COUNCIL BLUFFS.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

"On Saturday evening last, when crossing on the Union Pacific transfer from Omaha to Council Bluffs, I noticed the conductor having a controversy with a poorlyclad, but honest appearing young man-evidently a day laborer—about his ticket; or I should say, the change he had re-ceived with his ticket. The conductor claimed that the Omaha ticket agent had given the party holding that ticket $1 too much. The young man told the amount he had received, which was just what he was entitled to, and said the ticket agent must be mistaken, and had given the dollar to some one else. With the air of an autocrat, his mightiness, the conductor, pocketed the ticket and informed the young fel-low that he should not have the ticket until he gave him the dollar. The ticket was good for quite a distance, as there were a number of coupons attached. As the conductor walked off with the ticket remarked aloud-"that was a mighty high-handed procedure—a regular rob-bery." A little, nervous, intelligent-looking gentleman, who during this con-tretemps had been busily engaged in con-versation with a friend, turned hastily around and asked what was the matter. I explained. He jumped up with indig-nation, interrogated the young fellow, asked the names of the witnesses, and several of us handed our cards, and then wanted a blank sheet of paper, which I readily furnished. His friend hastily wrote until a formidable looking document was made out. The first party turned out to be W. R. Vaughan, justice of the peace and ex-mayor of Council Bluffs, and his friend the deputy sheriff. Mr. Conductor returned, and finding that he had put his foot in it, wished to coax the young fellow off into another car, but he was told not to stir. When the train arrived at Council Bluffs and the deputy sheriff was making out a constable's warrant to arrest the conductor for highway robbery, he forced the ticket on the young fellow and thus escaped an ugly case. Had no loud protest been made this outrage would undoubtedly have been per-petrated. There is too much of the spirit of submission abroad after submission of such things becomethe custom, and custom soon becomes law. You can imagine that I rejoiced exceedingly to know that there was law enough left to

Painful Case of Tetter.

I have for 25 or 20 years been a sufferer from DRY TETTER. It developed taself on different portions of my body, extending to my feet and hands, causing them to itch intolerably and to crack. It was so painful that I was compelled to wear India Rubber gloves day and night for months at a time. After committing the best physiciams, and using all the remedies which came to my notice without relief, I commenced the use of SWIFTS SPECIFIC, and amanappy to say that there is scarcely a vestige of the disease left. At no time in swenty-five years have I felt such relief and freedom from disease, and I cheerfully recommend Swift's Specific to all similarly afflicted.
