It was eminently proper for the republican governor of Nebraska to appoint as judge of this district a democrat who remained at home during the entire war and was classed in those times among "copperheads."

KNEVALS' agent visited this place the first of the week, and deposited a lot of deeds for those who had signed their willingness to accept his tyrannical demands.

In the beginning of the century there was a most bitter prejudice among a large class of Georgians against the establishment of a supreme court.

A bill is now pending before the Georgia legislature for the relief of the supreme court of that state. It is proposed to increase the number of judges to five and furnish each judge with a stenographic clerk.

THE GRAND ARMY REUNION.
The reunion of veteran defenders of the Union, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, begins at Hastings today.

Tuesday—Preliminary work in states organization and meeting of prisoners of war, and camp fire that night under their auspices.

PRIMARY EDUCATION.

Our public schools will reopen Monday, and we deem it proper to urge upon the superintendent and board of education the primary importance of the primary schools.

Just as we are entering the month with the regulation "r" in it the report comes all the way from Chesapeake bay that a fatal disease has broken out among the Oysters.

WEST OF THE MISSOURI.

The recent decision of Chief Justice Sener, of Wyoming, in the case of the United States vs. Alexander Swan et al, enjoining squatters and cattle men from fencing unsold public lands, is a most important one to the west.

Outside the ranchmen of Wyoming, the decision meets with unequal approval and praise. The Cheyenne Sun, speaking of its effect on the territory, says: "It will remove the barriers heretofore erected in the face of immigration, and will accomplish more in the work of developing and settling up the territory than could be brought about in any other way."

At high noon next Saturday, the 8th, with wine, wind and a golden spike, the junction of the Northern Pacific will be made at a point about fifty miles west of Helena, Montana.

St. Paul, the eastern headquarters of the road, will celebrate on an elaborate scale—principally by banquets and pyrotechnics, at an estimated cost of $75,000.

of cattle and 900,000 head of sheep [re pastured upon it. Though scarcely fifty years of age as a distinct portion of the nation, its wealth over ground is estimated at $50,000,000, while the wealth in the coal, copper, gold and silver mines, the new oil fields and soda lakes is incalculable.

A large mountain of iron ore has been found but a short distance from Laramie, equal in richness and quantity to the celebrated Iron Mountain of Missouri.

Several large deposits of chemically pure sulphate of soda exist, some twelve miles west of Laramie. These deposits are known as the "soda lakes," which term is misnomer, however, for they are not lakes, but beds.

Twenty-five years ago the present month the first discovery of gold was made in Cherry creek, where Denver City now stands. The announcement was not slow in crossing the plains, and thousands of fortune-hunters immediately started for the new eldorado.

These facts and figures, condensed from a detailed review in a recent number of the Laramie Broomer, make an excellent showing of the steady growth and prosperity of the territory. Its products bear the imprint of permanence, and with a continuance of the present influx of eastern and foreign capital, it will be but a few years before nature's storehouse will be thoroughly explored and worked for all it is worth.

St. Paul, the eastern headquarters of the road, will celebrate on an elaborate scale—principally by banquets and pyrotechnics, at an estimated cost of $75,000.

Nothing was done at the directors meeting of the Denver & Rio Grande road in New York yesterday. The regular monthly meeting will be held Monday next, when some action in the matter of presidency will be taken.

ROMANCE BY THE SEA.

A Separated Brother and Sister United by Amity's Attraction. Without Knowing Their Relationship, They Form an Acquaintance Upon the Beach.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press. ATLANTIC CITY, August 27.—The proprietor of the Germantown Hotel, well known in Atlantic City, and other reputable persons attest the entire correctness of the following romance in real life: Some twenty years ago in Germantown, lived a plain, hard-working man named Orton.

As Richard grew up he became a handsome, intelligent boy, but his life was lonely; often he had strange fits of reverie in which a voice he did not know, spoke to him in tones which waked familiar echoes in his heart.
