MINOR MENTION.

See Joseph Reiter's fall goods. Additional local on seventh page. School books at H. E. Soaman's. Cheap Railroad Tickets at Bushnell's. Those who want family tickets for the fair, should interview Henry Eisenman. Who is the "boss girl" who is going to capture the sewing machine at the fair? There will be a crowd in Council Bluffs next week, sure, if the weather in any way favorable. The Young Men's Republican club meets Saturday evening at the office of Sims & Cadwell. William Steinkoff is about to put up a two story brick building at the corner of Main street and Washington avenue. The Athletic club now numbers twenty-five members, and has taken up quarters in Peter's new block on Main street. An informal reception is to be tendered Gov. Hendricks by the democratic brethren, at the Ogden house Monday night. Hattenhauer's new carriage manufactory, on Bancroft street, is ready for roofing, and will be all complete within a week or so. The Shaun-a-Gow party, with Fitzpatrick at the head, were at the Ogden yesterday, and expect to return to appear here next week. John Short is preparing to build a two story brick building, 22 by 50 feet, on his lot on Broadway, which, when completed, he will occupy himself. The Union Pacific having gobbled up Union avenue, county bridge and all, will have its track laid and ready for the dummy train in a few days. A telegram received yesterday by Hon. W. H. M. Pusey states that Congressman Springer, of Illinois, will be here and speak next Tuesday evening. The address to be delivered by Governor Hendricks at the fair grounds next Tuesday afternoon, will be one of the most interesting features of the week. The missionary, O. Kadinsky, of Omaha, will occupy the pulpit of the Evangelical church, corner of Pierce street and Glen avenue, next Sabbath, at 3 p. m. The sewing machine to be voted by the editors at the fair to the boss girl of Western Iowa is occupying a prominent position in one of Harkness Bros.' show windows. Governor Hendricks' address at the driving park next Tuesday afternoon is one of the big attractions set down for that day. In the morning he will give a political speech in Baylis park. A. P. Gring, the head brakeman on the train wrecked at Crescent, and who was quite badly shaken up, writes The Bee from Boomer that he is improving very fast, and hopes to be around in two or three weeks. This will be glad news to his many friends. The Eighth annual session of the Northwestern Academy of Medicine, will be held in this city Wednesday and Thursday, September 12 and 13. Dr. A. P. Hanchett, of this city, is the secretary. The sessions are to be held in the Ogden house parlors. The Young Men's Republican club has organized by the election of Jacob Sims as president; G. H. Ferson, W. F. Sapp, Jr., and Frank Cook, vice presidents; J. M. Mathews, recording secretary; E. H. Odell, corresponding secretary; J. W. McDowell, treasurer. Now that an injunction is yet against the use of bituminous coal at the Bloomer school building, the city should be enjoined from allowing the dust to fly about beginning the washings hung on the lines and bothering people generally. The dust is as bad as the smoke, in fact a little worse just now. Horace Everett and his son Leonard report as a result of a trip through several counties of the state, that small grain and grass is first-rate, and corn not exceeding 25 bushels to the acre in Mills and Montgomery county, while in Worth, Nodaway and Buchanan counties it will not exceed fifteen bushels. There was a pretty lively game in a Broadway house Wednesday night, the winner being an Atlantic man, and the loser a Council Bluffs prominent. The winner after pulling out about $50 from his pocket, got away with $250 more in a poker game. Such is the statement made by those who claim to know what is going on in the inside. The report recently reached this city that the young man Emerson who had a row with Conductor Bennett on the Fourth, and was ejected from the street car here, had killed a man in Missouri & later was received yesterday confirming the report, and stating that Emerson had been lynched at Biemarok, Mo. It appears that he had a fuss with a conductor on the Iron Mountain road, in which he struck the conductor with a piece of iron, him killing.

A unique information was filed in the superior court yesterday, in which Jennie Epps, a white girl, charges four colored ones, Nan Henderson, Minnie Morton, Mrs. Annie Jones and Minnie Christ with "threatening to murder said Jennie Epps, and did further threaten to relieve said Jennie Epps of every drop of blood in said Jennie Epps' body, and the said defendants did thereby threaten to do said Jennie Epps great injury." The dusky quartette was brought in, and several witnesses examined, the case to be continued and probably concluded this afternoon. It was claimed by the defense that the cause of the trouble was that Mrs. Jones got hold of a sweet letter which her dusky husband had written to Jennie, and that she had heard Jennie was rather taken with him.

Prairie chickens and A. Booth's select oysters received daily at W. T. Braun's.

BAILED OUT.

Holly Lewis, Backed by $40,000, is Released from Jail.

He Returns to His Old Home.

Yesterday morning J. B. Lewis, father of Holly Lewis, returned to this city from Des Moines. Holly came as far as Marne, and stopped there, it being his old home, and he having business there also. Young Lewis has secured for his counsel Judge C. C. Cole, W. H. McHenry, Jr. and J. W. Ivey, and at the time set for examination, appeared and waived, but made such a showing of previous good character, peaceable nature and industrious temperate habits, that the young man's bail, that if $100,000 had been needed, it could have been secured before the sun went down. Young Lewis, now that he is under the advice of counsel, has little to say about the affair, his claim being that he acted wholly in self defense. He says there were three men, one standing by the door, who struck him as he went out of the room, and that in a contest with two of them against him, he felt that he was fighting for his life as well as for his rights, and had to defend himself as best he could.

Dr. Thos. Jeffries, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, diphtheria medicine cures every case. No physician necessary.

A CHECKY FELLOW.

He Helps Himself to a Harness, Coat and Valise, in Daylight.

