

THE DAILY BEE.

Thursday Morning, July 12. LOCAL BREVITIES

These hot days make one think of cool Minnesota. A man named Beckard died at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday. The fireman's sociable tonight will be a very pleasant one.

The Omaha club were to hold a meeting Tuesday night, but no quorum was present. The R. & M. has decided not to consolidate its telegraph lines with the Western Union.

The plot of the "West End" addition to the city of Omaha has been filed with the county clerk. The funeral of Thos. Lee, who dropped dead of heart disease took place at Prospect Hill yesterday.

Articles of incorporation of the Fremont & Central Nebraska Railroad Company have been filed with the secretary of state. President Winter of the St. Paul & Omaha railroad, came down from St. Paul Tuesday to look after the new extension from Wakefield to Yankton.

You require a rest and some recreation this hot weather. Leave your business to his job with its cares and take your family to Minnesota, via the Sioux City route, and you will have a delightful trip.

The train arriving at Omaha at 6:50 p. m., and leaving at 7:20 p. m., over the K. C., St. J. & C. B. road which was suspended during the floods, resumed trips over the direct track Tuesday.

The old frame building which was occupied by the Omaha National Bank is being moved to Tenth street, just south of the Boston store, where it is to be located in the shape of an L.

It is definitely settled that the new Brownell Hall will be built on block three in Oakhurst's addition, which lies one block east of the Hanson park and just west of the street car line.

The Sioux City route, with its Pullman palace sleeping cars and solid trains daily between Council Bluffs and St. Paul, is short and only direct line to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Lake Minnetonka and all points in the northwest.

AN ELOPEMENT.

Two Birds Who Mated in the Summer.

An officer of the police force last evening informed a Bee reporter of an elopement, said to have taken place yesterday, in which a married man ran away with a married woman, and took the three children of the latter with them.

The man's name is given as Schandara, and the woman's as Nezvika, the former residing with his family near the white-leaved works. Schandara has it claimed, been paying attentions to Mrs. Nezvika for some time, and became so marked in his devotion that his wife remonstrated. He had two or three grown up children while the woman had three little ones.

Yesterday the two parties suddenly disappeared, taking with them Mrs. N.'s three children. The deserted husband and the deserted wife were about together looking for their missing partners but had not found them up to latest accounts. The eloping couple probably thought a fair exchange was no robbery.

COUNT BORODIN.

A Russian Engineer Visits the Omaha Shops.

Among the distinguished visitors to Omaha this summer was Count A. Borodin, who was a few days ago a guest at the Paxton.

Count Borodin is the chief engineer of the Southern railway system of Russia, and editor of the paper, called "The Engineer," his headquarters being at Kioff. He is an intelligent and accomplished gentleman as well as a fine engineer and speaks fluently the French, German and English languages, in addition to his native Russian.

Count Borodin visited this country on a tour of inspection, visiting all the large railway centers and shops between the Atlantic coast and the Mississippi river, including the Pullman palace car works and the U. P. shops in this city.

At this place he was treated very courteously by Messrs. Collett and Congdon of the U. P., and made a thorough tour through the shops. He was greatly surprised at their immense proportions, at the magnificent machinery with which they are equipped and the splendid work that is done in them.

He expressed the opinion that these shops were the finest owned by any railway company in the United States, and the cleanest and best managed of any he had visited.

Count Borodin was greatly impressed with the character and condition of things in this country, and thought the people far advanced in all the arts and sciences of the present century. It seemed to him that an American was able to adapt himself to almost any field of work, and fit himself for it in a day.

ABOUT DOGS.

The Mayor Will Protect the Good Four-legged Canines.

But Does Not Like the Two-legged Class. A Bee reporter met Col. C. S. Chase yesterday and inquired of him, "Mayor Chase, did you see the article in the Herald about poisoning dogs?"

"Yes," "Well, what about it?" "I know nothing about it. No order has been issued to poison or shoot dogs. The policemen are acting under an ordinance that has been in force several years."

"Has any policeman poisoned a dog?" "No, sir." "What are you doing in the matter?" "I have referred the whole matter to the marshal, and directed him to report to me in writing with full particulars."

"What about Mr. Falconer's dog?" "I understand that dog was shot by accident. That matter has been referred to the marshal also. Mr. Falconer wrote me a very gentlemanly letter about this which I have also given to the marshal with instructions to report in writing."

"What about the Dorn Dog?" "I never heard of the case before I saw it in the papers." "Mayor, I thought you was a friend of dogs?" "I am a friend of all valuable and pet dogs but have no particular affection for two-legged dogs."

"What do you suppose is the reason that Doctor Miller allowed such an assault to be made on you without first making inquiry as to the facts?" "Well, I suppose some sorehead who has been teasing me to appoint him thought he would go to The Herald and get a lot of mud to sling at me, but as I was brought up in the mud I don't mind it."

An Answer Wanted. Can any one bring us a case of kidney or liver complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters will prove.

Resolved That the pioneers of the Union Pacific railway company (of which association Mr. Gannett has been the president), look upon him as being an honest, able and competent railway officer, a finished and thorough gentleman, a kind and generous friend, and an honored and valued citizen of this great commonwealth.
