RESTORERS

In short, take all the best qualities of all these, and the best qualities of all the best medicines in the World and you will find that HOP BITTERS have the best curative qualities and powers of all concentrated in them, and that they will cure when any or all of these, singly or combined, fail. A thorough trial will give positive proof this.

THE Admiration OF THE WORLD. Mrs. S. A. Allen's WORLD'S Hair Restorer IS PERFECTION!

Public Benefactress. Mrs. S. A. ALLEN has justly earned this title and thousands are this day rejoicing over a fine head of hair produced by her unequaled preparation for restoring, invigorating, and beautifying the Hair. Her World's Hair Restorer quickly cleanses the scalp, removing Dandruff, and arrests the fall; the hair, if gray, is changed to its natural color, giving it the same vitality and luxurious quantity as in youth.

COMPLIMENTARY. "My hair is now restored to its youthful color; I have not a gray hair left. I am satisfied that the preparation is not a dye, but acts on the secretions. My hair ceases to fall, which is certainly an advantage to me, who was in danger of becoming bald." This is the testimony of all who use Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER.

"One Bottle did it." That is the expression of many who have had their gray hair restored to its natural color, and their bald spot covered with hair, after using one bottle of Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER. It is not a dye.

Peanut Poetry.

Defeated candidates, arise!
From East, West, North, South;
Dry up your tearful, swollen eyes,
And open wide each mouth,
For, lo! these tiding strike the year:
"The peanut crop is large this year."

Now let the circus man rejoice,
With joy that is intense;
And loudly lift his vasty voice,
As forth the news he vents:
"Come one, come all, and never fear!
The peanut crop is large this year."

The gallant granger boy is gay,
His heart is free from care;
For he unto his girl will say:
"I'll take you to the fair;
For I can well afford it, dear—
The peanut crop is large this year."

The noisy theater-gallery gods
Are out in fuller force,
And shout in chorus, "What's the odds?
We scoop the show, of course;
For, even if we can't buy beer,
The peanut crop is large this year."

The crackling of the shells resounds,
Soon after set of sun,
Within the house, and naught confounds
Two mouths that munch as one.
"You ask me, dear, why I am here?
The peanut crop is large this year."

HONEY FOR THE LADIES.

Seal is the leading fur.

Fall mantles are short in the back.

Shoulder capes are in favor at present.

The blouse bodice is in request for young girls.

New winter mantles are rather long than short.

Terra cotta color is still popular on the other side.

Blue shades, especially gray blues, are very popular.

White china is again in favor for dinner and tea sets.

Furriers say that sable is revived as a fashionable fur.

Redingotes for winter wear have short shoulder capes.

Gray felt is the rage for the moment for hats and bonnets.

Tiny checks are fashionable in both silk and woollen fabrics.

Combinations of brocade and shot glace are very fashionable.

Combinations of stuffs are as popular for cloaks as for dresses.

Bisque figures, unless they are very fine, are excessively vulgar.

Dots, macaroons and stars are popular designs in wool brocheso.

Velveteen is the favorite fabric for retrimming old woolen dresses.

Checked and brocaded fabrics are prettily combined with plain stuffs.

The blouse redingote will be the favorite with tall and slender women.

Imported hats and bonnets are noticeably larger than those of last fall.

Dark Russian furs—black fox, hare, otter, and sable, will be much worn.

A "grass widow" is not one whose husband left her on account of hay fever.

Capes or large collars are worn on tight walking jackets by young ladies.

New shoulder capes are cut to produce a full epaulette effect on the shoulders.

Moss green, reseda, sage green, and all shades of dark green are very fashionable.

Hats have high crowns and small brims, or else moderate crowns and broad brims.

Young Fastboy says the first girl that he ever waltzed with was all the whirled to him.

Many new felt hats are high crowned with narrow brims and the trimmings all on one side.

The combination of velvet or velveteen with woolen fabrics grows in favor as the season advances.

