The city fathers meet to-morrow evening, or will try to.

New Fall Styles of Hats just received from New York at Bliss'.

Eugene Motiez was complained of Saturday for assaulting a boy named Meisner.

The Danaha society is arranging for a grand ball at Bloom & Nixon's hall, September 8.

Rev. C. W. Newton has been appointed pastor of the African Methodist church in this city.

The receipts at the Union Stock yards Saturday, were 34 cars, and the shipments 104 cars.

Those interested in prohibition are requested to meet at Bloom & Nixon's hall next Thursday evening.

The board of trade is to meet one week from to-night, instead of to-night as previously announced.

Rev. T. J. Mackey, rector of St. Paul's church, is expected home from his California trip this week.

Sneak thieves visited a Main street meat shop Saturday night, but got little to reward them for the trouble.

A telegraph wire is being stretched to the fair grounds, and a branch Western Union office will be established there during the fair and races.

A number of Neola's business men are pledging $10 of support to the enterprise of stretching a telephone wire between here and Avoca.

Mayor Bowman has started for Okaloosa in the interests of the coming fair and races, while P. Lacy has gone to Davenport on a like mission.

A matrimonial license has been granted A. Gibbons and Florence Hoaston, to Fred. Dill and Dilly Huffman; also to N. C. Sorenson and Anna Hansen. All are of this city.

Over 17,000 copies of the Council Bluffs Exposition News, advertising the fair, have been mailed. The paper is made very attractive by cuts and interesting writings, and cannot but attract attention.

J. W. Dorr, of Des Moines, arrived here yesterday from Denver. On the sleeper coming in he had the ill luck to have his pocket book stolen, but fortunately had no large amount of cash on hand, and his tickets were not stolen.

The special sale at Nieman's, as advertised in another column, presents an excellent chance for bargains. The opportunity should not be lost. He has a large stock, and at the prices he is offering goods they naturally go off like hot cakes on a winter morning.

The field of horses at the coming fair here, promises to be the largest and best in the west this season. There are twenty coming from the Ottumwa meeting here, others from Geneseo, Ill., Des Moines, Marysville, Mo., in fact from all directions, are coming the best and speediest.

At the coming fair and races there will be some exciting and novel attractions on the track. Mrs. Nellie Burke and Miss De Vere are to have a hurdle race. Then there will be chariot races, the Roman standing race, the first ever had in the west. Mrs. Burke and Prof. Beardsley will ride around the course, standing erect, and their will be the Indian warriors' race for a bride, in which Mrs. Burke, as the Indian maiden, riding on James' horse Wild Bill, will be chased and captured by those representing Red Cloud, Spotted Tail and Little Crow. In fact, there is something sensational laid down on every day's programme, besides the regular exhibition and races, which will not be surpassed anywhere this season.

A pill peddler has been the exciting cause which has led a number of the residents of Belknap township to prepare tar and feathers. It appears that in his rounds he has taken advantage of women left alone in the houses, and has generally insulted several and threatened violence to others. He assaulted one young lady, but her screams caused him to let go of her and flee. At another place finding a young lady by the well he undertook to carry her bodily into the house, but a woman coming along the road and she screaming caused him to desist. A body of men formed and hunted for him for a time, but failed to find him, but from the indignation aroused and the threats made, the fellow may well conclude not to bother that vicinity again unless he wants a coat of tar and feathers or a necktie party.

The poor Parrott family still occupy the vacant lot near the corner of Ninth street and Sixth avenue, sheltered only by a rude tent and having apparently no means of support. The man, who claims to be sickly, is able to lounge about and stroll along the streets, and it seems as if he was fully as able to work as his poor wife, who is liable at any time to have another addition to the group of children who are being brought up in this health-enslaving sort of way. There ought to be some way to prevent a man from raising a family under such circumstances. The mother and children should be cared for in some way, and if the man who is raising such a family cannot do it, the county should, and then let him look out for himself. To allow children to be brought up in the weeds and mire, with no education or refining influence, whatever, is a disgraceful sight in the midst of a civilized community, and it is a wrong to society as well as to them.

WATER AND WHISKY.

They Both Combine In an Attempt to Drown a Ten Year Old Boy.

There was a harrow escape from drowning Saturday evening, the victim of the accident being a boy named Willis Lieberke, aged about ten years, and whose father lives on Washington avenue. It appears that he was playing with some other boys in the vicinity of the Market street bridge, and that some of the youthful party had some whisky, which was passed from mouth to mouth until the boys were all drunk. The Lieberke boy, while in this condition, stumbled into the creek, and his companions, badly frightened, ran away. A colored woman, who heard the screaming, commenced calling for help, and Dr. Green, who chanced to be driving by, came to the rescue and got the boy out. He had to work for a long time before he could restore breathing and secure consciousness, so nearly was life extinct, but at last accounts the boy was doing well, and bids fair to have a new lease of life. If the accounts given of the boys having had whisky to drink are true, the affair is a sermon of itself, and needs no special comment.

