COUNCIL BLUFFS ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

A Chicago detective ran down a Nebraska criminal and was escorting him to the other side. Just before arriving at the bridge the man of crime dodged, jumped from the platform and went bounding down the embankment like a ball. The detective concluded that the fellow might go before he would follow him.

It is announced that the Rev. Fathers O'Shea and Cook, of the Redemptorist order, will conduct mission services at the Catholic church, beginning on Sunday, the 22nd inst. Rev. Father O'Shea will be remembered by both Catholic and Protestant churchgoers, as the eloquent and logical pulpit orator and priest, who spent some two weeks in a like effort two years since in our city.

On Market street, at the commencement of Vine, Mr. G. S. Lawson is erecting a nice two-story shop for his contracting and carpentering business. He has sold his old shop on Main street for a more central location.

At a meeting of the various divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Pottawattamie county, held in this city for the purpose of electing a county delegate, resulted in the selection of Mr. D. E. Gleason, of this city. We are pleased to learn that this meritorious order is spreading and they will establish two or three other divisions in this county in the near future.

OUR PULPITS.

The services at St. Francis Xavier's (Catholic) church, consisting of the usual low masses at the earlier hours and high mass at 10:30 o'clock, followed by a sermon by the Rev. Father Mulholland, assistant pastor. The musical part of the services were very creditable to the choir, which enjoys a high reputation for beautiful and appreciative rendering of the grand devotional music of the Catholic service. The solo, "O Salutaris Hostia," by Mr. E. A. Becker, baritone, was exceptionally fine.

The gospel of the day, the second Sunday after Easter, was St. John x, 11-16: "At that time Jesus said to the Pharisees, I am the Good Shepherd," etc. The reverend gentleman discoursed eloquently and forcibly, upon the subject of Christ's teaching, by parable, comparing Himself at one time, to a hen gathering her chickens under her wing, and at another, as in the present instance to a good shepherd, and exhorted his flock to regard their duties as Christians, not heeding the cavils and sneers of the world, neither paying too much heed to the gathering wealth or to fine dress. He mentioned the pastoral duties, and urged upon the attention of his congregation that heads of families and employers, rested under certain obligations in this regard, and could not avoid responsibility for offenses committed through neglect, to educate children in religious doctrines and precepts, both by precept and example. He referred also very pointedly to the scandal of bad example, and the necessity of all Christians observing a good life, adhering to the practice of the church, heeding the good counsel their pastors, and during the season of Easter, at present in progress, complying with the universal Christian duty of reconciliation with God by means of the sacraments of penance and holy communion.

The sermon was characterized throughout by the evident desire of the clergyman to instruct his flock rather than edify by mere oratorical display. The congregation was large and as usual presented an edifying spectacle of devotion.

It is more economical to buy BREKE'S SALAD DRESSING than it is to make a dressing; besides this, it is made of better materials than you can buy at the store. Everybody likes it.

THE TELEGRAPH COMPANY'S DEFENSE.

The Western Union Telegraph was vigorously assailed sometime since by the board of trade of this city and J. J. Dickey, the superintendent was quoted by a resolution to "come and see us." Yesterday, in response he met a small delegation from the board of trade. After the session Superintendent Dickey called at THE BEE office, and in a short interview we obtained a glance at the matter from the telegraphic standpoint. "I came to Council Bluffs," said

KREP AWAY FROM DAKOTA.

A Good Place to Go Hungry. Even with Money to Buy. The Country Overrun, and Its Worth Exaggerated.

OMAHA, Neb., April 7. To the Editor of THE BEE: I am just on my way home from a somewhat extended trip through the wonderful land of Dakota, and I have a few facts to state which I think the great moving public ought to know: First—Don't go to Dakota this year. There are already too many there now; that is, in the newer parts, looking for government lands. Already all the desirable lands are taken that are in the market; not even the lands that are soon expected to be placed upon the market are covered with prospectors waiting to file their claims. Many are going there without means to keep them a month. This will necessarily make labor cheap. Everything in the line of provisions is high. For instance common prairie hay, $20 per ton; oats, 75 cents per bushel; corn not in the market; potatoes, 75 cents per bushel; hotel prices $2 per day (where they can be had) with very slim fare at that. As for getting board in private families it cannot be done. There is no lumber to be had for building at any price. Many of the railroad stations have no houses built to hold even the women for a single night. Even in this great city of O., it is impossible to buy any kind of bedding at any price. The country is all new and the crops will be small at least the coming season. In conclusion let me say Nebraska has better lands than Dakota, with plenty to eat and a place to sleep.