Egyptian red is the most lasting of all the æsthetic colors; it will be as popular as ever this season.

Blessed is that young lady whose small brother never hides behind the parlor sofa on "beau nights."

Coffee-tinted lace is the latest. The ladies wear it to the theater; it matches their escorts breath so well.

Wide worsted braids are much used in trimming fall suits. Sometimes a line of fine gold soutache edges the wide braid, but this is only for house wear.

A lady in Kansas went out walking in a "Mother Hubbard" dress and was arrested for "somnambulism." The Kansas idea of etiquette may be somewhat sweeping, but it is very tight laced.

Among the new winter materials are woolens, with patterns in chenilles; these patterns are flowers or leaves in cameo shades on plain grounds; some are outlined in fine cords around the chenille figure.

Wisconsin reports a hail storm which knocked the horn off a steer; but that is nothing; Pennsylvania had a hail storm last summer which split the top crust of a pie baked by a Vassar College girl.

Square parasols and square plates having come into fashion, there should be more information about them. Are the square parasols more effective in stabbing than the old ones? And are the square plates more convincing in a domestic discussion than the round plates?

The fashion at Homburg would appear to be to walk about with a crook stick, between the sizes of an ordinary walking stick and an alpenstock. Both ladies and gentlemen put on a fashionable, gouty limp. If it rains, or the sun is too trying, the crook-stick is carried on the arm, while the sunshade is used.

Amber-tinted velours of long, strong pile, with marabout fringes of the same color, form many elegant sorties de bal, the ornamentation consisting of passementeries of brown and old gold silken cord, outlined with gold soutache; pendants of rat-tail chenille showing gold and brown complete the decorative effect.

A Baltimore dealer in ladies' hosiery says: "The sizes range from eight to ten. In Baltimore the average is from eight to eight and a half. In Boston and Chicago it is from nine to nine and a half, and in New York from eight and a half to nine. It is a well known fact among hosiery dealers that the women of Baltimore have the smallest feet in the country."

Anti-Jasper.

Dat niger Jasper am a fool
To'ny de earth do meve,
'Case I, myself, done 'sperience
A fac' dat I ken prove.

I went up town one evenin'
To see a friend o' mine,
An' comin' home he 'sposed to me
To tick a glass o' wine.

Dat night de worl' was rollin' so,
Like apples in a trough,
I sot right down an' hol' myself,

CONUNDRUMITIES.

A coming wedding in New York is to be gotten up regardless of expense. There are to be ten bridesmaids all wearing bonnets.

Congressman Springer's daughter was married Wednesday to Edward M. Kenman, a member of the Illinois Legislature from Jacksonville.

Mrs. Hymus Eastman, of Leon, N. Y., is now her own mother-in-law, having just married her deceased husband's father, who is seventy-two years of age.

John F. Andrew, son of the Massachusetts war governor, was married Thursday to Miss Harriet, daughter of Nathaniel Thayer. Mrs. Andrew is heiress to $8,000,000.

The marriage of Miss Dora Miller, daughter of Senator Miller of California, to Lieut. Clover, of the navy, will be one of the great social events of the coming season at Washington.

The venerable Earl of Mount Cashel, aged 92, and known as the "Father of the House of Lords," is about to marry a very young lady, (19), daughter of Colonel Joseph Kennedy, late of the Eighteenth Hussars.

Two rock weddings took place in Tiersville, La., last week, and to give increased solemnity to the proceedings, a noted Methodist divine, who was present, was induced to officiate. Sequel: One of the young ladies' mothers holds the opinion that it was a legal marriage, and threatens the young man with a suit unless he comes to time.

Colonel Frank L. Bigelow, son of ex-Gov Bigelow, of Connecticut, has been married at New Haven to Annie Louise Louis. Among the wedding gifts was a check for $10,000 from the father of the groom.

