

THE SPOILS OF WAR.

Gen. Crook Sketches the Mongrel Mob of Hair Lifters Taken in the Mountains.

The Bloodthirsty Chiefs, Nana and Loco, Among the Captured Crowd.

The Village of the Hostiles Wiped Out in a Day Without Loss to the Victors.

The Flying Boats Anxious for Peace and Grab.

Special Dispatch to This Day. SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The following dispatch from Gen. Crook was received at the military headquarters this afternoon:

SILVER CREEK, A. T., 12 miles north of the boundary via Tombstone. Left Tombstone May 1st with 193 Apache scouts under Crawford, Gov. Wood Mackey with the Chaffee company of 42 men and the Sixth cavalry, and rations for two months on mules. Followed the hostiles to Chiricahua. The country is of indescribable roughness. A number of miles lost their footing stepping from the trail, fell down the precipitous and were killed. The strength of the Chiricahua is in the very heart of the Sierra Madre. The position is finely watered, a dense growth of timber and plenty of grass. They had been camped for miles near the head of the Bavipe, occupying prominent elevated peaks.

CREATING NEW RAILROAD POOLS. Special Dispatch to This Day. CHICAGO, June 12.—Pursuant to the call of the vice chairman of the joint executive committee of the trunk lines, a meeting of passenger agents of roads in the territory north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi, was held here to-day for the purpose of considering the question of a general passenger pool throughout that territory. About twenty roads were represented, including the trunk lines. The matter was discussed at length, and favorably, but as some lines whose acquiescence was deemed necessary were not represented in the meeting, no definite action toward the formation of a pool was taken.

SCATTERED LIKE QUAIL. They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

were killed at New Barnside and a whole family struck by lightning, in which the father was dying. Whole flock of geese blown away and all peach orchards ruined. It is estimated that twenty or more people were killed, but of this there is no definite knowledge.

THE DRUG DISPENSERS. Annual Meeting of the Pharmaceutical Association at the Capital—The Messenger.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THIS DAY. LINCOLN, June 12.—The capital city assumes a metropolitan appearance. Aside from the state tournament of Nimrods, there is gathered here about twenty-five dispensers of drugs, in attendance on the second annual meeting of the State Pharmaceutical association, which convened to-day. The following officers were elected:

Dr. Park, Ashland, president; W. C. Lane, Lincoln, secretary; O. M. Leighton, Lincoln, treasurer.

A larger attendance is expected to-morrow. It is of great interest to the good friends among its members and a general discussion of topics relating to the improvement of the science and practice of pharmacy. The next annual meeting will be held at Omaha, May 2, 1884. Messrs. Julius Meyer and S. Hoffman, of Omaha, are here directing the music for the Germania Mersner concert and ball which concludes the day's performance. Everything passed off quietly and the entire programme is pronounced a grand success so far.

CREATING NEW RAILROAD POOLS. Special Dispatch to This Day. CHICAGO, June 12.—Pursuant to the call of the vice chairman of the joint executive committee of the trunk lines, a meeting of passenger agents of roads in the territory north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi, was held here to-day for the purpose of considering the question of a general passenger pool throughout that territory. About twenty roads were represented, including the trunk lines. The matter was discussed at length, and favorably, but as some lines whose acquiescence was deemed necessary were not represented in the meeting, no definite action toward the formation of a pool was taken.

SCATTERED LIKE QUAIL. They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

They asked me to remain until they could gather all the bands together, when they would go back to the reservation. By the terms of the treaty my operations were limited to the time of the fight. The Chiricahua were unanimous for peace and had already sent two messengers to try to reach San Carlos. On the 7th they began to surrender. They said their people were much frightened by our sudden appearance in their fastness, and had

THE WANING STARS.

The Great Conspiracy Trial Almost Ended.

The Jury Charged by the Court and Locked up for the Night.

The Emperor of Japan Made Happy with a Cool Three-Quarters of a Million.

Reorganizing the Revenue Service—Chinese Smuggling—General Capital News.

THE STAR ROUTE TRIAL. Special Dispatch to This Day. ADDRESSING THE JURY. WASHINGTON, June 12.—Judge Wylie began his charge to the star route jury this afternoon after thanking the jurors for their patient attention during the weary months of the trial, and reminding them that they had nothing to do with public demand, newspaper articles, or appeals to sympathy, but must decide the case upon the evidence. He at once commenced to state the legal points involved.

