

The Daily Bee. COUNCIL BLUFFS. Saturday Morning, April 7. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: 5¢ per copy, 10¢ per week, $1.00 per year.

Office: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway. Some one always in the office.

MINOR MENTION.

See Joseph Reiter's spring styles. -Additional local on seventh page. -Mr. M. D. Webber is building a nice little dwelling on Seventeenth avenue.

-For Sale - A car load of horses, at W. C. Holland's Livery Stable, on Main street.

-M. W. Hartigan, boiler maker of Omaha, was over this morning looking up business affairs in his line.

-Marshal Jackson, what quotation from Oscar Wilde was it that the widow used when she came to get her cow out of the pound?

-A new set of platform scales has been put in on the Union depot platform, for weighing the mails, pursuant to a circular just issued by the postoffice department.

-Nemesis, whoever she may be, is now on the track of the man who is the power behind the throne of the cow ordinance, and his corn shelter is liable to be pounded.

-A larceny and an assault and battery case were tried yesterday before Justice Schurz. Both defendants showed up in such good shape that they were discharged.

-The east bound train over the combination lines this evening will be run on the Rock Island road at the usual hour.

-At the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul round house the work of fitting up the machine shop is progressing, and will be completed on the arrival of the shaft, which is daily expected.

-Mr. Goff has broken ground for a dwelling on Seventeenth avenue for Mr. Hoffman, section foreman for the C. M. & St. P. R. R. The story and a half will be in dimensions. Mr. Hoffman has sold his late residence on lower Third street.

-Mr. Martin Hughes, contractor, is building a brick house for Samuel Weston on Tenth avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets. Mr. Hughes is also doing the work on the Bennett building and Miller & Co.'s hardware store on Broadway.

-Last winter we noted that a Mrs. Spear was here from Milwaukee with a view to going into business at this place. The lady returned home 'ut is now back again and will, we hope, remain to become a permanent resident.

-The Sullivan senior of the firm of Sullivan & Fitzgerald, has a cow boarder at the city yards kept by our worthy pound master. Mr. Sullivan says that his cow is a quiet, peaceable cow, and was never known to do anything worse than steal a mouthful of hay.

-Ten brand new cows were impounded yesterday. Father White says he has signed a petition to stop this pouncing of cows and hopes the fathers of our city will heed the prayers of the petitioners.

-A cyclone would be a bad thing for John Epeneter's roof and stock. The top of his store is slowly but surely going skyward, and day light flows through three feet of an elevation, which will be increased until there is room below for the second story. And so we climb.

-There will be an entertainment to-night at Dohany's hall for the benefit of St. Paul's church. The ice cream season will be inaugurated although the strawberries have not yet arrived and the thermometer is not high enough to cause any wilting of collars. A social hop will terminate the programme. Everyone is cordially invited.

-Dick Hoasen, Esq., a young American of pugilistic tendencies and precocious lip, has attracted the earnest attention of some of the reputable and peaceably inclined people who have known Dick and his peculiarities. Mrs. John Dunn appeared before Judge Aylesworth and obtained a warrant for the arrest of Hoasen. The charges are profanity, obscenity and general coarseness. To-day he has his trial.

-The pound has a father, not Father White, but another father, who originated and supports the pound; that is, he supports it by enforcing the cow ordinance. They say this daddy monopolizes the corn business, and after crushing all opposition he hurls the business of the city by paying from four to five cents less than the buyers in surrounding towns, thus inducing the farmers to go elsewhere to market their produce.

-A laboring man with a large family, whose income from odd jobs of dirt shoveling has not been as heavy during the past hard winter as it has been in more favored times, found his grocery bill for the last month unpaid, his children bare footed and his corn meal nearly exhausted, when the news came that his two cows were in the pound. The poor man visited all our brokers trying to mortgage the two cows in order to raise the money to pay the fine, but up to the present time the cows are still in the pound.

-Brown's Bronchial Troches will relieve Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Consumption and Throat Diseases. They are used always with good success.

Time. Say, my friend, fix that watch for me. In response Mr. Kirkland took the timer and glanced simply at the face. Oh, I see! It makes two hours out of one, don't it? Yes, that's it. Well, your watch is fixed, he said as he handed it back, the hair spring was looped that's all. Oh, oh! what's the charge? Oh nothing. Why, do you know I expected to pay $3 or $4. Exactly, but we don't do business in that way.

The best spring medicine known is that wonderful tonic, Brown's Iron Bitters.

POOR DELIA BROWN. From a Happy Christian Home to a Dishonored Grave.