In Italy when a girl is going to be married the groom and his friends tear her from her home, she in the meanwhile screaming and holding on to everything she can reach. If she does not do this her purity is questioned.

A leave of absence for one month, beginning October 29, was granted to President Setterolf of Girard College, the application of that official being based on the ground that he desired "to go and assume new domestic relations."

Joseph Miller, German, and Irella Hinckman, colored, were married at Flushing, L. I. Among the presents received were a cook stove, a spring bed and mattress, a plated butterdish, a Webster Unabridged Dictionary, and two wash-tubs.

At Belleville, Ont., a breach of promise suit was to have been tried, but while the judge and jury were getting ready to listen to the story of love grown cold and hearts estranged, the plaintiff and defendant adjourned to a preacher's house and were married.

A Texas youth married a girl in North Carolina and then proceeded to leave her while he worked his way back to his Texas home and earned money enough to send for her. She said, however, that she preferred to accompany him out on foot, and they therefore made their journey of 1,000 miles as tramps. They got considerable help on their way, and for the last fifty miles rode triumphantly in a carriage provided by an enthusiastic admirer for their pluck.

A novel wedding is reported from Maywood, Mo. James Hamilton is said to have procured a license in Marion county to marry Miss Grear, and arrangements were made for celebrating the nuptials last week. In the meantime it seems that the lady who is quite young, decided to waive her right in favor of her mother. The scheme was agreed upon, and Saturday application was made at the Circuit clerk's office at Monticello for license to yoke for life Mr. Hamilton and Mrs. Belle Grear, mother of the bride who might have been. License was granted, and Saturday the services of 'Squire H. M. Wood were invoked to ratify and make binding the amended contract. The affair was just a little out of the usual order but only shows what an enterprising gentleman can do when once fairly upon the matrimonial war path.

Minnefoofoo.

In the land of the Minnefoofoo,
In the heart of Chase's county,
In the west of young Nebraska,
Where rolls the purpling Minnefoofoo,
The limpid stream of Stinking Water.
Jim Laird, the lord of Stinking Water,
And his hordes of stinking partners,
Gobbled lands from eager settlers,
Gobbled lands for cattle ranges,
And for imaginative timber,
For Jim Laird, of Stinking Water.
And his stinking, grasping brother,
And his "dear" fictitious "neighbors,"
And his partner, Simon Kelly,
Who dispensed the fire water,
In the lively town of Hastings.
Jim Laird, the lord of Minnefoofoo,
A heartless, soulless, homestead grabber,
A member of the Nation's Congress,
From the Vales of Stinking Water,
A radical, serene and stalwart,
Who bled Phelps county's poor bondholders.
And did his dirty work on Knevals,
And then stunk out one Gallen Baldwin
In the land of Minnefoofoo,
Where the "Jems" and his foul rascals
Like a band of lawless hoodlums,
Like a horde of highway robbers,
Grabbed the land of poor settlers,
Grabbed it like so many demons;
What a member from Nebraska,
In the Nation's cheeky Congress,
Is Jim Laird, the homestead-grabber,
The pirate lord of Stinking Water.

PEPPERMINT DROPS.

In some parts of Kentucky water is used for drinking purposes.

Indications are that the street car of the future will not be a sardine box.

A peasant in Finland has fasted for thirty days and nights. He ought to start a Democratic paper in Iowa.

"Sambo, what am de difference 'tween a base-ball player and yourself?" "Gib um up Moses." "Case one catches a foul on the fly when it's light an' de udder steals 'em off de roost at night."

A Virginia farmer plowed up an excellently carved idol, and was quite proud of it until he found that some of his neighbors had been plowing up old army canteens half full of whisky. Then he committed suicide.

Now is the time when the young man who is physically unable to carry 20 pounds of coal-hod up-stairs for his mother will go down to the corner grocery and boost up 335 pounds of dumb-bells for the beer. —[Burlington Free Press.

