BROWN'S IRON BITTERS never fails to cure all these diseases.

Boston, November 26, 1871.
Brown Chemical Co., Gentlemen—For years I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and could get no relief (having tried everything which was recommended) until, acting on the advice of a friend, who had been benefited by Brown's Iron Bitters, I tried a bottle, with most surprising results. Previous to taking Brown's Iron Bitters, everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered greatly from a burning sensation in the stomach, which was unbearable. Since taking Brown's Iron Bitters, all my troubles are at an end. Can eat any time without any disagreeable results. I am, practically another person.

New Precautions in London Against the Dynamite Fiends.

A Heavy Defalcation of a Belgian Broker.

Bismarck's Birthday Celebrated with Much Brilliance.

Parnell's Avowal.

LONDON, April 2.—The war office has taken the question of explosives in hand with vigor, and there is a determination to thwart the dynamite workers. It has ordered experiments be undertaken with the view of preparing an analysis of the various forms and component parts of all substances that are capable of being employed as explosives. The result of their work will be given to the police. It is believed that the ingenuity of the men who are now engaged in the manufacture of these diabolical contrivances will be thwarted by this means.

LONDON, April 2.—A dispatch from Brussels states that a sensation has been caused in financial circles there over the discovery that Vandamme, a prominent stock broker, has embezzled the sum of one million francs belonging to persons who deposited money with him. Vandamme has been arrested and locked in jail.

LONDON, April 2.—On account of the steady stream of letters containing threats of death and destruction of buildings which continue to be received by prominent persons and government functionaries, previous precautions against the execution of these threats are not remitted but new ones are being devised and carried into effect. This is particularly the case in London. The gas works are carefully guarded against surprise, and none but known and trusted hands are allowed on the premises.

LONDON, April 2.—In common Parnell said the recent report of the interview with O'Kelly and himself in the French papers was substantially accurate. The interesting point of the statement is that these gentlemen say the British government took the initiative in the Kilmainham treaty, making overtures to Parnell while in jail. They also say the statement of Lord Carlingford to the effect that Parnell himself made the first overtures was inaccurate and untrue.

Gladstone, on conclusion of Parnell's avowal, endorsed the correctness of Carlingford's statement and iterated his refusal to appoint a committee of inquiry into the subject.

PARIS, April 2.—Later accounts of the boiler explosion at St. Dieler yesterday show the number killed and injured to be much larger than first reported. Forty-one were killed outright. The number of injured it is stated reaches sixty-five, many of whom it is feared are fatally hurt.

DUBLIN, April 2.—Reports from Limerick say that owing to the improved condition of affairs in that city the extra police which have been kept up for some past have been materially decreased. This was done by advice of Clifford Lloyd, magistrate of Limerick.

BERLIN, April 2.—The celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Bismarck was an occasion of much brilliancy. Military bands performed national and operatic selections before the residence. Visits were made in person by Emperor William, many ladies of distinguished households, officials of high rank, foreign ministers and other notables, who congratulated the chancellor. Many telegrams were also received.

ROME, April 2.—Five men charged with attempting to take the life of Signor Coppolani, a noted socialist member of the chamber of deputies, have been placed on trial here. The chief of the would-be assassins is named Nagnetta. He is a brother of the man who was executed under the papal government for causing the explosion in Serristori barracks.

TEWKESBURY'S TALE.
A Dreadful Condition of Affairs in a Massachusetts Alms House.

Boston, April 2.—The committee of the public charitable institution resumed inquiry into the management of the state alms house at Tewkesbury. Watchman Dudley testified that when he detected Marsh, Marsh told him to keep still about what he saw of the loading of bodies at the dead house. Marsh says: We have got to have some pay for our trouble of taking care of these orphans. Witness gave details of the case of a man who was put into a cell intoxicated and died in four days from neglect. Twenty children in one ward used to cry at night because of hunger. One night, out of curiosity, he went to the burying ground, and saw four bodies resurrected and driven off in a wagon. He stated that food for the inmates and inmates was always very poor. The allowance of other food was very slender. The man who drove the hospital wagon told the witness that he had taken sixty-eight bodies in eight months. The man was dissatisfied then, but the next day showed a few hundred, which he said Tom (Marsh) had given him. Witness was afterwards appointed with his wife to care for the female insane. The beds of the insane had been taken away. The beds of straw were in a rotten condition, with insufficient clothing. The cells were in a filthy condition. One insane woman was in a dirty cell in the attic. She was entirely without clothing and almost a skeleton. The assistant said she was violently insane and would tear the clothes. She had had only one meal a day carried to her by an idiotic girl, who said she had always taken care of the woman. He watched and found the girl throw the food away and came back with an empty plate, telling the woman she had eaten all the food. In five or six weeks he had the woman out of the cell and in the sitting room, so changed that her husband did not know her. Her name was Mary Barron.

Governor Butler.—What was her husband's name?
Witness.—I don't know. He lives in Boston.
Governor Butler.—Never mind; the newspapers will bring him to me tomorrow morning.
On cross-examination witness said that of seventy-three children who came there in one year, only one lived.
