health and avoid sickness. Instead of feeling tired and worn out, instead of aches and pains, wouldn't you rather feel fresh and strong?

You can continue feeling miserable and good for nothing, and no one but yourself can find fault, but if you are tired of that kind of life, you can change it if you choose.

How? By getting one bottle of BROWN IRON BITTERS, and taking it regularly according to directions.

Manfield, Ohio, Nov. 26, 1881. Gentlemen—The sufferer with pain in my side and back, and great soreness on my breast, with shooting pains all through my body, attended with great weakness, depression of spirits, and loss of appetite. I have taken several different medicines, and was treated by prominent physicians for my liver, kidneys, and spleen, but I got no relief. I thought I would try Brown Iron Bitters; I have now taken one bottle and a half and am almost well. I feel in side and back all gone—soreness all out of my breast, and I have good appetite, and am getting in strength and flesh. It can justly be called the King of Medicines.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is composed of Iron in soluble form; Cinchona the great tonic, together with other standard remedies, making a remarkable non-alcoholic tonic, which will cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Malaria, Weakness, and relieve all Lung and Kidney diseases.

For summer toilets for good wearing use fancy checked silks will be in greater demand than ever.

An economical Philadelphia woman wears all her husband's socks out after he is through with them.

The Chinese driving cloak with sabot sleeves has taken the place this season of the French redingote.

The most innocent girl, says Florine, knows that a man is in love with her shortly before he knows it himself.

A Washington boulevard girl who is an expert at handkerchief flirtation thinks she ought to be the chief of the signal service.

A Michigan woman describes her abandoned husband as of a "fried pork complexion." The detectives exultingly made a note of it.

Silk jerseys, gloves in strawberry red, pale yellow, and gray, and black will be more in vogue this summer than kid gloves of any sort.

Six lovely maids of Troy, N. Y., have built a raft on which they intend to spend the summer, floating up and down the Hudson river.

A Newark girl has put an artificial rattlesnake into her Boston cousin's room to frighten him. It is now dangerously ill with brain fever.

POBIRY OF THE TIMES.

The Star Route Trial. I make the court and jury doze, While time so slowly passes; I sit astride the judge's nose, And roost upon his glasses.

Such floods of talk have come from me, Such endless streams of chatter, That strangers stare at all they see, And wonder what's the matter.

Both sides are rich, the people say, The lawyers trained and clever, And counsel's pay is by the day, While I go on forever.

I've seen the winter melt in spring, But still my days are dreary; At nature's grand awakening My little world was weary.

A leaden cloud of talk am I, And every luckless passer-by I sure to get a drenching.

I've talked the judge's eyeballs dim, And petrified his liver; No joy can life afford to him, While I go on forever.

The jury, rooted to the spot, Are nothing now but dummies, And sit in silent awe at me, As if I were a wizard.

On the California Hills. Across the broad brown peaceful hills, With blossoms to our bronchos' knees, With singing birds by broken hills, We rode through seas of drowsy bees.

The ardor of my speech grew still As we rode on that perfect day, The brown birds piping from the hill; The crickets had it their own way.

Then we fell weary with the day, God's bare of gold across the west, Before us drew and made us stay Beside a blossomed rill and rest.

The camp fire blazed, the bronchos grazed, And hazy deep in bloom and grass Would blink as by the bright flame dazed, Or sniff to smell the pantler's pass.

The massive stars of gold stood out, Bright camp fires of poor, weary souls, Beneath heavenward. While all about, Cuckbed peace, with white patrole, —Joaquin Miller.

Be Bet on the Filly. I was out to the races, dear Billy, I went out to the half-mile track; I bet on a little filly filly, That trotted and paced and then racked.

The horses all started off, Billy, At a terrible gallop, indeed, And what do you think? that filly Was far, far in the lead.

I shouted and tore around, Billy, Because I had failed to bet more On the filly, the little bay filly, On, Billy, I was awfully sore.

The horses dashed down to the home stretch, With the filly—my filly—ahead, When a black horse, the mean little wretch, Lapped the filly, and made the heat dead.

But I was mistaken, dear Billy, They went round the circle once more, And the filly, the little bay filly, Aided still and awfully sore.

Well, I lost all my money, dear Billy, Can I borrow a "hal' or a "far"? And I'll never bet more on the filly, The filly which ran in that race. —Dunston.