A hump-backed sort of a young fellow called William Anderson, known as "Humpty" on account of his physical peculiarity, visited the stable belonging to R. S. Cole's residence, on Bluff street, Wednesday afternoon about four o'clock. W. F. Cole, one of Mr. Cole's sons, was in the house at the time, and hearing the stable door open, noticed the stranger walking out into the alley with the plaid. He at once hurried out after him, and saluting him, asked him if he had not better leave those things. The fellow coolly asked him if that was not Mr. Cole's house, and on being again told to drop the things, did so, and young Cole calling the hired girl to take them back into the stable, started to walk the fellow up to the police station. He went along quietly enough until they reached the corner of Dr. Montgomery's house, when the fellow suddenly hit young Cole a blow on the head and skipped out. He was afterwards arrested by Officer Mullen, and locked up in the city calaboose, but as he was making pretty good headway climbing out of that pen, he was taken to the county jail. Yesterday afternoon he was brought before Judge Aylesworth for examination and secured Lindt & Hart to defend him. After the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution a continuance was granted till the 19th. Anderson is said to have just got through serving one term in the penitentiary, and there seems now a pretty good show for him to get another.

Dr. West, dentist, 14 Pearl street.

Joefully Joined.

Yesterday afternoon S. D. Street, who for three years past has been county clerk was married to Miss Victoria A. Randolph, a well known lady, who has many friends here, and who is a sister of Mrs. John Hanthorn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. J. Mackay, pastor of St. Paul's church. Mr. and Mrs. Street left last evening for Denver, and after a brief trip will return to take up their residence here, where they will be heartily welcomed back by scores of friends, whose best wishes go with them.

PEEPS AT THE PAST.

Music in Council Bluffs From the Pottawattamies to the Orchestra of the New Opera House.

Interesting Reminiscences of the Early Musicians.

Happy Reminders for Old Settlers. Fresh Facts for New Ones.

THE BEE, a short time ago, brought to the surface a history of the drama in Council Bluffs from the earliest amateur organizations, and the first and rudest stage, down to the present time, when Dohany's new opera house is fast approaching completion. The interest awakened by that dramatic review of the past has led to another brushing away of the dust of past years to get a peep at what music, the sister of the drama, has been doing here locally.

Of the music of the Pottawattamies, but little is known, but from the best authorities obtainable, it was of a very rude character, consisting of war dances played upon the hugg and tom-tom, accompanied by guttural sounds, and slapping of hands by the performers, who were arranged in a circle, seated upon the ground. With the departure of this tribe, and the advent of the Mormons, a new era dawned, and the sound of the violin has always been noted for its fondness for music and dancing, and as a consequence, that instrument was in great demand and quite a number of skilful performers were found when the Gentile wave rolled in upon the happy community. Among these were Fred. Lord, Jim Orton and Uncle Bob Russell. All are now passed away, but are still remembered by many now living here.

In 1849, the first piano made its appearance. This was owned and played by Mrs. Perry, who lived in a log house, where Peter Redtke's new hotel now stands, on Broadway, and there are untraced and middle-aged men now here, who as children would congregate in front of the house, climb onto the fence, and listen for the first time to the wonderful music. This was soon followed by another owned by a Mrs. Sherratt. These again were followed by that of Dr. Smith Falson, and a little later one owned by M. Falson and played by his daughter Amelia, afterward Mrs. Brigham Young. In the fall of 1855 the first brass band was organized, and from that date the music of civilization can be said to have been established in Council Bluffs.

Among the members of this band were C. C. Kuhn, leader; Capt. N. T. Spoor, Wash. Griffin, G. E. Loggery, G. F. Smith, Sidney Smith, Jim Orton, John Huntington, Tom Perrin and others. This band, considering the time and opportunities, played well, but like most amateur associations, was short lived. In 1856, H. H. Field, now chief of police, appeared with his violin, organized a small orchestra, which was destined with occasional changes of individual membership to become a feature of Council Bluffs, and adjoining towns, known as Field's Band for more than twenty years.

The year '56 also brought us Miss Annie and Lizzie Van Arman, both sweet singers, the former Mrs. Judge James—possessing a voice of wonderful power, richness and culture, which has been happily transmitted to her talented daughter, Miss Kate Larimer James. Little Fannie Kelley also came that year and though but a wee thing, her voice then gave promise which it has since fulfilled by charming thousands.

From this on to the present time, the taste has been constantly improving until none but first-class music will be tolerated by a Council Bluffs audience, and perhaps no city of its size can produce a greater number of excellent performers, both vocal and instrumental, than ours, while nearly every house is provided with an instrument of some kind, and all the churches have excellent choirs. It would not be proper to close this article without special mention of one who, more than any other, has contributed to our advancement in this direction. We allude to Joseph Mueller. He came here in 1858, a stranger in a strange land, speaking our language but poorly, but possessing a wonderful amount of energy, pluck and endurance. He worked as a common laborer until opportunity offered for him to show his hand in his legitimate line. He then commenced teaching the piano, organizing schools and societies, working in season and out of season, and never tiring. It was here that first trained Fannie Kellogg and Kate Larimer James, and we congratulate him in his success, as well as our people, for the refining influence his work has had.

Many others might be mentioned, who have at different periods contributed their share as teachers towards the work. Messrs. DeVol, Minkler, Goff, Barry, Oiler and Glenn, with Mr. and Mrs. Powell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ford, bring us down to the present time. The coming demand, with the completion of the new opera house, will be for a small permanent orchestra, say of eight pieces. Who shall be the one to start it?

Dissolution. The partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm name of Nugent & Smith, has this day been by mutual consent dissolved, the firm of Smith & Toller to succeed them. Smith & Taylor agree to pay all accounts of the old firm, and they are hereby authorized to collect all accounts due said firm. T. W. NUGENT, J. M. SMITH, Council Bluffs, Sept. 4th, 1883.