CONCERNING THE COURT.

It Drags Along Heavily and Slowly, But Something is Being Done.

In the circuit court Saturday the case of Casady vs. Sapp, was argued and submitted, but no decision rendered, the court taking it under advisement.

The case of Scott vs. the city, in which the plaintiff seeks to restrain the collection of certain taxes, was decided by Judge Loofbourrow, the injunction being made perpetual restraining the collection of certain taxes, and dissolved as to others.

The case of Travers vs. Shinn, the administrator of the Travers estate, occupied most of the day with a jury trial. It is a case in which the justice of the claim of one of the sons, for taking care of the father, now deceased, is involved. The jury returned a verdict giving the plaintiff $1,400 for the fourteen years in which he had cared for the old gentleman.

The following is the assignment of cases this week.

Tuesday, August 28--3930, 3853, 3864, 3870, 3888.

FAMILY FUSSING.

Jacob Kampf, of Avoca, Seems to Be Having More Than His Share.

What are known as the Kampf cases are getting about as numerous and commonplace in Avoca as the Rainer-Blackett cases are here. The Herald thus brings the Kampf family history up to date: The Kampf cases are still coming before the courts--or, perhaps, we should say that about as soon as Jacob Kampf and his wife have settled one of their suits before the courts, they get into another fracas, and are again brought up. To such an extent are these family rows indulged in by them that the public are sick of reading about them, and we are heartily sick of writing them up. The latest occurred last week, when Kampf attempted to force up a window to the house, and his wife persisted in holding it down. Kampf drew his knife and slashed into the window glass, cutting himself badly. He claimed his wife had stabbed him, and had her arrested on a state warrant. The case was tried before Judge Higbie, and dismissed. He is now under $1,000 bonds for his appearance at court on Friday morning of this week. This case is for maliciously injuring and defacing a building. There are two other warrants for his arrest--one for the offense of assaulting another and attempting to inflict great bodily injury; the other is for "threatening to commit murder." Just what the end will be is hard to tell.

The Very Latest.

The new fall styles of hats will be opened to-day at Bliss'.

Death of Mrs. Babbitt.

The sad news has reached this city of the death and burial of Mrs. L. W. Babbitt, at Beebe, Arkansas, to which place she removed with her husband in May, 1881. Mrs. Babbitt's maiden name was Helen Schooler, and she was born in Kentucky in 1821. In 1844 she was married to Mr. Babbitt in Burlington, Iowa, and soon after removed to Knoxville, Marion county, from which place she came to this city, settling here in 1873, and remaining until two years ago. Both she and her husband were most highly esteemed here, and the news of her death will sadden many. Her health for some time has been poor, but in her years of vigor, the kindness of her heart was shown on so many occasions, and her sympathies were manifested so continually in practical acts of relief for the dis-

NEWS FROM THE STARS.

A Number of Cases Attracting Their Attention.

Officer Cusick, Saturday night, picked up Jack Hogan for being drunk. He got sobered up enough by Sunday morning so that the mayor let him out in time to attend church.

John Fitzworth was also sobered up by spending the night in the calaboose. He was a stranger, living about seventy miles out on the Wabash. He had sold a horse, and with other money, had over $200 when he struck the Bluffs, but had got downed at some of the gambling houses, which are not supposed to be running at all, and had also been visiting the prostitutes, and, of course, throwing in to much drink. He had only $6.65 left, but the mayor let him out with enough money to get home on. He grumbled about leaving $4 with the city for a night's lodging, but the chief suggested that after giving the gamblers about $200 he ought not to grumble about giving the city $4, and he went off thinking over his experience.

There was trouble at the California house yesterday morning, and a man named John Murphy was pulled out of there for being drunk. Murphy claimed that the bartender had grabbed about $30 of his money. This the bartender denied, but afterward gave up a twenty-dollar gold piece, but denied taking any more, and that he picked that up because Murphy was throwing it around carelessly. Complaint was entered against the proprietor of the house for keeping open his saloon on Sunday.

Death of Miss Young.

Miss Young, daughter of Mr. U. Young, died yesterday morning at her home on Lincoln avenue. She was only seventeen years of age, and had just graduated from the high school here this year. Her health was quite poor while she was pursuing her studies, and it was feared by her friends that her strength would not permit her to finish her course, but she did so, and this summer went to Illinois on a visit to friends, with the hope that her health would be improved. An attack of typhoid fever followed, however, and after reaching home she gradually declined until death relieved her suffering. The funeral services are to be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at her father's residence. Rev. Mr. Lemen, of the Baptist church, officiating, she having been a member of that church and one of the teachers in its Sunday-school.