A Letter From an Only Sister.

Only a few days ago a young, intellectual and beautiful girl died at the Revere home from miscarriage, poison, or both combined. The cause of her troubles, a man named Bear, fled, and yet he only ran away from himself, for no warrant has been issued for his appearance.

The coroner's jury failed to find any one responsible, and owing to the conflicting testimony it is doubtful if a court of justice would succeed in disentangling the web and expose the criminal or criminals, and yet it seems pitiful that not one of the guilty parties are to be prosecuted.

The only sister of the victim writes to Mrs. Thompson, the lady who cared for Miss Brown when she was dying, a pathetic letter from which we have been permitted to make a few extracts that we deem to be of general interest, showing as they do, that this was no common strumpet, ending her own life because her sins were too heavy to be borne, but rather that it was a young and confiding girl, poisoned, deliberately poisoned, by a fiend who had through base acts entrapped her love, merely to use her person, and that when in the course of nature she became an expense and temporarily a burden to him, he determined by the aid of others and the use of deadly poisons to violate that which is most holy and sacred in the event of it cost the life of the woman he had professed to love, and all this merely to rid himself of a temporary encumbrance. What can be more base? But here is the letter, or rather a portion of it.

FAIRBURY, Neb., April 4, 1883. Mrs. Mary Thompson: DEAR MADAME:—We are led to believe from the tenor of the kind letter just received from Mr. Smith that we have found friends. Oh our hearts are full of sorrow! Della came to Fairbury about three weeks since, and had no good bye, saying she was going a visit to our aunt in Hannibal, Missouri. My mother and I tried to dissuade her. Mother gave her money for the expenses of the trip. We never suspected, much less knew, anything of her real condition. We have always been taught to avoid associations of an evil character. We had all confidence in Della. Her teachings should have secured for her a nobler end, but alas! it has been otherwise decreed. All her relatives stand high in church relation, and her home has been always a Christian home. Bear was her destroyer.

Our dear old mother is almost heart-broken, and I am just able to be a comfort to her. She is a poor unfortunate girl, left home I had a constant presentiment of something befalling her; but God being my judge, I never thought of this being the result. We will anxiously await an answer from you. Yours, in deepest sorrow, VIOLA ELDREDGE.

ARTISTIC. Talk about advertising cornice works! My friend, come here, I'll show you an advertisement that will beat anything that you can do. So we climbed two pair of stairs and found ourselves in the rear of John Epeneter's big establishment, and on the upper floor was the front for the second story all laid out complete, and every inch galvanized iron. They say the English language is rich, but it is too poor to furnish the words that will appropriately describe that cornice work.

All our citizens will see it when it is up, so we won't have to describe it. It is very beautiful and includes columns, pilasters, friezes, capitals and an endless variety of the finest work that an architect can design, and all finished in the most perfect manner.

The Confidence Man. Mr. Fred Hill, the gentleman of confidential tendencies, is getting into trouble so far that his bankers, Good-boy & Co., will never be able to get him out. Yesterday he was up before Judge Aylesworth to answer a new charge and finding his defense to be too weak for use he waived examination and in default of bail he was sent back to jail. There are two charges against him now, conspiracy and obtaining money on false pretenses.

For Coughs and Throat Disorders. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. Have never changed my mind respecting them from the first, except I think yet better of that which I began by thinking well of. Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Sold only in box free of charge. 25 cents.

The City vs. The Railways. Information has been filed against the C. B. & Q. railroad and the C. R. I. & P. for neglecting to post flags at their crossings on Main street. The penalty is $25 to $100 fine for each violation and it is the intention of the city officials to arrest the representatives of the company as often as may be necessary to compel compliance by the company.

Of course the general agents here are not responsible for the omission, but it will be apt to give them some trouble if their companies do not comply with the city ordinances. The city is at odds with the Northwestern. Our city officials find it quite difficult to manage the railways.

A Dog Fight. Martin Hughes, a gentleman who resides in the eastern part of the city, owns a pup that is some on the chew out. We don't know whether it is a bull pup or a black and tan, but it is a fighter, and Hughes glories in its pluck and is willing to back the dog against all comers. A strange pup came along and Martin told his dog to go in and win. A policeman came up just then. He had been looking for someone to arrest for three days, and here was an alder and abettor of a canine that was creating a disturance. Hughes was arrested, and as his breath was not sufficiently perturbed with onions to cover the odor of whisky, a complaint of drunk and disorderly was lodged against him. This morning Judge Aylesworth weighed the evidence, found it light, and discharged the prisoner.