Among the reasons urged by a Peoria woman for a divorce are: Drunkenness, swearing, obscenity, arson, filthy habits, incompatibility, infidelity, brutality, cruelty, laziness, bigamy and non-support. That woman is really over nice. [Hartford Post.

The coat-of-arms of Dakota bears the motto: "Fear God and take your own part." The progressive citizen of Dakota does not need any special invitation to take his own part and whatever else there may be within reach, from a scrap of cheese on the free-lunch plate to a township of wild land.

A Brooklyn burglar, overcome by his arduous labors in packing up a lot of spoils, fell asleep in the hallway of the house he had been pillaging. He snored so loudly that he awakened the master, and was subsequently arrested. Burglars should cure themselves of snoring if they want to become wealthy.

A well known citizen, while at supper last night, had a narrow escape from breaking all his teeth. He was just on the point of tasting the beefsteak when the cook rushed in, and in great terror explained that the butcher had made a mistake, and the meat left with them was intended for a boarding house over the way.

The Louisville Commercial speaks unkindly of Chicago: "The ordinary traveler can now go from Louisville to Chicago for $1. But you cannot get out of Chicago for less than $50. One breath of Chicago river air is always good for a $30 doctor's bill, and they charge you the odd $20 for looking at the barkeeper's diamond pin when your are getting a ten-cent drink.

We have received a life insurance circular which informs us that by paying six dollars a year for five weeks we'll get back $20 000 in six months—or rather by paying five dollars a week for six thousand years we'll get back twenty dollars in—that is by paying six thousand dollars a year for five weeks, we'll get back— We've got this thing sort of mixed. We must consult the circular again.—[Norristown Herald.

To free a house of rats, catch one of the rodents, smear him well with tar, then roll him well in a basket of loose feathers, tie a bell around his neck, streak him with a luminous paint, put a toy trumpet in his mouth, tie a tin can to his tail and let him go. N. B.—If this don't work, nothing can be done unless you can coax the rats into the parlor and make them listen a while evening to an amateur theatrical performance.

A poker sharp says: "If you should happen to run across Dick Proctor, tell him to bet a pair of aces very high before the draw. A pair of aces is much the best average hand. You can bet with absolute certainty that it is the best average hand in a five, six, or seven handed game. It stands to reason, then, that it is sense to bet the best hand when you have it. I can make a machine that can play poker and beat the best average player. There is nothing in the game."

SINGULARITIES.

A tree recently cut in Clark county, Ky., made 500 flat rails, thirty fence posts and four cords of wood.

A peasant named James Zygelor, has just died at Odessa, aged 147 years. His son is still alive at the age of 115; he has a grandson of eighty-five, and a great grandson of forty years.

A curiosity in Irwin county, Ga., is a large pine tree with two distinct bodies and only one top. The two trunks grew out of the ground about five feet from each other, but at forty feet high they grew together, and from thence made one tree and top.

A Mr Knight rode into Cleburne, Texas, the other day, on a horned horse. The animal is in every respect a well formed two year old colt, except that it has two horns, about fifteen inches long, growing from the top of the head. The curiosity is to be sold to a Northern showman.

In Yazoo county, Miss., a party of hunters killed a deer that had a human skull impaled on a prong of his horn, supposed to be that of a negro. The prong had entered the cavity occupied in life by the eye, and had grown up around the bone, showing the skull had not been put on recently.

Alaska mummies are much in demand as curiosities. Formerly the Esquimaux preserved the bodies of their chiefs and medicine men and placed them in caves, where they were visited and given part of what the natives captured in hunting. Four well-preserved mummies are to be sent to the Royal Museum of Berlin.

Says The Brooklyn Eagle: That was a queer fancy that led Chef Zeigler, of the Grosvenor House to build a house out of bird bones and to exhibit it at the American Institute fair. One cannot look at this novel specimen of anatomical architecture without recalling in imagination the jovial festivities that preceded the building of this structure. The birds whose bones have furnished the material for the house are said to have cost more than $15,000.

