THE DAILY BEE.

OMAHA.

Saturday Morning, July 14.

LOCAL BREVITIES

—Another confidence game was reported at police headquarters last evening. The victim loaned the confidence man $20 or $25 and the latter was to secure him a job. He subsequently thought if he had the tenderfoot's watch and chain he could do much better for him and accordingly it was loaned him. Money, watch and chain, confidence man and good job are still missing. Evidently the fool killer is not doing his duty and the mayor should appoint a new one.

—A young lad was arrested last night with a pair of barber's shears, the lawn mowers, in his possession. He claimed to have bought them of a tramp, but his story was not generally believed and he was locked up. Everybody took a free hair cut at the jail during the evening.

—The funeral of the late John McFadden, who was killed by lightning in the storm of yesterday morning, will take place at 2 p. m. to-day. The Teamsters Union, with commendable generosity, raised the funds to give him a respectable burial.

—A man by the name of Dick Dougherty was run over at Hastings on the afternoon of the 12th inst. by a B. & M. engine and fatally injured. He was a switchman in the employ of the company.

—The prisoners convicted and sentenced during the present term of court will be taken to the penitentiary to-day by Deputy Sheriff Crowell.

—Mrs. Nellie Burke, the equestrienne, who has been in the city since the Fourth of July, leaves this evening for Denver.

—A stranger was held up on Thirteenth street last night, and relieved of a watch and a small sum of money.

—The heavy wind at midnight last night dried the mud up very rapidly.

—Two Slocumbs were arrested last night by the police.

—A lively and cooling shower fell about 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

—Strawberries, Raspberries, Blackberries, etc. etc. fresh at Wiemers.

—Married at Chariton, Iowa, July 1st 1883 Mr. A. Bailey and Miss Minnie Lumbertron of Omaha.

—The alley between Douglas and Farnham, 12th and 13th is a loud smelling one. It is enough to knock a horse down.

—An employee of the Union Pacific had the fingers cut off of one of his hands at the Tenth street crossing Thursday.

—A. D. Morse sells latest style low shoes.

—G. B. Ayers was on trial yesterday for assaulting a small boy in a manacing manner.

—The postponed race between the hose companies of the Omaha fire department will take place Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock at the driving dark.

—The sun spots which are thought to control our storms evidently do not decrease very fast. Some steps should be taken to have the nuisance abated.

—The fatal stroke of lightning which killed John McFadden yesterday, is said to be the first of the kind that ever took place in Omaha.

—The attention of the city authorities is called to the fact that Farnham Street needs cleaning badly indeed. That the principle business street of the city should be in such a condition is an outrage.

—Smith's Diagram of Parliamentary Rules is the title of a neat and convenient little work now on sale at W. T. Seaman's book store. It contains a vast amount of information, which is presented in a wonderfully condensed form and is an invaluable aid to all who may be called upon to preside over business meetings.

—The board of managers of the state board of agriculture visited the fair grounds Friday morning and decided if the consent of the driving park association could be obtained, to remove the speed stable and hen house from the north to the south part of the grounds, to make room for the exhibits of agricultural implements.

—Sixteen hundred and fifty shares have been taken in the Omaha Loan and Building association, and the profits to members from premiums alone during the first three months amounts to nearly $700. Eight hundred and fifty shares of stock only remained unsold. It is gratifying to note that a large proportion of the stockholders are mechanics, clerks and industrious working men.

Every house of the human race ought to have St. Jacobs Oil, the pain cure.

—The reported raise given the operators of the Western Union Telegraph company seems not to be the right kind, being something like that of the small boy who tried to lift himself off the top rail of the fence by his boot straps. The day force get a slight advance, but the night force is correspondingly reduced, and the bulk of the operators are night men. As one of them stated it, there was "not a satisfied operator from the Atlantic coast to San Francisco." There is no talk, however, of a strike, as was intimated recently in another paper.

Whether you prefer the sea breeze or the bracing mountain air for your summer vacation you should not omit to provide yourself with a bottle of Angostura Bitters, which is the acknowledged standard regulator of the digestive organs. Be sure to get the genuine article, manufactured only by Dr. J. G. B. SIEGERT & SONS.

