FOR OVERWORK.

DR. G. W. COLLINS, Tipton, Ind., says: "I used it in nervous debility brought on by overwork in warm weather, with good results."

The medical profession may be interested in the following recipe of Dr. W. A. Scott of Milo, Ia., for curing diphtheria.

The De Moines Register says the cure has become famous in that state and has saved thousands of lives. Dr. Scott has recently made some improvement in his treatment, which he makes public:

EDITOR REGISTER.—In long years gone by you published my cure for diphtheria. It attracted widespread attention, and I now give my improved treatment, which can be had at any drug store, and used by any person without danger.

Take ten grains of permanganate of potassium and mix with one ounce of cold water. As soon as dissolved it must be applied with a rag or sponge, mop or swab, to the whitish places in tonsils and other parts that have the diphtheria membrane on. Do this very gently but thoroughly every three hours until well. It does not give pain, but is rather famous in that respect. If the tongue is coated with a mix one drachm of hyposulphate of soda and five drops of oil sassafras in four ounces of syrup made of sugar and hot water, and give a teaspoonful every one to three hours as needed, when awake. If the tongue is not coated white, I mix 20 drops of tincture of physalis in four ounces of cold water and give a teaspoonful every one to three hours as needed, when awake. The physalis is the common poke-root of the South, and as it loses its strength by drying and age, the tincture should be from the fresh root, or it is worthless.

It is well to apply a little sweet-oil or cod-liver-oil to the outside of the throat to protect it from the action of the air, as the patient must be protected from all danger of getting chilled.

In the beginning of the disease, in mild cases, the above solution of permanganate of potassium is all I use, and that is needed, as the disease is local at first, but it rapidly affects the whole system when seated. In the stinking form of diphtheria this solution soon destroys all smell, and in every case it destroys the diphtheria membrane without leaving any bad effect behind.

Strange Story of Jewell's Death.

From the Hartford (Conn.) Times.

On Friday morning before his death Mr. Jewell awoke from a sound sleep and inquired what was the matter at the residence of the Hon. William E. Dodge, (his daughter's father-in-law, the famous New York merchant). Mr. Jewell's family had just received a telegram announcing the sudden and unlooked-for death of Mr. Dodge; but it was not deemed best to let him know that anything had happened, and he was therefore told that all was well in Mr. Dodge's family. He said no, that it could not possibly be; something serious had happened; the family were in great trouble, if not actually in affliction; he knew it, in a way which, if not explicit, was, nevertheless, as clear and certain as he saw it. Insisting upon this, and refusing to accept his family's denial, he at length induced them to telegraph to New York, to see what was the matter. But Mrs. Jewell so worded the telegram as to instruct those who received it to answer that everything was all right. When that answer came they told it to Mr. Jewell, who refused to believe it, and at last asked them to let him see the message itself. This request being granted, and having the ocular proof before his eyes in the shape of an unmistakable Western Union telegraph message, he dubiously remarked: "Well, it does seem to be so; but it is very strange; I know there is something the matter—that something serious has happened in Mr. Dodge's house in New York." And that impression he retained until, so soon afterward, he too, ended his early life. He survived Mr. Dodge only about 38 hours. His feeling that "something serious had happened" was apparently so clear and strong as it would have been had he personally witnessed the death of his relative.

"Conqueror of all Life's Woes."

Mrs. A. W. HOLLAND, of Providence, R. I., says—

"Deeming it my duty to suffering humanity to inform all who may be afflicted as I have been of the safe and sure Remedy which, by the blessing of a kind Providence, has restored me to health, with deep gratitude I wish to acknowledge the great benefit that I have received from the use of the most valuable medicine that I have ever seen. During the past three years I have been afflicted with Kidney Disease, accompanied by the severe aches, intense pain, weakness and prostration attending this dreadful ailment. I tried many kinds of medicines, including physicians' prescriptions, without obtaining permanent relief.

"A few weeks ago a friend persuaded me to try Hunt's Remedy; and, after using only half a bottle, I was relieved of the severe pain in my back, and continued the use of the remedy until I am well again; and I can now take long walks without being tired, and have an excellent appetite, sleep well, and am rid of all those aches and pains from which I suffered so long. I most cheerfully recommend Hunt's Remedy as a safe and reliable cure for Kidney Disease, and it is the only medicine I have ever found that does exactly what it is advertised to do.

"Praise the bridge that carries you over safely, and that to many an ailing one has been Hunt's Remedy, a bridge which has taken them from what seemed fatal sickness to blooming health.

"We are all strong enough to endure the misfortunes of others. But, if their misfortune is sickness, it costs nothing to tell them of the great medicine, Hunt's Remedy."
