GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Special dispatch to THE BEE.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, September 26.—The markets today were without special features and fluctuations within a narrow range. Speculation was active. A considerable portion of the business transacted just before the close was on account of country orders. Wheat opened strong and lively, about ½c lower, and under large offerings from heavy local bears declined about 1½. About noon a strong demand was manifest and the market reacted rapidly, closing about ½c over the opening. Transactions in the cereal were large and overshadowed speculation in corn, which was generally quiet for all options, except September and November, the latter heavily dealt in by those who continue to pin their faith on frost. The range of prices for the day was within ½c. Pork was firmer early in the day, advancing 5@15c over yesterday's prices, but the demand was light and a decline of 5@15c set in and the feeling at the close was very easy. On call prices were not materially changed. Wheat continued the leading commodity dealt in; transactions being heavy. Pork was steadier under a somewhat improved demand.