—Among the varied amusements for the young, such os neck-tie parties, sheet and pillow-case sociables, calico sociables, etc., it would be thought that inventive genius would have exhausted itself. A new style of amusement has nevertheless been inaugurated in North Omaha, which, if it escapes the attention of the agents of Henry Bergh, promises to become quite popular. As learned from a resident of that locality, the children and young folks during the day make a collection of the required number of cats, say six to ten. In the evening the sociable is held on the banks of North Omaha creek, where it has been cut off by the sewer, and is filled with back water. The problem to be solved is, "has a cat nine lives?" It may be that a cat will eventually be found which has, but a large number have already been sacrificed which failed to possess the required nine. The ducking process is carried on with great zeal, and the feline population in the Sixth Ward is being decimated fast. Cats and cows don't seem to fare well in Omaha.

THE COURTS.

Judge Beneke's Departure for Europe.

Condensed News from District, County and Police Courts.

Yesterday was Judge Beneke's las day as police judge until his return from Europe, for which part of the world he leaves to-morrow. It is understood that Judge Wright will take his place, beginning with to-day.

Judge Beneke is now well along in his second term of office, having gone in by a majority that was almost without precedent in the city.

Judge Beneke has been as fair and impartial a judge as ever sat on the bench, as well as one of the most popular men in the city. Even those who have had to be severely dealt with in his court have never been heard to complain that they had not received their just deserts. His many friends will regret to learn that his health has been impaired by too close application to his office and its duties and the city council has unanimously voted him a three monts leave of absence in which to visit his fatherland. He will be followed by the warmest well wishes of all and his speedy and safe return and complete restoration to health earnestly hoped for.

FRIDAY'S DOCKET.

The judge had a good batch of offenders to deal with on his closing session, and several of the cases were necessarily left over to be disposed of by Judge Wright.

Among the latter are seven women arrested last night by the police as inmates of houses of prostitution. Their cases will be heard this afternoon. All were occupants of the notorious district about the Third ward school house, and have been pulled several times before. They include some of the worst characters in this city and as such might be fired out of the city and if they return given a long term of imprisonment.

Along with these girls six white and three colored men were arrested as inmates of the houses. All pleaded guilty and were fined a dollar and costs each.

There were two cases of plain drunk. One paid and one went to jail.

One man paid $5 and costs for disturbing the peace.

An individual arrested as a vagrant proved his ability to earn a living and was allowed to go.

A CRANK.

Thomas Simon, an immigrant who comes direct from Galway, Ireland, and has a ticket to California arrived at the transfer yesterday, and showed signs of insanity, raving about detectives, and about being hit upon the head in some mysterious way. He crossed the river last evening, and was arrested at the depot on this side by Officer Krogh, who landed him in the city jail. Simon has a cut upon his head which looks as if it was received by an accident, and may be the cause of his insanity. He was yesterday morning sent to the county jail and will shortly be sent before the board of insanity. It is a significant fact that although the evidences of insanity were developed on the otherside of the river, he was shipped over here to be taken care of. The authorities over there are a little too prone to this sort of thing, and this is not the first plain case of the kind. The man ought by right to be sent back to the Bluffs, as Omaha already has her full quota in the asylum, and furnished largely in this exact way. It is an outrage on the tax payers of the county, as the enormous bills paid for these unfortunates would readily show.

DISTRICT COURT.

Judges Neville and Wakeley are both holding court still. It was expected that the petit jury would be discharged to-day in Neville's court but it is said that there is still one more jury trial ahead. To-day the case of Chas. O'Connor vs. Wm. H. Cox and others, commenced Thursday, was still on trial. This action is brought to recover a balance which O'Connor claims Cox owes on a grading contract on the Greeley, Salt Lake & Western railroad and a wagon road leading along the line of the same road in Boulder Valley canon. The amount involved is about $3,000. Cox denies that he owes Mr. O'Connor anything. Ogden and O'Brien appear for the plaintiff and Groff & Montgomery and Wakeley for the defendant.

DOMESTIC DIFFERENCES.

