

The Daily Bee. OMAHA. Wednesday Morning, May 16. LOCAL BREVITIES.

A new sidewalk is being laid in front of the Metropolitan hotel. The trees are coming out with their spring suits very rapidly. There was something new yesterday a decided sensation. It was the fairst of May weather. The Kelly habes corpus was not set for yesterday, but has been continued to an indefinite date. The telephone exchange is expected to be in working order again by the middle of next week. Bad weather has delayed the repairs on the telephone exchange as well as the paving work. Contractor Grant had his paving force busy at work yesterday on Douglas street, and has the concrete laid half way from Thirteenth to Twelfth street. The D. & R. G. will reach Oshkosh about the 15th of this month, and both the Union and Central Pacific will probably begin running their through trains into Salt Lake City by that time. The Messenger folks have received a letter from the Omaha Society of Lincoln stating that they would probably be in town next Sunday. The Messenger will arrange a picnic for their entertainment. D. L. Mitchell, Esq., of the Bee Hive, has presented Judge Benke with a handsome full length photograph of Omaha's police magistrate, which has been framed and hung up in the court room. The two men arrested last night by Officers Sigwart and Walker with two and a half yards of black cloth in their possession, failed to account for it yesterday and were held for further investigation until a claimant appears for the goods. In the police court yesterday one man was sent up for intoxication. The case of John Svadina against two girls for malicious destruction of trees was continued to 10 o'clock Friday. A case of disturbance of the peace was set for 4 p. m. M. J. Tait and daughter and M. B. Taylor of Bradford, Pa., have been out of Dawson county and bought a large tract of land, a few miles north of Plum Creek, on which they intend establishing a colony from Pennsylvania. They are going to take considerable more land on their return and will make agriculture their chief aim. Uncle John Stanton has retired to his summer residence. The list of the grand and petit jurors for the June term of the district court will be drawn this morning. To-day was the first time the sun has shown itself for over a week, and some individual who ought to be banished to the north pole appeared on the street carrying an umbrella to shelter himself from its rays. If he hadn't been so stalwart he would be set down for a dude. A company has been organized at Glenwood, Iowa, to operate a telephone system through a tier of seven counties running east of the Missouri river. All the towns in these counties are to be connected with the central station at Glenwood, and Glenwood is to be connected with Omaha via Pacific Junction and Plattsmouth. A sad case is reported from South Omaha. Frank Jellinek, an aged man, with his wife and four children, arrived in Omaha three weeks ago from Bohemia. Jellinek had the consumption and died yesterday leaving his family without a supporter and without money, to make their way in a new world. The remains were taken to Undertaker Jacobs and will be interred in the new cemetery of the Bohemian Association. The deceased was 62 years of age. The mother of Ed. Kennedy, the young man who obtained two gold watches from Max Meyer & Bro. on a forged order from John Baumer, came in from Denver yesterday. She is a very nice lady who is suffering from consumption and was ordered by the physician to take an ocean voyage, being on her way to Germany when she received her son's telegram. She says that Ed. received a fall when he was a boy which injured his head and thinks that he was not entirely accountable for what he did. The Lincoln Journal of yesterday, commenting on the report in The Bee, says: "Considerable talk was created on our streets yesterday afternoon over the report that Miss Hattie Adams, formerly of this city, now of Omaha, has struck a man named Fred Shaw over the head with a beer mug last Sunday night, inflicting a wound that might prove fatal. Late last evening the rumor was in circulation that the man had died. Mr. Adams, father of the girl, told a Journal reporter that he had telegraphed for particulars, but up to a late hour last night had not received an answer. A new sporting organization known as the "Omaha Gun Club" has been formed and meets for practice every two weeks on the Lake's addition grounds. The club will send a team to the state sportsmen's tournament at Lincoln on the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th of next month. Members and officers of the new club are as follows: President, W. H. S. Hughes; vice president, Jeff. W. Bedford; secretary and treasurer, Geo. Kay; board of managers, G. F. Drucker, F. S. Parmelee, John W. Petty; members, Geo. T. Mills, W. H. S. Hughes, Jeff. W. Three Young Boys Run Their Heads Into the Noose. On Saturday last the store of L. B. Williams was robbed of a bolt of silk containing ninety yards, the wholesale price of which was $1 per yard. The robbery happened between 12 and 1 o'clock, at noon, and was well planned that it was accomplished without the detection from anyone in the store. Three boys, Dag Maguire, Mike Quinlan and John O'Brien, went to Williams' at the noon hour and Maguire and O'Brien entered, while Quinlan stood guard outside. Maguire had a large overcoat thrown carelessly over the shoulders of O'Brien engaged one of the clerks in a dicker for a pair of shoe strings, and meanwhile Maguire walked quietly back to the silk counter and smuggled the bolt of goods under his overcoat. O'Brien having got his shoe strings, both then went out and locked the outside sentinel. The departure of the boys, none of whom are over eighteen years of age, was watched by one of Edholm & Jackson's clerks, who mistreated the clerk's wrong from their actions and that they had been up to some mischief. He went over to the store and reported his suspicions and upon inspection the bolt of silk was found missing. Officer Walker was informed of the robbery and by the description given by the jewelry clerk and Mr. Williams' employees readily guessed who were the culprits. He and Officer Armour went to work together to find out who they were. They succeeded in recovering twenty-five of the ninety yards of silk. They found two dress patterns and the piece at a dressmaking establishment and one at a barber shop. A fourth was sold to a lady from Des Moines, Iowa, who had already left the city. She was notified of the theft and will return the goods to the store. The rest of the piece is not yet recovered. The boys are of the right age and good from evil and it is probable they will land in the penitentiary before they get through with the silk. It is supposed that two colored men are implicated with the gang, and they have skipped the town. It has been hard times this spring around and the gang has been getting in its work pretty freely, but this job promises to be a sorry one for the participants. Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A STORM SCENE. A Midnight Alarm and its Denouement. A Clasp of Thunder that Awoke One Sleeper.

