"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. COUNCIL BLUFFS ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

The good citizens of Missouri Valley are justly indignant over the late Moses and Points brutality. The entire matter is to be sifted to the bottom, and all participants will, we hope, receive their reward.

We inadvertently omitted mention in yesterday's issue of the location of the accident whereby a man lost his life by the cars. The place is near Missouri Valley, and we are indebted to C. E. V. Saunders, of that town, for the particulars which he gave us in two hours after the occurrence.

There is a cave in the bluff near the high school dug out by the children, which is an extremely dangerous place for the little ones to play in. It should be closed, or we may have to chronicle the sad fate of a number of the little ones. The walls of the bluff are now in a crumbling condition.

The ladies of the Presbyterian synodical missionary association are laboring for the purpose of securing the services of a missionary for the Fox and Sioux Indians of this state. They expect to raise sufficient funds to establish this mission, and we trust that every person with the good of the weak, ignorant and oppressed at heart, will contribute to this worthy cause.

WHO'S TO BLAME? Another Young Soul Takes A Leap Into the Great Unknown.

We are called upon to narrate the sudden decease of another young girl - tired of life and its fickleness, or perhaps the inconstancy or perfidy of a lover. The facts are substantially as follows, gathered from reliable sources: Last July there appeared at the Merchants' restaurant on Broadway, a young girl, about nineteen years old, and who gave her name as Addie Lefert. She asked Mr. Ross, the proprietor, for work, which he gave her. She labored here as a dining room girl up to the time of her death. While engaged in the restaurant she formed the acquaintance of one Stebbins or Slemmer, who seemed to have acted the part of suitor. Her conduct was that of a lady, and the proprietor and manager of the restaurant speak of her in complimentary terms. They say she seemed happy and contented, and only when speaking of home, or lover, did anything like a shadow of sadness overspread her countenance. She on several occasions stated to the family of Mr. Jacob Jacobson, attaches of the restaurant, that she left home with a young man, and that on returning to the paternal roof after a short absence was treated so coldly that she concluded to leave home forever. She stated that her people lived near Corning, Iowa, and were wealthy. She further stated upon one occasion that "her fellow" in this place continued making her pledges which he has often broken. Nothing was thought of this conversation until this morning the report was circulated that a young girl had few hours she was dead. Undertaker Connell was notified, and as it was not thought necessary to hold an inquest, a casket was furnished and her parents notified. They were expected on the evening train, but up to going to press have not yet here. Thus has ended another young life, and the real cause that led to her death will perhaps forever remain a mystery.

AFTER THE BIG BALL. How the Vanderbilt Mansion Looked - Food by the Barrel.

"I'm tired out, that's what I am," remarked a Vanderbilt retainer to a reporter, after the fatigues of a more than usually heavy period of domestic servitude incident to the ball of Monday evening. "and we're all hepatic."

"Get straightened out why, hit'll take a week or more to get things same as they was. Just you fancy what things'd be like after the visitors drank $5,000 worth of champagne, to say nothing of the eatin' and other kinds of drinkin', which was various." The faithful domestic seemed to be relieved of the aristocratic distipation consequent upon so notable an event in the annals of the republicanism royalty.

"It's no use a havin' a me a lot of questions which I can't begin to answer. Everything went off lively, as the sayin' is, though I guess the damage'll come one way or another to us night on ter $2,000, p'raps more."

"How do you mean?" "Why, there was one or two broken vases and such like proceedings."

"But cannot you GIVE ME AN IDEA of the appearance of the rooms at the close of the festivities?"

"Which was, to say the least, hodd. You see the comp'ny didn't go away until after 6 o'clock, and some on 'em left at least 'arf their costumes be'ind 'em. There was bits of lace here, a part of train there, a fellow's doublet in one corner; while the middle of the ball room was strewn with broken flowers and leaves - looking for all the world like a palace just before a haucation."

"What will be done with the flowers?"