Judge Beneke's time Thursday was taken up in hearing the case of which mention was made in yesterday's BEE. This was a family trouble between the Gards and the Russells, who live in Gise's addition. It appears that Miss Hattie Russell, daughter of J. D. Russell, was engaged to be married to one of the Gard boys. Her mother sanctioned the match until Sunday last, when she chastised the young lady, and declared the match off.

Hattie there upon resolved to marry on Monday and to do so without consulting her mother. Being sent down town on an errand in the morning, she remained until afternoon and on her return announced that she was married. This raised a big breeze and several scenes ensued, in which brickbats, iron hoops and similar domestics weapons of warfare were used and Mrs. Russell, it is charged threatened to kill Mrs. Gard, the mother-in law. Mrs. Russel was allowed to go on her own recognizance to appear at the October term of the District court.

Judge Wakely was also engaged Friday morning in hearing a civil, suit and there will remain several equity cases to be heard next week.

In the latter court, during the present week, various cases against the Omaha and Southwestern Railway Company, have been tried, concerning the condemnation of lands. The cases of Ward et al., and Byron Reed and Clay vs the railway were satisfactorily disposed of, and next to the the last one of the suits, that of T. J. and F. J. Nolan, was tried. This suit was brought by the plaintiffs as an appeal from the award of $550 made for certain property of theirs which had been condemned. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiffs for $1,206.51, thus virtually doubling the original award.

COUNTY COURT

In the county court Thursday a jury case was on trial, in which a Mrs. Amsbury sued one Gavin for $500 for personal injuries received in a family row between the two families from a blow struck her over the head with a poker in the hands of Gavin. The jury awarded the plaintiff $225, about half the sum claimed.

"RANGER'S" RACKET.

The wife of Mr. J. H. Pierce, better known as "Ranger," formerly editor of the Western Magazine in this city, obtained a divorce yesterday at Ponca, the charge against her husband being adultery with one Fanny C. Barker at Lincoln on July 4, 1882. This charge was substantiated by an affidavit from Miss Barker. Mrs. Pierce was given the custody of their child and an allowance of $20 per month from Pierce's salary.

Judge Wakely is expected at Ponca about August 1st, to hear some cases in which Judge Barnes was interested before he was elected judge.

A Happy Family.

Pulled from the breast, squeezed from the bottle,
Stomachs Will sour and milk will curdle;
Baby hallelujah all that night,
Household bumping heads in awful fright.
Don't deny, 'twas thus with Victoria,
Night was hideous without CASTORIA;
When colic left; for peaceful slumber,
All said their prayers and slept like thunder.

FATAL FIRE

Which Fell from Heaven on McFadden.

And Killed Him Outright—A Horse Fatally Maimed.

One of the most remarkable fatalities ever recorded in this vicinity is that which occurred about 9 o'clock Frida morning during the first thunder storm which preceded the heavy rain.

John McFadden was a young man who drove a team for Bradford's lumber yard. He boarded for quite a while up on Sherman Avenue, but had no relatives so far as is known, except his mother, who lived in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

This morning he started out to the barracks with a load of lumber, and was overtaken by the storm near that locality. So far as is known no one else was near him at the time, and what the details of the tragedy were cannot be stated, but he was picked up a little later from the road, dead, with such marks upon his person as left no doubt that he had been struck by lightning. One of his horses was also struck, and while it was not killed outright, is so maimed that it will never be worth anything again and will probably be killed.

Coroner Jabobs was notified of the fatal occurrence and instructed that the body be brought to his place, where it arrived about 1 o'clock, after the terrible rain storm was over. The facts were so apparent as to make in unnecessary to hold an inquest.

The body presented a most remarkable appearance. The hair of the head was singed as if a flame had been wrapped about it though no mark or scar was visible elswhere on the head or face. The next signs of the fatal stroke were on the breast which looked as if it had been pierced in fifty places with a red hot iron or as if a heavy load of buckshot had been poured into the chest. Just below the ribs another mark was to be seen and a hole was burned through the woolen undershirt worn by the victim. The charge must then have all passed down the left limb, where scars were to be seen here and there and the left shoe was torn to pieces from heel to instep, the stocking torn and scorched and a scar or burn left on the ankle. There is no doubt but the stroke must have been instantaneously fatal and the poor fellow doubtless never knew what hurt him. At present it is not known what disposition will be made of the body.