Barnum has just received for his ethnological exhibition five Indians from the interior of Brazil, who are said to be cannibals. Two of them, women, are beauties, the principal charm being the lower lip, which by cutting and blocking has been made to stand out like a sheaf about four inches from the teeth. All are small in stature, with thick, coarse hair, similar to that of a tail of a horse. The skin is copper-colored and the face idiotic. The features of all are irregular, the mouth being very large, the eyes protruding from their sockets and the forehead low and much wrinkled.

What Four Maidens Caught.

Four marrying maidens summering went,
Each cast her little net;
Returning, they related to "Ma"
What fortune each has met.

"O Ma!" said intelligent Jane,
"I caught a college man;
No money—but his stock of brains
Would load a caravan."

"O ma!" remarked young Sophy Ann,
"I caught a splendid dude;
No brains—but lots and lots of cash,
And bluest sort of blood."

"O Ma!" said delicate Louise,
"I gained some strength and health;
I also caught a journalist
Whose brains will gain him wealth."

"No time to fish had I," said Nan
(Some thirty-four years old),
"Yet, staying out to watch these girls,
I caught a dreadful cold."

EDUCATIONAL.

The freshman class at Cornell has 140 members.

Of the 167 students in the Texas University, 40 are women.

John Guy Vassar, of Poughkeepsie, has given $25,000 more to Vassar College.

The medical department of the Western Reserve University opens with 150 students.

The first woman's medical school to be established in Canada will soon be opened in Toronto.

Oberlin College has established a chair of political economy and international law, and has called to fill it Mr. James Monroe, formerly United States minister to Brazil.

Illiteracy has increased in Maine, New Hampshire, Nevada, and California, and decreased in Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia within the past ten years.

Superintendent Leach, of the Providence public schools, says that the questions put twenty years ago to the highest class at the grammar school could now be readily answered by the pupils of the second class.

The Nashville school board has resolved "that the marriage of any lady teacher shall be considered equivalent to the tender of her resignation." It recognizes the axiom that when a woman tries to run a husband and a school at the same time something has got to suffer.

Sanscrit, taught by Mr. Smythe, is among the senior electives at William's College this year, and is taken by one student; thirty-three take English literature, eleven French, thirteen German, ten history, twelve chemistry, two biology, one Greek, eleven astronomy, two calculus and five Latin.

Modern Improvements.

"What is that, mother, that comes from the urn, Fragrant and strong as we get it in turn?"
"An infusion of leaves from far Cathay,
Leaves of the alder and leaves of the bay,
With a twang, and full flowered, just as it should be,
And I think there may be some leaves of the tea."

"What is that mother, so coldly blue,
Like a wintry sky of azure hue?"
"That is milk of the city, that mixture, my dear,
The milk of the chalk and the pump that is near.
That would not be owned by a sensible cow,
For she never could make it—she wouldn't know how."

"What is that, mother, as yellow as gold?"
"Butter, my boy—not the butter of old,
In the heyday of old we said tit for tat;
'Twas a prophecy when we said butter for 'fat;'
That is the butter to those whom the scoffer calls green;
To the elect it is oleomargarine."

"What is that, mother?" "Tis the pepper of trade;
But the Lord only knows of what it is made;
If roasted meal, of dust and peas,
With a dash of cayenne to make one sneeze.
It is hot and strong; but it's rather queer.
Of the ground pepper corn, there's none of it here."

The First Baptist church of Erie, Pa., meets a claim of $1,000 by pleading the statute of limitations.

A man at Charleston, S. C., has a petrified oyster, which he offers to hire out for church social stews.

The Corean embassy declined a bottle of whisky offered them by Washington officials the other day. Corea has never been visited by an English missionary ship loaded with Bibles and rum.

Over the door of a cabin in Montana, on the line of the Northern Pacific road, is written with charcoal: "Only nine miles to water and twenty miles from wood. No grub in the house. God bless our home."

