THE DALY BEE.

OMAHA.

Wednesday Morning, October 10.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Save money. Send to E. Fearon, wholesale cigar and tobacco dealer, for price list.

—Two "blow snakes" were killed at the Union Pacific transfer yesterday.

—The U. P. train which came in from the west last evening met with a little mishap at the Council Bluffs transfer. As she sailed into the depot the air brakes failed to work and the train could not be brought to a stop as usual. The engine jumped over the block and the pilot plunged into the platform, tearing up the planks in lively style.

—Forty-two recruits from David's Island arrived at Fort Omaha yesterday morning.

—Bids for grading South Thirteenth were opened in the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon.

—The examination of teachers for the public schools commences next Friday and Saturday at the rooms of the Board of Education in Williams' block.

—A murderous looking sand-bag, heavy and about a foot long, lies in one of the drawers of Judge Anderson's desk at the police court. It was taken from a man who slugged a Chinaman some time ago.

—Police Judge Benecke has crossed the briny safely. A telegram from Hoboken was received by Mr. Ferd. Schroeder yesterday from Judge Benecke saying that he and his family arrived there safe and sound Monday night.

—The Auxiliary Society for the Home for the Friendless will meet this afternoon, October 10, at 2:30 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Dinsmore, 1724 Capital avenue. All members are requested to be present.

—Services of the congregation of Israel will be held at the Unitarian church, Seventeenth and Cass streets, commencing Wednesday at 6 p. m. sharp. Rev. Mr. H. Sapp will lecture at 7 p. m. Positively children under five years are not admitted. By order of the President. E. Simon.

—The announcement of a clearing sale at Morse's immense Dry Goods Store drew, as usual, thousands of customers, and by 11 o'clock this morning their immense store was packed. The dress goods bargains are such that we cannot too strongly impress upon our readers the necessity for an early call, as the stock is now fresh and desirable.

—The report of the police court for the past month was made last evening to the city council. The fines collected in September for violation of the city ordinances amounted to to $351, and costs in the same and State cases, $300, making a total of $651. Fines collected in State cases amount to $61.

—P. H. Green's Wine and Liquor store, connected with saloon No. 312, 15th street, between Farnam and Harney streets, just now opened. Imported and Native Wines, Rye and Bourbon Whiskies, Imported French Cognac of the best brands, California Brandies, Imported and Geneva Kuemmel, and all kinds of Imported French Liquors always on hand. A good free lunch all day, and hot soup from 11 to 1 every day. A grand opening with a splendid lunch will take place the 11th. All are invited. 3t

—Deputy Crowell sold $30,000 worth of "Enrisco" mining stock Monday at the door of the court house, taken in attachment from William Sexauer. It was bid off by Charlie Redick for one hundred dollars. The mine is owned by Mr. Redick and other Omaha parties and is situated ten miles from Leadville.

—In a certain stove store of this city Monday a clerk climbed up on some shelves to reach a certain article and pulled the whole line of shelves, light goods and heavy goods and all upon him, making such a clatter that it scared a Swede working in the store so that he ran like a deer and was not seen until supper time.

—Mr. P. H. Green, who is well known in this community, will, on Thursday next, have a grand opening at his new saloon, at No. 312 South 15th street, between Farnam and Harney. The opening will be accompanied with a grand lunch, which will include all the delicacies of the season. Mr. Green is taking under his care an old stand and a popular resort. The place will be completely remodeled, and care will be taken to fill the same with the finest Whiskies and Brandies and other imported liquors that the market can produce. His many friends are cordially invited to participate at the grand opening, which we hope will be a success in every respect. Do not forget that the opening takes place Thursday next, October 11th.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of Liver, Kidney or Stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All Blood diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction gauranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by C. F. GOODMAN.

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Resolutions Passed Congratulatory to The Western Celt.

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Omaha branch of the I. N. L. of A. was held at the E. M. A. hall Monday evening, presided over by Mr. J. E. Ryley, president. The attendance was good, and several short and enthusiastic speeches were delivered. Colonel R. O's Burke was unanimously elected an honorary member of this branch. After passing following resolutions the meeting adjourned to meet again in two weeks:

Resolved by the Irish National League of America, Omaha branch—

First—That we hail with pleasure the appearance among us of The Western Celt, whose publication has lately commenced under the management of Messrs. Gearon & Howard.