Judge Wylie then turned to the printed prayers and commented upon those not already disposed of in his preceding remarks. Touching the amount of evidence to be given, he said that it was not to be credited because it was that of an accomplice, if it was corroborated by other witnesses and sustained by material theory and facts of the case. In considering the testimony given by the defendants, the jury must make allowance for the temptation to which they were exposed. He could not grant the government's prayer that the jury be directed to regard as circumstances tending to prove guilt, the refusal of the defence to produce books and other written evidence upon notice. That was a law, it did not allow an unfavorable inference to be drawn from such refusal, but it allowed the prosecution to give secondary evidence, and it was good for all it could fairly prove, and it could not afterwards be impeached or contradicted. The court thought the jury could find any other of the defendants guilty of conspiracy with Rerdell. As to the failure to call Baker and Williams, the court said the jury was at liberty to draw an inference, if they believed that those witnesses could have given important evidence. This disposed of the prayers for the prosecution. Judge Wylie then proceeded to answer such prayers of the defense as were designated by that side. The jury was instructed it was their duty to find there was no conspiracy if the facts proven could be accounted for by any reasonable hypothesis of innocence based upon evidence. A large number of prayers attacking the indictment, upon the ground that it had been drafted under improper statute, and in some places erroneous directions given were refused. The ninety-ninth prayer, admitting the right of the jury to disregard the facts proven, could be accounted for by the testimony of witnesses who knowingly swear falsely on a material point, was allowed. The nineteenth prayer, clothing the defendants with the presumption of innocence until proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, was also allowed. Many of the remaining prayers for the defense were refused, and the remainder withdrawn. A number of exceptions to the charges were noted by counsel for defense. At Bill's suggestion the jury were instructed they might find conspiracy between Peck and one of the defendants. The foreman asked that the jury be furnished with a copy of the charge, but Judge Wylie smilingly said that it was "all in the air." He had no record of it. If the jury were at a loss in regard to the law of the court, upon their application, would relieve them. Billiffs were then sworn to take charge of the jury. A copy of the instrument was given the jury and they retired. The court then took a recess until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, with the understanding that if the jury arrived at a verdict before 10 o'clock to-night the court will recess to receive it.

THE TROUBLES AT TROY. Special Dispatch to This Day. TROY, N. Y., June 12.—There was much excitement about the station during the examination of William Sleicher, member of the firm owning the iron works, charged with having instigated the shooting of Hutchison, saying he would give $15 for every one of the strikers whom somebody would kill. Through not charged with shooting he was refused bail. A warrant was prepared against Sleicher, charging murder. William B. Hazen alleges that Sleicher offered him a reward for every union moulder he shot. Imeson, Winston and Law have been recognized as the leaders in all the troubles that followed the introduction of non-union men in the malleable iron works. Winstons has since been arrested and Imeson once on charges of assault on non-union men.

HOW THEY DO IT IN MEXICO. Special Dispatch to This Day. MEXICO, June 12.—Galliermo Valle and Miguel Azca were elected president and vice president of the national supreme court. The affairs of the Mexican national railroad in Michoacan are complicated. The Montore Republicans say the state government intends to transfer the other company the new concession granted by the state for a railway from Patzcuara to a point on the Mexican central railway. The National railway company has already spent large sums in the construction of its road from Morelia to Patzcuara but forfeited the charter granted by the state, owing to non-compliance with the terms of the contract.

SHIPPING NEWS. Special Dispatch to This Day. LONDON, June 12.—Arrived out, the Palermo from Baltimore, and the State of Georgia from New York. NEW YORK, June 12.—Arrived, the Scythia from Liverpool, Gellert from Hamburg, Orceassa from Glasgow, Persian Monarch from London, Devon and Brooklyn City from Bristol. LONDON, June 12.—The steamer Lake Winnipeg from Montreal, at Liverpool, is disabled. The Odessa, from New York, arrived out.

FIRE. Special Dispatch to This Day. BRADWOOD, Ill., June 12.—At 7:30 last night a fire broke out in shaft G, in this city and has been raging ever since. The fire department labored all last night to extinguish the flames, but without success. Violent explosions were heard during the night. Thirty-two men were burned, and it is rumored that several lives were lost. The shaft is one of the most valuable in the coal fields, and was worked solely by colored men. The loss is thought to be great.

TABLE TALK. Every lady who presides at a table is interested to know how she can depend upon having things come upon the table as she would like them. How often are remarks like this made: "This is just my fate; when I especially want a nice thing, somehow or other it turns out poor!" A lady expects company for tea. She orders, for instance, biscuits, and they are brought to the table heavy and indigestible. How many housekeepers can testify to mortification, as well as disappointment under such circumstances! It may not, however, have occurred to them that it is not always the "cook's fault." Your biscuits, cakes, not-puddings, etc., cannot be raised with earth or worthless substitutes, and it becomes your own fault when you permit any baking powder to come into your kitchen about which you know absolutely nothing as to its purity or healthfulness.