"A good many was taken away by the guests; the best as was left are waltz ornaments. Some'll go to the servants, and I hear that several will be sent to the hospitals and churches. It's too early to say for sure what'll be done with 'em. I guess there's nigh on 'arf of 'em that's as good as now."

"Were any of the pictures damaged?"

"Not as I knows of; leastways I don't hear of any. But the damage to the lace curtains was considerable. I couldn't be in every place at once, so I don't know everything that appened. I am told that quite

A LOT OF JEWELRY was gathered up this mornin' and 'anded to the detectives."

"What detectives?" "There was a dozen or more on duty to see to that particular duty, and as spies to keep a b'ye on the waiters lest they might prig somethin'." We had a hundred hextra waiters on purpose.

For bless yer, the jam was simply orful, and I must say they did splendid."

"What is going to be done with the surplus food?" "Talking of food, I reckon there's enough left to supply a hundred families for a week. Most of it 'll have to be given away; it can't be kept."

"Who will get it?" "The orpans and the servants. Why the waste in hloes alone was somethin' orful, and as for the wines and hickers they was locked up just as soon as possible to keep the men servants from getting drunk. Towards the last a good many of 'em had as much as they could carry. However there wasn't much to complain of on that account, though there was

A TIDY FEW of 'em pretty full, I spose, take it all together, there was as much as $1,000 worth of food left hover in one shape and another, most of which'd spoil inside of twenty-four hours. Then there is a tidy bit of broken glass which is always to be expected at such gatherings. How much! thatooms of Well, I think a couple of hundred dollars 'ud about cover that."

From another source it was ascertained that the disposition of the surplus food, flowers and other perishable articles had already been provided for a week before the ball took place, among the various charities and institutions in which the Vanderbilt family are interested. All day long several light wagons were busily engaged in carting them away.

Rejoice, rejoice, "He is alive Again," "Was Lost, but is Found."

Under date of July 9, 1882, Mr. E. B. Bright of Windsor Locks Conn., writes a plain modest narrative, which, from its very simplicity, has the true ring of fine gold. He says: -

"My father is using Hunt's Remedy and seems to be improving, in fact, he is very much better than he has been for a long time. He had been tapped three times. The first time they got from him sixteen quarts of water, the second time thirteen quarts, and fully as much more the third time, and he would constantly fill up again every time after he had been tapped, until he commenced using Hunt's Remedy, which acted like magic in his case, as he began to improve at once, and now his watery accumulation passes away through the secretions naturally, and he has none of that swelling or filling up which was so frequent before the functions of the kidneys were restored by the use of Hunt's Remedy. He is a well-known citizen of this place and has always been in business here."

Again he writes, Nov. 27, 1882, - "I beg most cheerfully and truthfully to state, in regard to Hunt's Remedy, that its use was the saving of my father's life. I applied to you in my previous letter in regard to his being tapped three times, the most remarkable case that has ever been heard of in this section. For a man of his age (sixty years) it is a most remarkable cure. He had been unable to attend to his business more than a year, and was given up by the doctors."

"The first bottle of Hunt's Remedy that he used gave instant relief. He has used in all seven bottles, and continues to use it whenever he feels drowsy or sluggish, and it affords instant relief. He is now attending to his regular business, and has been several months. I am perfectly willing that you should publish this letter, as we thoroughly believe that father's life was saved by using Hunt's Remedy; and these facts given above may be a benefit to others suffering in like manner from disease or inaction of the Kidneys and Liver."

"We notice the Marriage Fund, Mutual Trust Association, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, highly spoken of in many of the leading papers of the state. "Money for the Unmarried" heads their advertisement in another column of this paper. 15-3m

COOL L. T. FOSTER.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 10, 1882. Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co. - I had a very bad case of Rheumatism and Sciatica. I had a large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Specific Cure in the Chicago Express, determined at once to try it and get our crutches here to send for it, and they ordered three bottles; I took all and I thought I would give it a try. I used it according to directions and the fourth day the pain ceased to be lame and the lumps have disappeared. The pain in the joints and the cold limbs are as free of lumps and a month as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I have let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it.