Second—That so long as it faithfully pursues the ends at which it aims as announced in its prospectus, to-wit: "The education, elevation and advancement of our scattered race in Nebraska," it cannot fail of meeting a welcome place in the current literature of every Irish family.

Third—That we will cheerfully do whatever we can to aid in giving it a wide circulation, thus assuring its success as a business enterprise and making it a power, fully equal to the attainments of the high ends it has in view as above quoted in its prospectus.

DISEASED MEAT.

The Bee Office Besieged by Butchers Who Want Satisfaction.

The Rumored Case Investigated and and the Traffic Stopped.

The item in yesterday's BEE to the effect that a butcher on South Thirteenth street was buying condemned cattle at the Council Bluffs stock yards, brought to this office yesterday about thirteen indignant butchers from South Thirteenth street, all of whom disclaimed any traffic traffic of this kind. They were all anxious to see the man who wrote the article.

IT IS TRUE

that the statement as made was rather sweeping, as there appears to be a whole colony of venders of beef on South Thirteenth street. The one to whom THE BEE referred has his shop south of the alley between Jackson and Jones on the west side of the street. Farther than this names need not be mentioned.

THE POLICE ACT.

The announcement of the possibility of of the sale and distribution of any meat save the very best, coming together with the news of the action of the stock yards board in Chicago, created considerable talk in this city outside of butchers' circles. The police became alert, and Officer Walters, whose beat is at the depot, kept his eye open for any such wagon as that described,

COMING FROM THE TRANSFER

and his efforts were rewarded, because on one of the early dummy trains a wagon driven by a boy came off the ferry-car. The wagon contained the body of a large steer. Officer Walters stopped the boy and asked him where he was going with the beef, and when the boy told him that it was for the market of the policeman allowed him to pass, supposing, as he had a right to, that meat for so responsible a firm must be all right.

It was a very short interval before the boy returned, too short, in fact, for him to have delivered the meat at Harris & Fisher's market, which is up on Dodge street. This awakened the suspicions of the policeman and he immediately whereupon the little fellow commenced to cry and confessed that he had lied about the meat, for it had been taken to a shop on South Thirteenth street and he was now going back to Council Bluffs, where he lived.

ARRESTED THE BOY,

The owner of the wagon now came up and explanations followed. Marshal Guthrie was summoned and all repaired to the meat market aforesaid, where was made. It was stated that this particular beef had been downed in the mud and sprained or broken his leg and it had been killed immediately at the Spoon Lake stock yards, and sold, as was customary, to the Omaha party. Mr. Harris, of Harris & Fisher, examined the meat and pronounced it unfit for this market, while others thought it good.

THE TROUBLE IS

that animals who meet with accidents of this kind become feverish and their blood is poisoned and the effect of eating their meat is often a septic fever, very difficult to trace and to treat.

The boy was released and no further arrests were made, the butcher promising to buy no more meat in this manner. The body of the animal was taken from the hooks and after the

to be rendered into lard, the rest was thrown away. It is to be hoped that no evil effects will come of the meat already sold, which was procured in this cheap and unlawful manner. In the dispotches from Chicago yesterday, in regard to the difficulty there, Health Commissioner DeWolf states that it is impossible to estimate the deleterious effects upon the people of Chicago caused by the sale of numerous cancerous beeves. The effect of eating this beef, says Dr. DeWolf, is septic fever, being a degree of blood poisoning very similar to fever from other causes; hence the inability of physicians to trace cancerous meat. Dr. DeWolf has no doubt but that a number of deaths have resulted from the consumption of this meat, sold with knowledge of health authorities.

A Grand Organ for a Song.

One of the most remarkable offers ever made to the public is that of Daniel F. Beaty manufacturer of the famous Beaty organs. The sum of $45.75 or $49.75 according as sent to him at Washington, N. J.; within five or thirteen days from this date, will purchase one of his piano upright pipe parlor organs, the regular selling price of which is $115. It is safe to say that very many will take advantage of this opportunity and wisely. A magnificent instrument is the only verdict that can be given on the merits of the organ. It has nine full sets of golden tongued reeds, and all the fittings are of the finest and completest character. There are no less than twenty-five stops allowing imitations of the human voice, and many other variations. The most beautiful orchestral effects can be produced, the music swelling at the performer's will, from the softest melody to a grand burst of harmony. The organs are warranted for six years.—[New York Star, September 14.