REJOICE, rejoice. "He is alive Again."

Under date of July 9, 1882, Mr. E. B. Bright of Windsor Locks Conn., writes a plain modest narrative, which, from its very simplicity, has the true ring of fine gold. He says:—"My father is using Hunt's Remedy and seems to be improving, in fact, he is very much better than he has been for a long time. He had been tapped three times. The first time they got from him sixteen quarts of water, the second time thirteen quarts, and fully as much more the third time, and he would constantly fill up again every time after he had been tapped, until he commenced using Hunt's Remedy, which acted like magic in his case, as he began to improve at once, and now his watery accumulation passes away through the secretions naturally, and he has none of that swelling or filling up which was so frequent before the functions of the kidneys were restored by the use of Hunt's Remedy. He is a well-known citizen of this place and has always been in business here."

Again he writes, Nov. 27, 1882.—"I beg most cheerfully and truthfully to state, in regard to Hunt's Remedy, that its use was the saving of my father's life. I spoke to you in my previous letter in regard to his being tapped three times, and the most remarkable case that has ever been heard of in this section. For a man of his age (sixty years) it is a most remarkable cure. He had been unable to attend to his business more than a year, and was given up by the doctors. The first bottle of Hunt's Remedy that he used I gave, and he has used it in all seven bottles, and continues to use it whenever he feels drowsy or sluggish, and it affords instant relief. He is now attending to his regular business, and has been several months. I am perfectly willing that you should publish this letter, as we thoroughly believe that father's life was saved by using Hunt's Remedy; and these facts given above may be a benefit to others suffering in like manner from disease or inaction of the Kidneys and Liver."

Army Orders. Second Lieutenant Luther S. Welborn, Fifth cavalry, is detailed as member of the general court martial convened at Fort McKinney, Wyo., by paragraph 4, special orders No. 15, current series, from these headquarters.

Under provisions of paragraph 840, army regulations, and in observance of general orders No. 85, series of 1881, adjutant general's office, the commanding officer of Fort Laramie, non-commissioned officer, Private Wesley J. Walbridge, company 1, Seventh infantry, an insane soldier to Washington, D. C. The non-commissioned officer in charge will report the patient to the adjutant general of the army of further particulars.

Rourats Louis G. Hill, John B. Dayton and Michael McGinnis, enlisted at Fort Omaha, Neb., are assigned to the Fourth infantry.

The following correspondence is published for the information of this command: The commanding General, Department of the Platte, through H. Adjutants, Military Division of the Missouri:

Sir:—I am directed by the general of the army to communicate, for the information and guidance of all concerned, the following views held by him as to the rights of a post commander to issue orders to a military telegraph operator stationed at his post, in which the secretary of the war concurs:

I am sure the rules of good discipline require that the commanding officer of a military post, at which there is a military telegraph, should have the right to prescribe what messages shall not be sent by officers and soldiers of his command.

In the case presented, the secretary of war decided as follows: The government has no more become a "public carrier" by building military telegraph lines than it has become a common carrier by owning a large number of quartermasters' wagons. The military telegraph is merely one of the supplies thought necessary for carrying on the operations of the army, and it, like all other property at military posts, must be subject to the proper orders of the commanding officer. He issues his orders subject to his official responsibility, and subject only to be overruled by his superiors.

COOL L. T. FOSTER. Youngstown, Ohio, May 10, 1882. Dr. B. J. Kendall & Co.—I had a very valuable Hamman's oil that I used very highly. It had a large homeopathic one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I read one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Hamman's oil in the Chicago Express, I determined to try it, and got out my medicine, and sent for it, and they ordered three bottles; took all and I thought I would give it a thorough trial, I used it according to directions and the fourth day the oil ceased to be lame and the lameness disappeared. I used but one bottle and the oil had cured me as free of lameness as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I have let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles who are now using it.
