THE LABOR COMMITTEE.

That the sessions of the Senate Committee on Education and Labor have taken so largely of a farce has not been due so much to the fault of its members as to the army of cranks and theorists who have sought to enlighten these statesmen on the labor problem.

A good many of the witnesses before the committee were college professors, who had put theories in regard to social questions, and who declared that the higher education was the one great thing needed in this country to better the condition of the working man.

OTHER LANDS THAN OUES.

The week abroad has been a quiet one. The diplomats are still wrestling over the Tonquin difficulty with hopes of its ultimate and peaceful settlement.

The great review of the German army which took place this week at Hamburg, has surprised all who witnessed it.

The English officers who serve as newspaper correspondents with Hicks Pasha in the Sudan campaign and have hitherto done little but pool-pool at the false prophet, are taking a different tone now.

The formation of the Balkan principalities by the Berlin congress has proved a stroke of wisdom which it authors scarcely appreciated at the time.

influence over Servia and Rumania; but heretofore Russia has had the strongest hold on Bulgaria. Recently fearing that Prince Alexander might throw himself into the arms of Austria, the Russian generals at Sophia, under orders from St. Petersburg, posed as liberals, had an assembly summoned and recalled Sarkoff to be prime minister of Bulgaria.

While the Nationalist party are urging on their political propaganda the Irish people are preparing to take advantage of the economical measures passed for their benefit during the last session of Parliament.

The town is fabulously gay. For Autumn, by a charming race, has routed Summer, and away has fled the heat that boils and stews.

HONEY FOR THE LADIES.

Plain dark velvets are to be much used for blouses and opera cloaks. Heavy warm brocades are imported designed for outside garments for traveling and the promenade.

The English walking coats known as the Newmarket, made of "heather" tweed, hunt's green, or fancy basket cloth, and fastened with silk cords, are quite as fashionable as ever this season.

New French breakfast caps are made in the Leonardo de Vinci shape after the style of the velvet riding caps worn last winter.

Among other pretty ways to finish the edge of a silk serge quilt are these: put a border of ribbon on in stripe, make a point on the ends, and under the border, and under these, allowing it to show a trifle; below them put a ruffle of lace.

Public opinion has sprung a leak, and a few facts have crept in that are worth inspection. We can never afford to despise a fact when it stares us in the face plain as a cloudless sun.

Judicial corruption in Japan is something extraordinary, according to a story told in a Japan paper. An action was brought a short time ago in a small town and tried by the assistant judge, who gave unmistakable signs that his decision would be in favor of the plaintiff.

She leaves the meadows, lo! the day Has lost its warmth, the birds refuse To sing their songs, and Mr. Gladstone has been absent in the Northern sea, and conferred the blue ribbon of Balmoral, the Princess Beatrice alone being present.

THE NEBRASKA CAMPAIGN PROMISES TO BE SHORT, SHARP AND SOMEWHAT DECISIVE.

COT. COLBY has beaten Judge Davidson on the judicial race track, but Col. Colby can't "beat" his own record.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR is slowly fighting his way through champagne suppers and private receptions to Washington.

WHAT is the matter with the contractors for curbing and guttering the cross streets. Paving must not be permitted to wait upon their delays.

MESSRS. HAMER AND CONNER both pledged themselves to an earnest support of republican principles in Nebraska. Will Messrs. Hamer and Conner please state what republican principles in Nebraska are?

MR. PAT O. HAWES has contracted to deliver the solid workmen's vote to Reese for Supreme Judge. Mr. Hawes may discover before he is two months older that he has taken a much bigger contract than he can fill.

ONE of the funniest things in politics this year is the attempt to detach Plymouth church in a body from supporting Mayor Low for re-election in Brooklyn, because Mr. Beecher wasn't asked to talk at the bridge opening and Dr. Storrs was.

MR. HAMER made a humble speech to the Republicans in convention assembled, begging them to receive him once more into the fold, and apologizing for his Anti-Monopoly record. Mr. Hamer never had much of an Anti-Monopoly record to apologize for.

A JUDGE without judicial experience is a little too risky an experiment for the people of this state to attempt. With the departure of Judge Lake our supreme bench will be none too strong. James W. Savage would fill a vacancy in which Mr. Reese would rattle around like a small peep in a large pocket.

LAST year Mr. Gere pocketed the Anti Monopoly resolutions drafted by Senator Van Wyck. This year these resolutions were made the main planks in the platform. The storm of last year which played such havoc with Loren Clark and nearly wrecked Mr. Gere, seems to have a very healthy effect from a sanitary point of view.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL GRESHAM may as well prepare to capitulate. That bottle-scared veteran, Paul Vandervoort, who was shedding red ink at Alexandria as commissary clerk, while Gresham was fighting in the ranks--has reached Washington, with blood in his eye and vengeance in his heart.

THE result of the thunder storm of last year has been in every way beneficial, from a sanitary point of view, to the Republican party of Nebraska. The corporations have taken warning and retired from the somewhat prominent position they seemed to hold in politics for the past few years--Lincoln Journal.

Retired from politics have they? With Church Howe presiding over the state convention and a horde of their notorious henchmen on the floor to do their bidding, the corporations have taken warning from last year's thunder storm. From a purely sanitary point of view it is decidedly refreshing to have such staunch monopoly organs as the Lincoln Journal, who have always heretofore denied that the corporations were in politics, give the lie to their former assertions, by the assurance that the corporations have retired.

MR. JOHN ROACH is greatly exercised on behalf of his country and incidentally on account of his own shipyards, because six European governments have spent $346,000,000 in ship building during the time the United States has spent but $3,006,000. Mr. Roach tells only half the story. When we know how much Europe has spent in tinkering up old tubs against the millions spent in the United States we shall be able to strike a juster balance. But suppose Europe has expended vastly more in navies than we have done. She has more need of ships of war. The six nations referred to maintain standing armies of upwards of four millions of men. Does Mr. Roach mean to intimate that we must therefore proceed to arm a million of men to keep even with them.

The United States has no need of a great standing army. Our present establishment is too small and ought to be recruited up to 40,000 men, but on Mr. Roach's line of argument it ought to be at least twenty times that strength. Nor do we need a great navy. If half the money that has been appropriated for the navy had been put in ships instead of being wasted on voracious contractors we would have to-day a navy fully equal to our needs, which after all are comprised in retarding the ocean and in giving a dot and shipwreck an annual cruise.
