rado Central in Clear Creek canon arrived yesterday morning from Omaha. They are a big improvement over the old observation cars. They are as large as the large narrow-guage coaches, and, unlike the old observation cars they are closed at both ends and have seats as in the coaches, instead of a long bench on either side. For every seat there is a large open window, with a curtain for each window. Each car will seat fifty-six persons and afford each passenger as good an observation as the old open cars, and with much more comfort. The cars came from the Omaha shops on broad guage trucks. They are now being placed on narrow guage trucks, and will soon be ready for the canon. - [Denver News.

Interesting Discussion Concerning the Platform.

The democratic state central committee assembled at the Paxton hotel, at 4 p. m. yesterday, in pursuance to call, with the following member present:

S. F. Burtch, S. G. Glover, John Mcpatrons last night. Every room in the house Monigal, M. Zentmyer, N. W. Smail5, J. E. North, A. B. Charde, J. J. McIntosh, Tobias Castor, J. J. O'Connor Stella, eighty miles from Omaha, yesterday (proxy for C. H. Brown) V. Vifquain, J.

> After a full discussion of the question of calling a state convention a resolution was submitted and carried, in favor of holding a convention for the nomination of candidates for the supreme court and for the selection of other candidates to be voted on at the ensuing election. It was voted that the convention be held in)maha, and the apportionment was fixed as foliows: One delegate for each 100 democratic votes cast for governor last year, and fractions over fifty, and one additional for each organized county,

On motion the time for holding the state convention was delegated to the chairman to select as may be deemed advisable.

The chairman, in making the call for the state convention, was instructed to recommend that the county conventions aslo select delegates to their respective district conventions on the same basis of apportionment, and also recommend that several county conventions take ac tion for the appointment of judicial committees in the ten judicial districts. The committee had an interesting discussion of matters pertaining to the platform and other important interests, more of which will be lerrned later on in the campaign. There was a larger attend-ance of the committee than at any previous meeting. The committee adjo to meet at the call of the chairman.

The following was to have been sub-mitted as a resolution before the state committee, but the mover (Gen. Vifquain) arrived after adjournment:

"The democratic central committee of Nebraska, in the name of the democracy of the state, protests most emphatical against the candidacy of any man for speaker of the Forty-eighth congress, whose record on the protective tariff is not in accord with the expressions of our national platfsrms, as enunciated at St. Louis and Cincinnati," a tariff for revenue only; "no protection, even incident-

CHOKED TO DEATH.

Coroner Jacobs Called to Waterloo.

Where An Aged Citizen Mysteriously Crossed the Styx.

Coroner Jacobs was yesterday summoned by telegram to Waterloo to hold an inquest on the body of one J. R. Traber, who died very suddenly last even-Traber had been drinking quite hard, t appears, and Wednesday white eating his supper, got something into his Coburn gave "Kentucky Ball. wind-pipe, was seized with a choking spell and died in about twenty minutes. He had been a resident of Waterloo for about ten years, and his folks live in Hamilton, O. He was about 55 years of age and had a wife and two grown up children in Hamilton, but had not lived with them for some time.

An inquest was held and a verdict returned that the deceased came to his death from causes unknown. His family instructed the authorities to bury him at

To the Music of Which Wedding Bells Chimed in Harmony.

The Nuptials of Andrew Riley and Miss Maggie McDonald.

"Love conquers all obstacles," it is aid, and the severe storm which took Wednesday morning was not enough to prevent the consummation of a very pleasant wedding appointed to take place at St. Philomena's cathedral at 8 o'clock. Exactly at the hour fixed for the ceremony the carriages con-taining the wedding party drove up and their occupants alighted and quickly dis-appeared through the broad portals of St. Philomena, where a large number of friends were already in waiting.

They advanced up the aisle to the and Miss Sadie Riley; Mr. Thomas Talon and Miss Jennie Dellone; Mr. Chas, McDonald and the bride, Miss Marganotes of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played on the grand organ filled the church, and drowned the noise of the niment to the music. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connor, assisted second story building, and by Rev. Fr. Colaneri, and was followed asked her to give him a by the grand nuptial mass, after which cracker. She went to the cupboard to the bishop delivered a beautiful discourse get what he wanted, but on her return to the newly married pair, and closed the service with the nuptial benediction, the happy couple retiring from the cathedral to the music of the wedding march from

A notable feature of the occasion was the elegant attire of the bride and her attendunts. The for er was dressed in heliotrope satin, cut en train and M. base ball club would play the Wahoos in Wahoo on Saturday. They play them here, instead, and we are sure the correction will be pleasing news to a great many of our readers.

—After the exercise of a great deal of credtwelve hours, Dr. Lanyon attending him and finally pulling him through. The Riley and Dellone wore blue gros grain silk, trimmed with Spanish lace. Britta McDonald was attired in blue satin trimmed with pompadour lace. The groom's attendants wore the conventional dress suits.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party entered their carriage and drove to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McDonald, where they sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast, following which the reception took place, attended by the relatives and intimate friends of both parties.

At 3 o'clock the happy couple left for the east on a bridal tour, which will extend through the summer months, and they will return in September to take up their residence in this city, where both are so well known and have so wide a circle of warm friends.

The groom was the head of the popular firm of Andy Riley & Co., and his acquaintance extends over the entire west, is friends being numbered by scores in every city from the Missouri to the moun-The bride is a sister of Mr. Chas. McDonald, a lovely and accomplished young lady, and one who will make Andy's home a happy one. The union was in all respects an auspicious one, and THE BEE joins with a host of others in tendering its congratulations.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that the wedding presents were very numerous and as beautiful and appropriate as they were costly, the most notable being the diamonds and gold watch and chain from the groom and a magnificent ly ensconsed on the Milwaukee train, on their way to the east.
