL

SENATE PROCEEDINGS. Washington, February 26. - Senator Van Wyck called up the resolu-tion requesting the president to communicate any information in his pos session touching the alleged agree ment of the ministers Britain, France and Italy, at Lima, to make a joint effort to bring about peace between Chill and Peru, and to inform the senate whether the United States has been instructed to accept the mediation of ministers of Egro pean powers in settling a purely American question.

Senator Van Wyck made a long speech in support of the resolution, d it was adopted without dissent. Senator Grover presented the cre dentials of Dolph, his successor as senator from Oregon. A resolution was adopted requesting the house of representatives to return the tariff bill in order that certain clerical errors might be corrected.

Senator Vest called up the resolution for appointment of a committee of five senators to examine into the condition of the Yellowstone park. Vest read a letter from the secretary of the interior stating he had determined not to take action in the matter of the lease to Hatch & Co. until congress takes action on your (Vest's) bill; at least not until the close of the session. The list of directors of the Yellowstone National Park Improvement company was read. Among the directors are Rufus Hatch, Roscoe Conkling, Hugh J. Hastings. Wm. Fullerton, John R. Brady, A. J.

Vanderpool and Frederick E. Church, Il of New York. Senator Windom said the secretary f the interior had acted wisely in unertaking to make a lease. That was he better way of preserving the park. Senator Cameron insisted upon proseeding with unfinished business, the bill to pay Fourth of July claims, and t was taken up and passed.

Mr. Carlisle opposed the resolution in a vigorous speech. He moved to recommend the resolution to the committee on rules. Mr Reed raised a point of order. A long debate followed. The speaker said no precedent was known which sustained the right to recommit a resolution sustained on point of order. The appeal taken by Carlisle was tabled.

Mr. Cox spoke in opposition to the resolution.

Mr. Cox denounced the resolution s a fraud on parliamentary law. Mr. House said the report made by the committee on rules was a crime against the American people.

Mr. Reed admitted that the PARNELL'S SPEECH. London, February 26.-In the commons Parnell moved his amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, attacking the executive in Ireland for his administration of the crimes act. The language of the amendment is very violent. It refers to the "unjust ex-ecutions." In moving the amend-ment Parnell said if there had been any reduction in the number of outany reduction in the number of outrages in Ireland it is only because the people were being kept down by brutal, terrible coercion. The act was administered in a terrible, brutal way.

He pointed to the fact that hardly any persons arrested under the cur-few clause had been convicted. He complained of the conduct of the Irish judges, mostly appointed for political reasons, therefore unfit to try political cases. When the people saw juries packed, and judges turned, crown prosecutors all, sympathy with law and order was destroyed. The people inevitably became abettors of people inevitably became abetters of crime. If the government after the Phoenix park murders had relied on the sympathy of the people instead of a tyrannical act, Ireland would have been pacified. He protested against the proclamation of meeting and prosecution of the press. The freedom of speech did not exist in Ireland. In the Hynes and other murder cases the juries were composed almost exclusively of protestants, castle trades-men or acquaintances of the lord lieutenant. The administration of law was detested by everybody. The amendment of the land act was urged, though even that would not quench the spirit of Irish nationalism. He believed Cham-berlain one of the few English members
