CROOK AND HIS CAMPAIGN.

Carl Schurz in the Evening Post. It is reported that in 1835, when General Scott conducted the war against the Seminoles in the jungles and swamps of Florida, his force was divided into several columns, surrounding in a large cirde the place in which the camp of the tostile Indians was supposed to be, and hat as these columns made a concentric lyance, each one of them was to fire a avy gun every morning and evening, so to let the others know of its wherebouts. In this way the different colimns are said to have been well informed about each other's movements, but the Indians were duly advised in the same way. turned out to be not a good way to catch them. General Crook carries on Indian warfare on an entirely different principle. There is no firing of morning and evening guns, no beating of drums, no sounding of the trumpets, and no waving of banners in his method. There is a complete absence of dress parade, of military style, and of all those things which constitute the pomp and circumstance of war. He goes about it in an exceedingly sober business-like way, and his success is in a great measure owing to the fact that he carries on an Indian war in the Indian way; in other words, that he looks for victory less through gallant charges than

Most truly yours, government will probably do well to leave the winding up of this business entirely in General Crook's hands. It will be difficult to find a man whose judgment can be more implicitly trusted. Moreover, while he thoroughly understands the question in all its aspects, the Indians themselves not only stand in awe of him as an invincible warrior, but they have also confidence in him as a just and humane man. In fact, some army officers who favored the extermination theory, were, not many years ago, in the habof saying that General Crook had persaps become a little too much of an Indian himself. They will, however, not deny now that this is one of his strong

Mr. Tweedy, who was sent east by the new company owning the new marble quarties discovered in the Atkansas val ley, for the purpose of having the marble ompared with the Vermont product, has returned, and brings a remarkably favorable report. The heaviest marble dealers of Vermont united in the opinion that the specimens were fully equal to the best statuary marble of Vermont, and upon hearing how the mine was located, how it was opened, and the position of the strata. said that the Colorado deposit was as good as anything in Vermont. The test made of the marble by the capitol commissioners shows that of all the samples submitted it stood second for building purposes, the hard granite from the quarries owned by Hon. William A. Hamill standing first. In texture, fineness and chemical properties the marble has been shown to be one of the best building stones in the state. In the test under pressure, it stood a crushing of 15,708 pounds to the square inh-more than fifty times what is necessary for the heaviest building in the city that is likely to be erected. The owners of the deposit are jubilant over the prospects, and consider that they have one of the most valuable pieces of properity in the state.

Painful Case of Tetter.

I have for 25 or 30 years been a sufferer from DRY TETTER. It developed itself on different portions of my body, extending to my feet and hands, causing them to itch intolerably and to crack. It was so painful that I was compelled to wear India Rubber gloves day and night for months at a time. After consulting the best physicians, and using all the remedies which came to my notice without relief, I commenced the use of SWIFTS SPECIFIC, and am happy to say that there is scarcely a vestige of the disease left. At no time in twenty-five years have I felt such rolled and freedom from disease, and I cheerfully recommend Swift's Specific to all similarly afflicted.

Bronchitis and Minister's Sore Throat CURED!

I was laid low by an attack of Bronchitis and Minister's Sore Throat, and my life was almost despaired of, when my doctor said try S. S. I hesitated for some time, but I was afraid of being permanently laid aside from the active duties of my ministry, I decided to give the preparation a fair trial, and after persevering in its use I found complete relief, and am enjoying excellent health. I am clearly of the opinion that Swift's Specific is one of the best Alteratives and Blood purifiers in existence, and I take pleasure in recommending its five curative qualities to others afflicted as I was.
