says:
"The river fell about five inches yesterday. There was much floating ice, but it was too thin and rotton to trouble the boats. Both of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolia and Omaha transfer boats were at work of the Perry."

"The Chicago, Milwackee and St Paul train from Sioux Falls and Yankton did not arrive at its usual time yesterday forenoon, and while those watching for its appearance were speculating on the cause of delay, a hand car came rapidly around the view yesterday he said: "The proview yesterday he said: "The proview yesterday he said: curve and stopped near the main office. The men on the car brought the information that the railroad bridge across the Big Sloux river, five miles north of the city, had been struck by There will be 200 Sloux and Pawnee a gorge of ice which had given away, and was in danger of going out. The passenger train, as it neared the bridge was stopped by a man living close by. The weakening of the bridge was discovered by him just after a freight in the United States service. He and train which left Sioux City about 10 clock in the forenoon, had crossed. The predicament was an unpleasant harmlessly down. The Milwaukee will have an engine and cars at the bridge this forenoon to convey passengers and baggage arriv-ing on incoming trains to the city, and will send back the usual train in the afternoon the same way. Should the ice sufficiently break up and go down stream to weaken the mass, work at repsiring the bridge will be begun to-day. If it does not, there will be no change in the situation. The Milwaukee company did everything in its power to transfer passengers from and to the city yesterday afternoon, and foots up the bills, so the travelers suf-Tables supplied with the best the fered no loss except inconvenience in

John M. Barke, familiarly known as "Arizona John," has accepted the post of business manager for the Hon. W. F. Cody, Dr. W. F. Carver, and Major Frank North, in the show of "wild western life" that they are now organizing at North Platte, Nebraska. He expects to start in a few days for the camp where the Indians and other proposed show is intended to give to civilized communities an accurate representation of how white men and Indians live in the far west. Indians, with their entire outfit of squaws, tepees, dogs, ponies, &c., under command of Major Frank North, for a number of years the captain of a compeny of Pawnee scouts his men have had many a bloody fight with the Sioux, but the hatchet is now buried between the two tribes-at the bridge with passengers, mail and baggage for the city, couldn't get across, and there was neither engine nor cars to send out after them.
