THE WEEK IN WALL STREET

The Remarkable Raid on Villard Stocks and the Probable Consequences.

The Wheat Prospect Favorable for an Early Advance in Prices.

The Western Union and Bennett's Deal—The Cotton Crop.

Special Dispatch to THE BELLE.

New York, September 30.—Wall street continues to indulge in the same old game. A drop of some ten points is followed by a rally for five or six, then comes another big drop and another petty rally. The movement, however, is concentrated almost exclusively in the Villard stocks.

NEW WALL STREET FAVORITES.

And what is more, the hold which the Northern Pacific has taken upon the market is so strong that the most sincere and old-fashioned bulls declare now that a "permanent advance in the market has been effected."

LAST WEEK'S RALLY

was attributed to some mysterious intervention between Gould and Villard, but the odds are ten to one that these interviews, even if they have taken place, did not in any way affect the attitude of Gould towards the Northern Pacific.

THE DECISION OF THE COURT of appeals in the Hatch-Williams suit against the Western Union is to be given this week. As usual, there are numberless stories about it, and the advocates of the Stock Exchange have already settled the whole matter to their own satisfaction.

News comes from Europe that James Gordon Bennett is once more hard at work at his cable scheme, and that he is as sanguine as ever about carrying it out.

THE WHEAT MARKET.

The future of the wheat market is most puzzling beyond all peradventure. The crop in England and throughout Europe, with the exception of Spain and Portugal, is bad.

bushel in January, 1880. In 1880-81 there was almost as great a demand under slightly improved European crops, and operators who remember these facts and look calmly on the future, seem to reason from sound premises when they predict in a rise of wheat before the winter is far advanced.

The latest news from the cotton-growing districts is dismal. The drought has damaged the plants, and according to Bartlett's, as much injury has been done as when the enormous crop of 1881 was suddenly cut down to 5,466,000 bales.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

The Fight Between the Liquor and Temperance Elements.

CLEVELAND, September 30.—Never in the history of Ohio has there been such a fierce war waged between the temperance and liquor elements as at present. Many thousands of dollars have been spent by both sides.

which met in the town hall of Leeds, sat with closed doors. It is understood that Hon. Thomas Power O'Connor presided over the deliberations, and was heartily greeted by the delegates upon taking the chair.

Another Steamboat Explosion.

BUFFALO, September 30.—Thousands of people visited the wreck of the propeller Colorado, to-day, which burst her boiler about six miles out last night. The wrecked propeller belonged to the Commercial line, and was one of those about which there had been so much litigation recently in the Holt-Ensign suits.

The Passenger Rate War.

CHICAGO, September 30.—No change was made in the passenger rates to St. Louis, which were advanced $1.00 a day, but the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago people threaten to carry the fight still further by making the round trip rate $6 between Chicago and Indianapolis, with a rebate of $4.50, leaving the actual fare to Indianapolis and return $1.50.

POSTING PORTAL NOTES.

An ingenious method of raising the figures on the new postal notes has just been brought to the attention of the Postoffice Department. The fraud consists in punching from the higher figures in the note a piece of paper the proper shape and size to fill up the hole previously punched by the postmaster through a lower figure.

THE COMPACT CARRIED OUT

The Breadth and Depth of the Little Scheme Which Forced Reese From Obscurity.

The Gyration of the Douglas Delegation for Lake Put On for a Blind.

The Railroad Managers Remain at the Desk, While Their Trusted Tools Work the Convention.

Correspondence of THE BELLE.

LINCOLN, September 30.—The dense political fog that has enveloped the demesne capitol for several days has at last cleared away. The most simple among simpletons who was a spectator at the late "hand to hand" contest over the Supreme Judgeship has become convinced that it was merely a sham battle. The corporations retired from politics last winter after the disgraceful scenes at the close of the legislature which came in pledged to regulate the railroads and went out without passing a single bill to relieve the people from corporate exactions and railroad tax shirking.

From a convention composed as that was largely of monopoly lawyers, railroad editors and strikers, the names of Marquette and Kimball could well be spared without seriously impairing the interests of the monopolists.

"We played it rather fine," remarked Tom Kennard in a confidential way. "Reese was on the slate from the beginning, and we could have nominated him on the first ballot like a charm, but we could not afford to offend some of our friends who supported other candidates. It might have damaged Reese if it had been known from the start that nobody else had a show."

This was literally true. The slate was fixed for Reese at Omaha more than two months ago, and the gyrations of the Douglas delegation in favor of Lake were all a sham.

Hascal and Pat. Hayes played their parts admirably, as usual. Neither of them would have been able to keep a ghost of a show, and they knew that Lake, Warren and Hamer had as much show against Reese as a sucker would have playing against a fair bank.

Reese was beaten out of the delegation from his county by the Steen Dorsey faction. To make things doubly sure for Reese, Collector Post appointed John Steen as his deputy, and in conjunction with Weaver, they had things set so that Reese could have a walkaway at the start if he wanted to.

Personally, Mr. Reese is clever and genial, but lawyers here who have never scratched the republican ticket are open in revolt against making a Steen Dorsey judge of a man who has never been in the way of Weaver next spring as a candidate for Congress in the First district, and it was unmissably to Weaver's interest to get him out of the way and at the same time put him where he could do him some good three years hence when Van Wyck's term is out.

Post was anxious to get Reese out of the way of his brother, who is a candidate for District Judge, a place which Reese had expected to fill himself, as a stepping stone for a higher position. Post also has aspirations, Congressional and Senatorial, which he expects to further through Reese. Last year Reese was beaten out of the delegation from his county by the Steen Dorsey faction.
