It is reported that Mexico and Germany have by secret treaty entered into an offensive and defensive political alliance, against the protest of our minister, Mr. Morgan, with whom the German minister came to a breach of decorum. The story "lacks confirmation," to say the least. If it were true it would be quite a grave matter. It does not seem probable that Mexico, after having been assured her independence of European empire by the direct interposition of the United States, would cultivate alliances with any of the European powers. #### Unbelief.

Whoever says, when clouds are in the sky Be patient, heart; light breaketh by and by, Trusts the Most High.

Whoever see, 'neath winter's field of snow, The silent harvest of the future grow— God's power must know.

Whoever lies down on his couch to sleep, Content to lock each sense in slumber Knows God will keep.

Whoever says, "To-morrow," "The Un "The Future," trusts that power alone He dares disown.

The heart that looks on when the eyelids close And dares to live when life has only woes, God's comfort knows,

There is no unbelief; And day by day, and night, unconsciously, The heart lives by that faith the lips deny-God knoweth why!

And o'er the prairies rode, Away for the wilds of Texas, Remote from human abode, The jungles of tangled briars,
And grasses that dripped with dew, Through forests, savannas and pampas The cowboy and mustang flew.

And why hath the mustang halted?
And why doth he shiver and shake?
And why doth he rear on his hind legs.
And shudder and tremble and quake? For conduct so strange and unequine, Some cause there must surely be; But what is the matter with Hannah? What doth the mustang see?

He sees, and so doth the cowbey. He sees, and so doth the Charles,
A sight most uncommonly rare,
He sees five skeletons sitting Upright in a carriage the Five skeletons solemn and silent, Their bones all bleached in the sun-A sort of skeleton family Rusticating alone

He sees two skeleton horses Standing silent and glum, Like a couple of megatherium In the British museum: Two stately skeleton horses Under a big oak tree, Standing erect and defiant As skeleton horses can be.

The cowboy jumps down off his mustang, And going over to them, Begins in coroner fashion To hold a post mor-tens. He enters the skeleton carriage, Il Contrives to open the rusty lock Of the skeleton's big valise.

What treasures the cowboy found there The telegram does not say,
For cowboys are not the sort of boys
For giving such things away.
But he saw how a bolt of thunder

Had riven the giant oak And surmised that whole caboodle Had-been stunned by the one fierce stroke

And cowboys are not marines,
Although you may think that this story
A little bit that way leans,
And when Barnum comes here next summe
You'll all have a chance to see You'll all nave a change of the skeleton team and carriage And the skeleton family.