BROKE HIM UP.

A Practical Test of Colorado Sandstone.

Which Dampened the Ardor of An Admirer.

A couple of well known gentlemen of this city, both of whom have occupied high official positions, and are among our most responsible citizens, got into an argument yesterday at a restaurant, over the relative merits of Sioux Falls granite and Colorado sandstone. They subsequently met in the County Treasurer's office, where the dispute was renewed, the advocate of Sioux Falls stone saying to the other, "Why, I can take a piece of Colorado sandstone as thick as that" (placing his hand on the back of a chair), "and break it in two with my hands, and I'll bet $100 on it!"

The Colorado stone man, who is a mechanic, at once drew out a rule and measured the thickness of the chair, which was about three-fourths of an inch thick. "I'll make you a present of $100 if you can," said he.

The two thereupon went out in search of a stone of the required thickness, but could not find any. They did find a piece an inch and three-quarters thick, and the advocate of Sioux Falls granite said to a third party in their company, "Now place your foot on that," at the same time placing the stone on the edge of the sidewalk with one end projecting over.

He then raised his naked fist and struck it a blow, shivering it to fragments.

The other party was, figuratiraly speaking, paralyzed and turning around walked off without a word.

THE U. P. NINE.

They Knock the People Out of tha Ring.

According to the Marquis of Sandstone Rules.

(Communicated)

EDITOR BEE: The acrobatic editor of the Herald in his issue of yesterday morning states that "the Sioux Falls-asphalt combination have been set down upon by a vote of 9 to 3." Whereas—a few days since he asserted that the sand stone and asphalt combination had taken the cake and divided it, all of which is unjust to asphalt—putting it in all the combinations but the proper one, viz.: asphalt and the people. The people and asphalt have joined hands and are as one. The taxpayers are fighting for it, while the united community sigh for it.

The Doctor is in favor of asphalt? but feels the chafing of that U. P. brass collar he has worn for 18 years and is at once stuck with admiration at the ease and grace with which the U. P. sandstone nine (9) wins the game, with Baker captain, Hascall short-stop, Kaufmann—in masked—cather, Frank Walters umpire, and the Doctor referee—contest under the Marquis of Sandstone Rules. The game just played and forced upon the people in opposition to their expressed wish reminds us of a recent saying of Vanderbilt: "The public be damned."

Yes, sir. Judge Lake, Henry Pundt, Kitchen Bros., M. Hellman, J. E. Boyd, The Creightons, B. F. Smith, M. Rogers and 150 others. "You be damn " with the compliments of McGucken, ed eeder, Hascall, Anderson, Baker, Kaufmann, Woodworth, Murphy and Dunham of the U. P. sand stone mill, who, like our material are composed of sand and seamy as Hell.

Yes, the U. P. is running all the successful nines in Omaha this season. The game just played by the Walters-Miller nine was conceived in quarry corner 9th and Farnham. By the way, what has become of the braying little Burro that edits AT the republican? The last heard of him he was amusing himself and tommy-kimball by shoveling asphalt from Douglas street onto the sidewalk.

Allah is great. Nine of a kind beats asphalt. The U. P. has her Trinity, base ball nine, sandstone nine, and Judas nine, and if there is anything in this city and state that has not been captured, a nine will be at once organized for work in the new degree. Yours,

OF THE NINETY AND NINE.

ABANDONED.

A Three Months' Old Babe Left at a Boarding House.

A Story that is Becoming Too Frequent of Late.

It has of late become a frequent occurrence to record the story of mothers abandoning their children and little waifs are being left every few weeks on door steps, in the depots or elsewhere by heartless or helpless mothers. They range all the way from a day to a year old, and the younger they are the more helpless their case is.

The latest account of desertion was reported last evening. By this it seems that about three weeks ago a man claiming to be a runner for the Metropolitan hotel went to the boarding house kept by Mrs. Parr, on Twelfth and Jackson and tried to get board for a woman and baby, whom he represented to be his wife and child. He gave as a reason that he could not afford to board at the house as it was too expensive and he had to look for a cheaper place.