THREE ROBBERIES.

The Reign of Terror Resumed in Omaha.

Morning Raids on Private Residences.

The city has been comparatively free from burglars and thieves for some months past, but it seems now to be once more infested by a gang, and the number of depredations within the past few days is quite alarming to timid persons.

About the most important one of all was that in which Mrs. Ross, who keeps a boarding house on Capital avenue, near Thirteenth, was robbed of a gold watch and chain, a pair of bracelets, a neck chain and a diamond cross, the value of all summing up to about $200. This robbery occurred on Monday morning, and in addition to the articles enumerated a monogram pin was stolen from one of the boarders.

The house of Mr. Wm. Soderstrum, on Capital avenue and Fourteenth street, was entered by a burglar about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The fellow cut out one end of the lower slat of a window on the front porch and thus was enabled to thrust in his hand and unfasten it. The parlor bedroom, into which this window opened, was occupied by Mr. Schwartz, a clerk at Grunebaum's, and his wife. Without disturbing either, the burglar made off with a gold watch and chain belonging to Mr. Schwartz, and a gold watch and chain and locket belonging to his wife. Two little dogs in the house were aroused, and one of them ran into the room of Mrs. Soderstrum and woke her by jumping on the bed. She looked out of the window, but seeing nothing, did not pay any further attention to the dog.

Some time after midnight yesterday morning a burglar, supposed to be the same one who operated at Mr. Soderstrum's house, placed a borrowed ladder carefully against a window of the servants' bedroom at the house of Mrs. Marks, who lives on a corner of Fourteenth street and Capitol avenue. Ascending to the second story he removed the window and entered, carrying it across the room. There were four girls sleeping in the room. While he was crossing to the next room one of the girls named Jessie awoke and saw him standing over her. She cried out, "There's a man in the room!" One of the others said, "Oh, pshaw, you're dreaming." Jessie exclaimed, "No, I'm not, for he's looking at me!" At this the other girls woke up, and it was hard to tell whether they or the burglar were most frightened. Jessie was afraid to stay in the room, and called to Mrs. Marks' sister, who was in the next room, to let her in. That lady, fearing that the burglar might also make a break in that direction, locked the door. When the girls peeped out from under the bed clothes the burglar had gone, leaving his ladder behind him.

THE TRUE STORY.

Festner Has Not Gone Down the River.

The story that the eccentric young man, Julius Festner, had gone down the Missouri in a skiff does not balance with what a member of the firm of Max Meyer & Co., told a BEE reporter yesterday. Young Festner suddenly made his appearance in their store last Wednesday evening and inquired after the bicycle badge he had ordered.

"I am no longer insane," he said, "and Dr. Matthewson has discharged me. I am as sane as you are. I want that badge now, because I have promises from a number of business men to pay for it."

He was told that the badge had been commenced but that work had been stopped on it. It was to be a magnificent affair, a gold horseshoe studded with seven diamonds, and inside of this a bicycle. It was to have been awarded to the best bicycler at the State fair.

Festner then disappeared and the next morning went to Chicago, for on Friday afternoon the firm of Max Meyer & Co. received a dispatch from Mr. Post, secretary of the Lyon and Healy company in Chicago, saying, "Festner is here, what shall we do with him." This dispatch was turned over to Mr. Festner's father, and it is probable that by this time the erratic young traveler is in custody, though the elder Festner refuses to make any more statements to the press regarding his son.

When the Lyon and Healy band were in this city with the St. Bernard commandery Knights Templar, Julius Festner went almost wild over them. He procured four carriages from Stephenson and took them all out riding, and then asked them to a champagne supper at the Millard. Those who were posted did not go; but a good many accepted the over-generous hospitality of the young man.

GRANT'S BABY.

The Paving Contractor Draws a Prize.

Mr. John Grant, the popular superintendent of the Barber Asphalt company, yesterday received a telegram from Washington, D. C., informing him that he was the father of a son who arrived at 7 a. m., and that both mother and child were doing well.

Mr. Grant at once sent back a message to buy the boy a pair of boots and send him out to Omaha to help the paving work.
