THE POOR FARM.

The county commissioners have resolved to submit a resolution to the voters of Douglas county at the coming election authorizing the sale of the property now occupied as a court house, and the application of the funds derived from the sale to the building of an addition to the present county poor house.

It is not at all certain, in the first place, whether the commissioners have the right to sell the court house property. Several able lawyers are of the opinion that the land will revert to the city the moment it ceases to be used for the purpose for which it was donated. But even if this is not the case, it would be the height of business imprudence in the commissioners to sell the lots, which are steadily increasing in value, and are located on our principal business thoroughfare.

When railway general managers are selected from brakemen, and bank presidents from office boys, it will be time to recruit our supreme bench from prosecuting attorneys.

THE Beatrice Express (Republican) hoists the name of J. H. Broady as the people's candidate for judge of the First district. There is blood on the face of the moon in Gage county.

SENATOR SHARON denies being married, and accuses Miss Hill of being a blackmailer. A bonanza kintz nowadays who hasn't a domestic scandal concealed somewhere about his person is a fit curiosity for a dime museum.

GENERAL SHERMAN has been interviewed recently in St. Louis, and emphatically denies my Presidential aspirations. He says that the office ruined General Grant, and that whatever of honor he has gained he is desirous of keeping.

ANDERSON MURRAY, who has escaped from his creditors in Texas, has returned to preaching in New England and asks the question whether "Christianity is inconsistent with evolution."

O'DONNELL, the slayer of Carey, has had his examination and his trial is set for the coming week. The prisoner denies emphatically that he killed Carey with premeditation and declares that he fired while defending himself against an armed assault.

Sullivan will defend O'Donnell and Gen. Roger Pryor, of Brooklyn, has been engaged to assist on behalf of the Irish Americans. In England there is no doubt of O'Donnell's prompt conviction.

THE Purcell case has been settled in Ohio in a manner which will hardly be acceptable to either the church or the victims of the late Bishop's loose methods of doing business. It may be well to recall the facts that the Archbishop, through his brother, Rev. Edward Purcell, as agent, received the savings of the people of his communion, and employed them in erecting churches and schools and buying the land upon which they were erected and upon which cemeteries were laid out.

OTHER LANDS THAN OURS. The comment of the week abroad has been devoted to the hostile and alarming reception which King Alfonso, of Spain, met with on Saturday in Paris upon his arrival from Germany. Hooted at and hustled by the mob at the depot, escorted to his hotel with jeers and groans, the crowd of excited Frenchmen tumbled his attendants from their horses and made the King's short stay in the French capital as miserable as possible.

Empress and Prince Bismarck. Profuse apologies were made by President Grevy on behalf of France, but Spain is still abashed over the insult to her King, and a breach has been made between the two countries which will not soon heal. It looks very much as if France has fallen into a trap set for it by the wily Bismarck, who has succeeded in embroiling the country in another difficulty at a time when her hands are more than full with the Chinese trouble.

Holland and Belgium have reached the wise conclusion to abolish the custom house line which now sunders the two kingdoms, and to establish mutual free trade. These small countries are both believers in the policy of protection, but neither of them is large enough by itself to afford a sufficient market for great industries.

THE presence of the Italian squadron in Tangier bay, pending the issue of the ultimatum sent the Moorish government, is the latest step taken to force a settlement of the Italian claims growing out of the disturbances at the time of the Moorish revolution ten years ago.

THE French arsenal, where the work of manufacturing the French navy is going on, are scenes of great activity. Besides the work begun in previous years, which is steadily advancing, the following war vessels have been begun within the last twelve months: The Charles Martel and the Brunus, ironclads of 4,000 horsepower each, the former in Toulon, the latter in the Rochefort dock-yard.

THE hatred in Denmark towards Bismarck finds its vent by shooting at its enemy a Danish sabler, if not a more demonstrative, many of the inhabitants of Copenhagen are at present indulging in a much frequented shooting gallery, where the target is a life-size wooden figure of Prince Bismarck, placed one foot on the scroll bearing the inscription, "Article V," while the right hand rests on a mighty club, and the legendary "three red arrows" are protruded from three clay pipes.

DIFFERENCE of religious opinions appears to be an important factor in divorces. In Switzerland divorces have increased to such an extent as to make the reputation of the country decidedly unenviable. In the Protestant half of Appenzel there were in 1881 over thirteen divorces to every hundred marriages.

WHEN Prince Bismarck refused to allow his more repressive measures to be taken in Alsace-Lorraine against those disaffected persons who, like M. Antoine, have been openly preaching and publishing anti-German sentiments, he showed the quiet strength of assured power. Had he done otherwise—had he given General Manteuffel wider scope to deal with the members of the German Empire, he would have been giving to the would-be revolutionists an importance they do not deserve, at the same time that he would be practically confessing the weakness of his hold on the Rhenish Provinces.

supporters herself with a tall sword, while two eagles flank the seat from which she has risen. This, with her coat of mail, her crown, her flowing locks and lion-headed belt, makes her more a concession to military necessity than a thing of beauty.

Russia seems to have found that she has gone too far in Bulgaria. Even the Prince, her own nominee, felt obliged to resist her demands, and her representative has given his pledges that for the future there shall be no interference with the internal affairs of the principality.

The reported shooting of Mr. Parnell and the rumor grow out of some disturbances, at which Mr. Parnell does not appear even to have been present. It created little excitement, for it was not well authenticated and was improbable on its face.

A handsome, wandering youth of fourteen, as a poor unlearned apprentice, as a compositor at the press, an editor, as an envoy to France, and in other and more responsible positions, that sage philosopher, Benjamin Franklin, never felt above his business, nor forgot his humble origin. He was a thorough, steady, and true American citizen, who achieved undying fame in the service of his country.

Victor A. Lotier, editor of National Record, Danville, Pa., says: "I have been using Thomas' Electric Oil in my family for several months. Have used it myself for catarrhs and for rheumatism several times, and can say that for the last named it gave almost instant relief, and for catarrh has relieved me wonderfully."

HONEY FOR THE LADIES. Pelonias and shoulder capes will be in greater favor than ever. Painted lace capotes will be the leading opera bonnets this year.

A Boston woman objected to the flavor of ice cream because it had a "shaving soap taste." Now, the question is where did she get a taste of "shaving soap?" The new fall bonnet will have a very small bay window in the back so that observing people can see that the false hair on the wearer's head matches her genuine locks.

White Ursulines and white drap d'ete, are made into very beautiful evening dresses, trimmed plainly but richly, with many bands of white silk gimp, or with silver embroideries and ornaments.

New York girls are drinking goat's milk to improve their complexion. This is certainly remarkable, for everybody knows that butter is not good for the complexion, and goat's milk is a product of "butter."

A party of English young ladies, well clothed, recently sojourning at Montreal, Canada, carried their valises crammed with small gold heads, richly chased, and wore jockey caps of plain black velvet, which were most becoming and natty looking.

New necklaces for evening wear of all Florentine and cloisonne beads, some of which are encrusted with many silver stars or studded with mock jewels, which glitter like real jewels in the light.

The English fashion of cropping the hair short all over the head and forming it into little loops or curls, which is followed by many of the lower classes, the writer lately noticed no less than a score of ladies, both English and American, thus shorn.

Horford's Acid Phosphate. As a Refrigerant Drink in Fevers. Dr. C. H. S. Davis, Meriden, Conn., says: "I have used it as a pleasant and cooling drink in fevers, and have been very much pleased with it."

Business Failures. New York, October 5.—Business failures for the week throughout the United States and Canada 188, as against 180 last week. In New York city the failures were insignificant in number and amount.