Spring Styles. "Good morning. What is the news?" said our reporter. "Oh nothing, absolutely nothing. There is no news." "What, nothing?" "No, nothing, except I see that you have a new suit of clothes. Say why is it that these editors that they say are so poor can wear such nice fitting, fine and stylish clothing?" "Well, I'll tell you it depends altogether on the place you buy at. Now I got this suit at Eisenman's, and it cost me just $10.00." "Heaven and earth! that suit for $10.00, and I am wearing this outfit. Say, good morning." "Hold on, where are you going?" "Why to Eisenman's of course. I want the duplicate of that suit."

The best preparation of iron a doctor can prescribe is Brown's Iron Bitters, because it does not injure the teeth as other iron medicines will.

Our Land. The scare, which was not much of a scare after all, and which originated with the Des Moines Register, will bother our people no longer. The following letters will lay this matter forever at rest:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, GENERAL LAND OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2, 1883. THOS. BOWMAN, Esq., Council Bluffs, Ia.: SIR:—I am in receipt of your letter of the 15th inst., asking what is necessary to be done to enable you to obtain patents upon the following described lands, entered by Franklin Street, county judge, in trust, for the benefit of the inhabitants of Council Bluffs: W 1/2, 30; E 1/2 of N W 1/4, 31, 32, 33, 34; E 1/2 of S W 1/4, 35, 36, 37, 38; E 1/2 of S E 1/4 of S W 1/4, 39, 40, 41, 42. In reply I have to advise you that the Register at Des Moines has this day been instructed to sign a certificate of entry covering all the tracts described, to take the place of the original certificates, which have been mislaid. Said certificate was transmitted to them, and upon its return the matter will receive prompt attention.

REAFORTULLY, N. C. McFARLAND, Commissioner. Since the above letter was received Congressman Pusey has received the following telegram: DES MOINES, April 5, 1883. Hon. W. H. M. Pusey: I have forwarded the certificate to the general land office. F. G. CLARKE, Register.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6, 1883. Hon. W. H. M. Pusey: A patent will be issued on Council Bluffs' entry, on the receipt of the certificate. N. McFARLAND, Commissioner.

Notice the Marriage Fund, Mutual Trust Association of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, highly spoken of in many of the leading papers of the state. "The Married" heads their advertisement in another column of this paper. F. Sm

A Fine Residence. "John R. Martin will fit this building with plumbing and gas." That was the sign we saw on an elegant mansion now being polished off, on Market street, near South Second. So we thought here is an item; let's see the whole thing. First, we itemized the basement, four big rooms, well lighted. The first and second stories make nine large rooms, splendidly arranged. Sliding doors on the first floor throw all of its rooms together, at the pleasure of the owner. In the front are two fine bay windows. The slope of the lot is just sufficient for nice drainage. The pressed brick and cut stone trimmings are very elegant. The building is the new home of Simon Eisenman.

A DARK TRANSACTION. Pounding at The Pound. It was the bewitching hour when grayward yawn, and the dead whose sins make them rest uneasily in the grave, troop forth to scare belated lovers, when a noise like a fresh cyclone cut for a space, startled the denizens of Pierce street near Glen Avenue. From the city building the police poured forth to protect the lives and property of our citizens, when lo! and behold, the pound was partly torn down and bats and stones were numerously scattered around hunting for stray spears of April grass. A widow with a big axe and six muscle had wrought all this destruction, and triumphantly homeward she and her cow were gone.

Poor woman, who can blame her! The cow was the man support of her fatherless little ones, and they had gone to bed with no milk for their mouths.

The impounding of a rich man's cow is a good joke, but it is a very serious matter when it comes to the home of a poor woman.

He is Dead. MISSOURI VALLEY, April 5.—A few days ago John Moore and Wm. Points had a brutal row and tumbled fight, lasting over an hour, in which Points had a finger bitten off and Moore lost his nose. Points died from the injuries he received in the fight about a woman, for whose affection they were rivals.

The above telegram was received in this city yesterday, and it fully confirms the stand taken by the Bee. That this was a case that required more vigorous action than the authorities have bestowed upon it. It was evidently a case not for a justice and a constable, but for a sheriff and the higher courts, and yet the efforts that were made to bring the guilty to justice only brought condemnation on the heads of the men who spent their time trying to find some one to discharge their duties in the premises. What have we got to do with it? Is there any one now, who thinks this case worthy of his attention?

Our New Loan and Improvement Co. have taken the matter over, and have a new block, corner First and Pearl streets, jan 27-ly