Some wag perpetrated a joke upon the Rev. Mr. Bell, of Chambersburg, Pa., last Sunday by placing among the notices to be read from the pulpit an announcement of a minstrel performance. The reading of the notice caused surprise among the audience and consternation to the minister.

Connecticut is again attempting to enforce the old Blue Laws. Several people who were out driving on Sunday near New Haven were arrested for breaking the Sabbath. The "Land of Steady Habits" cannot capture murderers, but its officers display wondrous zeal in carrying out petty Puritanic laws.

A saloon-keeper of St. Charles, Minn., wanted to dispose of his saloon, and offers as his excuse for going out of business that he wishes to give up his occupation and "prepare for heaven." If he wants to "prepare for heaven" by selling his property for about one-quarter what it is worth we think there is sufficient Christianity in the world to find him a cash customer.

Martha Livingston's Investment.

Mrs. Martha Livingston, a thrifty colored woman, was Martha Green before Chas. Livingston married her in New Orleans, La., some ten years ago. They went to Morgan City there he successfully commenced dealing in moss on a small scale, and about three years ago opened opened a general merchandise establishment. She put her money away, and invested one dollar in one one-fifth ticket No. 69,519, in the September drawing (the 160th) of The Louisiana State Lottery, by writing to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., and received $15,000 cash, which she invested in U. S. Registered Bonds.—New Orleans (La.) Picayune, Sept. 20.

What will it do?

Brown's Iron Bitters? Good for what? Well, see what it has done. To begin with dyspepsia. It has cured some of the worst cases.

Then chills and fever. Who wants to shake with cold and burn with heat, when a bottle or two of Brown's Iron Bitters will drive the source of the mischief away?

How about rheumatism? It cured Mr. Brashear, of Baltimore, and hundreds of others.

Those dreadful nervous troubles. Mr. Berlin, of Washington, the well-known Patent attorney, was entirely relieved by Brown's Iron Bitters.

The ailments of the kidneys.—Brown's Iron Bitters cured Mr. Montague, of Christiansburg, Va., and an army of other sufferers.

Debility and languor. The Rev. J. Marshall West, Ellicott City, Md., is one of the many clergymen restored by Brown's Iron Bitters.

A resident of Wayne county, who did not approve of his son's proposed marriage with a widow of his acquaintance, secured a postponement of the ceremony, after the guests had begun to assemble, by hidin the young man's wedding clothes. The young man avows his determination to marry the widow yet.

HUMAN BLOOD.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. The greatest opera bouffer of them all, Mlle. Nixau, made her first appearance in New York on Tuesday evening. She is young, pretty, graceful, vivacious, and, more, than all, she has a voice, which in some of the actresses of French opera is a requirement of secondary consideration. It is predicted that Mlle. Nixau will score a success.

SIDNEY, NEW SOUTH WALES.—At the New Zealand International Exhibition, the highest prize was awarded St. Jacobs Oil, the Great Remedy for pain-curing and healing.

Relatives of Martin Luther are being discovered in great numbers. Among the earliest found are a book-keeper in a circulating library, a policeman, and a registrar in the Ministry of Public Works, all in Berlin. They are direct descendants of the Reformer's youngest brother, Jacob. Some descendants of Martin Luther's youngest daughter, Margaretha, are living in Denmark and bear the name of Wagner.

A Splendid Remedy for Lung isDeases.

Dr. Robt. Newton, late President of the Eclectic College of the City of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients, now living, and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine, can amply testify. He always said that so good a remedy ought not to be considered merely as a patent medicine, but that it ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of Lung diseases. It is a sure cure for Consumption, and has no equal for all pectoral complaints.

A Bridgeport minister is worried because he performed a marriage ceremony without looking at the license. After the ceremony he found that the document was issued in Massachusetts, and now he does not know where the couple are spending their honeymoon, so as to warn them that they must begin all over again.