Mrs. Parr declined to take them as boarders as she had no room, but the fellow begged that his family might stay there for two or three days until they could find some place else to go to. This they were allowed to do, and subsequently they went to Council Bluffs, from which place the woman wrote to Mrs. Parr asking her if she did not desire to adopt the child. This favor Mrs. Parr declined.

Yesterday the woman returned to Omaha and went to Mrs. Parr's house. About dinner time she said she wanted to go up town and would return in a little while, and she left her baby in care of the kind-hearted landlady. Up to a late hour last evening she had not returned and it is probable that she will not and that it is a clear case of desertion. It is all the more cruel as the child is just of that age when it most needs a mothers care, and it cried all the afternoon for the attention which a mother alone can give.

A law ought to be enacted severely punishing such an act as this, which is a crime as much as many other punishable offenses.

CROOK'S CAPTIVES.

An Interesting Interview with the Distingnished Warrior.

What He Thinks of the Future of His Words.

The familiar face of General George Crook was seen on the streets yesterday and recalled the old times when it was an every day sight. He meets friends on every street crossing and has time to stop and converse with all.

General Crook has come and will go as victorious as he was on the alkali plains about Sonora, having succeeded in inducing the administration to adopt his views. There is pretty strong reason to believe that his persistence in having this policy adopted arises from the fact that the Apaches did not unconditionally surrender; that, in fact, they only agreed to go to the San Carlos reservation, and that they are still permitted to retain their arms. Secretary Teller has in one sense carried his point, for he has declined to

The experience of the government in this instance would seem to show that the Indian bureau is not well equipped to provide for any except the most peaceful Indians, and the result of General Crook's campaign will perhaps give a fresh interest to the inquiry whether or not the Indians should be wholly placed under the charge of the war department. It is General Crook's opinion that they should be. He thinks that the hand that must punish should be the hand that feeds.

General Crook said to a reporter yesterday: "I am glad to get away from this official talk. It is three months since I have enjoyed a night of uninterrupted sleep. I now hope to be able to take a prolonged rest."

became responsible for peace at the San Carlos agency after 500 of the wildest Apaches are put there. The experiment, therefore, is to be tried of a joint occupancy of the reservation by the war department and the interior department, the agent having charge of all the Indians except the wild Apaches acting in the capacity of a fiscal agent, while the war department maintains, from its appropriation for the care of Indian prisoners, the savage Apaches, and agrees to keep peace on the entire reservation.

General Crook is evidently sincerely convinced that these wildest of the savages can become civilized. He does not think that a good way to begin to civilize them is by breaking his word. He will, after a few days' rest, proceed directly to Arizona. He needs much more rest, as his health is somewhat broken, owing to his exhausting campaign. His staff officer, Burke, is nearly broken down, as so many officers have been who have been assigned to General Crook's command, aud he has been compelled to ask for a long leave of absence.

"Are you satisfied with the outcome of the conference i" was asked.

"Perfectly," he replied. "The Chiricahuas will be put upon the San Carlos Reservation under the supervision of the War Department, which will be responsible for their good behavior and will supply the funds necessary to take care of them."

"Is there any truth in the report that several of your captives have escaped and joined their fellow in Mevico, and that they are again on the warpath ?"

"None whatever, as far as I know. There is absolutely no trouble among the Indians of Arizona at present, and I have no campaign on hand.'

"It was reported at one time, general, that your allies had mutinied, and that you had been murdered. Did you ever have any fears of such an outbreak ?"

"Never. I had confidence in them, and at no time feared treachery. Those stories were circulated by persons who knew nothing whatever about our movements. We covered our trail as completely as possible from the start. This was absolutely necessary; for had the hostiles, or even one of them, suspected our movements or seen our trail, surprise would have been impossible, and unless we could surprise the Chiricahuas our efforts would have been in vain."

General Crook believes that the captive boy will be brought in as soon as the Indians learn that the Government intend to keep faith with them, and that no further trouble need be feared.