Upon a certain night during the week of storms that has just passed, a little incident occurred at one of our leading hotels which has not yet found its way into print. It was about two o'clock in the morning, and the night clerk was beginning to weary of his long watch and wish for day, when the bell rang from one of the rooms up stairs. The bell boy was sent up and returned breathless with the information that the lodger in that room had heard groans in the alley beneath his window, and believed that a man was being murdered down there. At this time the storm was at its height, the rain was falling in torrents and the glare of the lightning and roar of the thunder were incessant. The whole proceeding was so unusual and the night so advantageous for deeds of blood that the clerk, who is prudent as well as brave, thought it might be a plan to get everybody out and rob the safe. Not to be caught in this way he sent the porter and bell boy to the recess of the supposed victim and taking up a double barreled shotgun took a stand so as to cover both entrances with his artillery. In some way he caught the trigger on a coat button and a movement of his arm sent the hammer down and the gun, which was loaded with slugs and buck shot, went off with a noise that double discounted the thunder, the charge being buried in the woodwork about the ceiling. The forces that had gone to rescue the man in the alley, found only a drunken man who had got into the mud so deep that he was unable to extricate himself, and before they got to the door the shot and supposed an attack had been made on the clerk. They came in pale and excited with hands up and were relieved to find the extent of the trouble so limited. Strange to say, not a soul up stairs was alarmed by the discharge, and no one appeared on the scene until morning. At breakfast time a Chicago drummer, who had occupied an inside room, appeared to settle his bill before leaving for the train, and the clerk, anxious to find out the effect of the accidental shot, asked him if he slept well. "Oh, yes," "Well, that was an awful storm last night?" "Yes, but it didn't bother me much, except that I heard a— of a clasp of thunder about 2 o'clock." The clerk did not explain that that storm was inside the house, but his friends learned of it, and one of them gave it away to a Bee reporter. PLEA FOR THE POOR. A Chance for the Charitable to do a Good Deed. Mrs. R. M. Carlton, member of the publishing committee of the Omaha Auxiliary society, has issued the following notice: The Omaha Auxiliary society have a soliciting committee who are gathering provisions and other necessary articles to send to the African M. E. Church to-night. All who desire to send something and who may not see the committee can send their donations to Mrs. Haver's, 1512 Davenport street. The Auxiliary society has arranged to send a box of provisions once a month, and all May contributions must be in before next Wednesday. The box, or boxes, will be packed next Tuesday evening. Anything will be acceptable. All who desire to send to the home next Wednesday, let them see the condition of the home and the inmates as I saw them a few days ago. Butter has not been seen in the home for months. The regular diet is hard gray and gramaugh meal the last time. Meat is only served once a week and they never get anything in the way of delicacies, not even for Sunday dinner. Many of the babies are lying upon straw beds with no pillows. Send something to find out the effect of the things more comfortable. This is our first general donation; let us see how well we can do. Let us try to make those friendless ones feel it is a home for them. CONGRESSMAN LAIRD. The Omaha Glee Club Gives Him a Rousing Serenade. Hon. James Laird, congressman from the Second district has been at the Paxton for the past two or three days, and last night the Omaha Glee Club determined to give him a serenade. About half past nine o'clock the club went to the Paxton and first sang in the rotunda after which they went to his room if they could find it. The gentleman made his appearance and acknowledged the honor in a brief speech that was very pleasant to the boys. The club was next invited down to the Paxton club rooms, where they were joined by several Omaha gentlemen and passed the time pleasantly until midnight. Champagne flowed like water, and one song followed another in quick succession, the boys appearing at their very best. Mr. Laird made them a second speech, not less happily than the first, and the party finally separated mutually well pleased. A MARKET HOUSE. A New Proposition for a Much Needed Building.

Since the proposition of the syndicate represented by Webster Snyder to erect a $150,000 market house on Jefferson square fell through the subject has been pretty much lost sight of. It is learned now that Gen. Estabrook proposed to erect at an early day a market house which will cost $50,000 and which will be located on his own property on Sixteenth street opposite Jefferson Square. In conversation with Mr. Estabrook it was stated by him that the project was bona fide and if the proper legislation can be secured from the city council will be carried out. The plans are already drawn and are now to be seen at Mr. Estabrook's office. The building will be such as to be not only remunerative to its owners but a credit to that part of the city and the only delay is occasioned by waiting to see if the council will take some action for the protection of such an enterprise. "THE WILD WEST" Arrival of the "Buffalo Bill" Party in Omaha. A special train of nine cars arrived in this city over the Union Pacific about 4 o'clock last evening, bringing the men, animals and paraphernalia of the "Wild West," the Cody and Carver combination, which broke camp at Columbia yesterday morning. The train was run right down to the U. P. shops, where it was unloaded of bag and baggage and the procession, a most unique one, at once took its way out Sixteenth street to the driving park, where the party again goes into camp. The party comprises about eighty men and more than that number of animals. There are about sixty Indians—Omahas, Opalilas Sioux, Brule Sioux and Pawnee. Then there are buffaloes, elk, dogs, and about fifty broncho ponies. Altogether the personnel of the party is very novel and the appearance well calculated to attract attention. Wilberforce Grand Concert Company (formerly known as the Stewart Concert Company), endorsed by both pulpit and press, will give one of their Grand Concerts at Masonic Hall, corner Sixteenth and Capitol avenues, for the benefit of the First African M. E. Church to-night. Do not fail to hear them. General admission, 50 cents; children under 12 years, 25 cents. BIRD MICHAEL, Pastor. Real Estate Transfers.