THE REFORMERS. The civil service commission and Chief Examiner Mill have been in a few days for the purpose of conducting examinations with local examining boards in various cities.

NEPOTISM. The attorney general has decided that the question whether there are already two or more members of a family in the public service, as provided in the civil service act, is not to be considered by the civil service commission.

APPOINTMENTS. The president has appointed Henry Eperon registrar of the land office at La Crosse, Wis., and Ellisha W. Davis agent at the Utah agency, Utah territory, vice Critchlow, whose term will expire July 1st.

OLD VESSELS FOR SALE. Upon the return to Washington of Secretary Chandler, he will advertise for sealed proposals for the purchase of two iron clads, two iron and twenty-six wooden ships, which have been unfiled by the board of inspection as unfit for further naval service. Proposals for the purchase will be received until about September 15th.

INTERNAL REVENUE DISTRICTS. The president to-day had a long conference with Secretary Folger in regard to the question of reorganizing and consolidating the internal revenue districts. It is proposed to settle this question as soon as possible, and it is expected the announcement of some perfected plan will be made in a few days.

SMUGGLING THE HEATHEN. The commission recently appointed by the treasury department to investigate the alleged smuggling of Chinese women and children into the United States by way of British Columbia, submitted a report from which it appears the practice complained of was not general, although there may have been isolated cases. The commission requested additional vigilance on the part of customs officers on the border, and also on the part of the revenue cutter stationed at Puget sound.

TICKLING THE MINKAO. The department of state has been apprised by Bingham, United States minister to Tokio, of the delivery to the government of Japan of the treasury draft for $785,000, the amount of the indemnity fund returned that government by the United States. In accepting the sum the minister for foreign affairs of Japan, expressed his most cordial thanks and appreciation of his government at the equity and justice constantly manifested by the United States towards Japan, and alludes with much satisfaction to the present happy relations existing between the people of both countries.

THE TROUBLES AT TROY. Special Dispatch to This Day. TROY, N. Y., June 12.—There was much excitement about the station during the examination of William Sleicher, member of the firm owning the iron works, charged with having instigated the shooting of Hutchison, saying he would give $15 for every one of the strikers whom somebody would kill. Through not charged with shooting he was refused bail. A warrant was prepared against Sleicher, charging murder. William B. Hazen alleges that Sleicher offered him a reward for every union moulder he shot. Imeson, Winston and Law have been recognized as the leaders in all the troubles that followed the introduction of non-union men in the malleable iron works. Winstons has since been arrested and Imeson once on charges of assault on non-union men.

HOW THEY DO IT IN MEXICO. Special Dispatch to This Day. MEXICO, June 12.—Galliermo Valle and Miguel Azca were elected president and vice president of the national supreme court. The affairs of the Mexican national railroad in Michoacan are complicated. The Montore Republicans say the state government intends to transfer the other company the new concession granted by the state for a railway from Patzcuara to a point on the Mexican central railway. The National railway company has already spent large sums in the construction of its road from Morelia to Patzcuara but forfeited the charter granted by the state, owing to non-compliance with the terms of the contract.

SHIPPING NEWS. Special Dispatch to This Day. LONDON, June 12.—Arrived out, the Palermo from Baltimore, and the State of Georgia from New York. NEW YORK, June 12.—Arrived, the Scythia from Liverpool, Gellert from Hamburg, Orceassa from Glasgow, Persian Monarch from London, Devon and Brooklyn City from Bristol. LONDON, June 12.—The steamer Lake Winnipeg from Montreal, at Liverpool, is disabled. The Odessa, from New York, arrived out.

FIRE. Special Dispatch to This Day. BRADWOOD, Ill., June 12.—At 7:30 last night a fire broke out in shaft G, in this city and has been raging ever since. The fire department labored all last night to extinguish the flames, but without success. Violent explosions were heard during the night. Thirty-two men were burned, and it is rumored that several lives were lost. The shaft is one of the most valuable in the coal fields, and was worked solely by colored men. The loss is thought to be great.

TABLE TALK. Every lady who presides at a table is interested to know how she can depend upon having things come upon the table as she would like them. How often are remarks like this made: "This is just my fate; when I especially want a nice thing, somehow or other it turns out poor!" A lady expects company for tea. She orders, for instance, biscuits, and they are brought to the table heavy and indigestible. How many housekeepers can testify to mortification, as well as disappointment under such circumstances! It may not, however, have occurred to them that it is not always the "cook's fault." Your biscuits, cakes, not-puddings, etc., cannot be raised with earth or worthless substitutes, and it becomes your own fault when you permit any baking powder to come into your kitchen about which you know absolutely nothing as to its purity or