THE NECESSITY

FOR THE SPECIALIST.

DR. H. WAGNER,

Has long been acknowledged and more so at this day than any other. The vast field of medical science is ever increasing, and its numerous branches are brought nearer and nearer to perfection, and no one man can any longer grasp them al Hence the necessity for dividing the labor. And it is true beyond all doubt that disease, affecting the genito-uninary organs need special study more than anything else, if we would understand and know how treat them properly.

hem properly.

H. WAGNER is fully aware that there are Dit. H. WAGNER is fully aware that there are many physicians, and some sensible people, who will condemn him for making this class of diseases as specialty, but he is happy to know that with most persons of retinement and intelligence a more callightened view is taken of the surject, and that the physician who devotes himself to relieving the afflicted and saving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropiet and benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close apolication excels in any other branch of his profession. And fortunately or humanity, the day is dawning when the false philanthrophy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the lepers under the Jewish law, to die uncared for has passed away.

Plain Facts Plainly Spoken.

At one time a discussion of the secret vice was entirely avoided by the profession, and medical works of but a few years ago would hardly mention it.

To-day the physician is of a different opinion; he is aware that it is his duty—disagreeable though it may be—to hardle this matter without gloves and speak plainly about it; and intelligent parents and guardisms will thank him for doing so.

The results attending this destructive vice were formerly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored merly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being state-hed to a subject which by the nature does not lavite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

The habit is generally contracted by the young while attending school; older companions through their example, may be responsible for it, or it may be acquired through accilent. The excitement once experienced, the practice will be repeated again and again, until a test the habit becomes firm and completely enslaves the rictim. Mental and nervous afficitions are suitally the primary results of self-abuse. Among the injurious effects may be mentioned lassitude, dejection or irras ibility of temper and general debility. The boy seeks sectiosion, and rarely joins in the sports of his companions. If he bo a young man he will be little found in company with the other sex, and is troubled with exceeding and annoying bashfulness in their presence. Lascivious dreams, emissions and cruptions on the face, etc., are also prominent symptoms.

If the practice is violently persisted in, more serious disturbances take place. Great palpitation of the leart, or e, dleptic convulsions, are experienced, and the sufferer may fall into a complete state of divey be force, finally, death relieves him.

To all those engaged in this dangerous, practice, would say, that of all, stop it at once; make every possible effort to do so; but if you fail, if your nervous system is already too much shattered, and consequently, your will-power broken, take some nerve tonic to aid you in your effort. Having freed yourself from the habit, I would further counsel you to go through a regular course of treatment, for it is a great mistake to suppose that any one may, for some time, be tevery so little, give himself up to this fascinating but dangerous excitement without suffering from itself to the practice of self-abuse, which had been abundoned years ago; indeed, a few months' practice, the carry fall.
