Saturday Morning, October 27.

The Weather.

For the upper Mississippi valley, cloudy weather with local rains, southerly winds, falling barometer, stationary or rising temperature.

For the Missouri valley, local rains, southerly winds, stationary or falling barometer and temperature.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

-Save money. Send to E. Fearon, wholesale cigar and tobacco dealer, for price list.

-An immense pelican short north of Omaha, hangs with wings outstretched in front of a Farnam street fish masket and attracts considerable comment.

-The new barracks at Fort Douglas are being pushed ahead with commendable vigor, and the contractors anticipate having them completed within the next twenty days.

-The comedian, D. H. Fitzpatrick, will appear at Boyd's opera house to night in the romantic Irish drama, "Shaun-a-Gow." The play is a meritorious one, and is highly spoken of by the press everywhere.

-The Water Works company are now lay ing their pipes on Saunders street out to the Fort. This will give water privileges to a large section of town, and as a matter of course, enhances property in that part of the city. The new addition of Plainview has received an increased boom from this cause, and during the past week 50 lots have been sold there with a continued demand, as the prices and terms are moderate enough for all buyers. This property is handled by Ames' Real Estate Agency, who are ever to the front in enterprising efforts to please the public.

-The opening of the new Holy Family Church, on Nineteenth and Izard streets, next Sunday, is an important event to the Gatholics of North Omaha and to the city generally, showing as it does the wonderful growth of the Gate City. As a fitting close of the public ceremonies of the day a lecture will be delivered in the evening by Rev. E. Brady on "The Pagan Women and the Christian Women." This subject will prove doubly interesting at the present time; in fact a more "taking" subject than woman could not be chosen at any time.

-A special car containing the Davy Crocket hunting club, composed of officials of the Lehigh Valley railroad, passed through the city Thursday bound for Gibbon, Nebraska

-The Emmet Monument Association has appointed John H. Feeney of the firm of Feeney & Connolly, and E. F. Moriarty of the U. P. freight house, to receive subscription for the O'Donnell defense fund.

-Mr. Jessie Withers of Grand Island and Miss Anna Burley of this city, were married Wednesday noon at the residence of Mr. Alfred Burley in this city, and have gone to Grand Island to live.

-How much better the walk down Farnam street is, to be sure, since the new sidewalks have been laid. And what a brisk scene that promenade presents, at morning, noon and night, when clerks, employes and business men move in one long stream going to or re turning from their work. The Union Catholic Library association day evening, Oct. 29, at their rooms, Creighton block. An excellent programme is being prepared, and those who fail to be present will miss one of the best entertainments given by

The pelican and the camel would make a good team, one carrying the Harry A. Zeim, Chicago; M. D. Welch, Lingrub and the other the liquid refreshments.

-A boy about fourteen years old and evi dently a foreigner, warmly but coarsely clad, fell in a violent filt yesterday just in front of Shiverick's store on Farnam street. In falling he struck on the iron steps in front of the store and cut himself in the chin so that the blood fell profusely. He was attended to by bystanders who came up and two officers saw that he reached his boarding place.

-The jury in the Hugh Bayliss rape case would not return a verdict Thursday afternoon until they had had their dinner, about 3 o'clock. The verdict finally returned, after the jury's inner man had been refreshed, was one of not guilty, based on the fact that Bayliss was a victim of the opium habit, and had carried that so far that he could not be guilty of the crime with which he had been charged.

-Revival meetings will be held in the South Omaha M. E. church, beginning Sunday evening and centinuing for some time. These meetings will be conducted by the pastor, assisted by Rev. M. L. Haney, a noted and successful revivalist. A cordial invitation is extended to all the people to attend. Pastors and members of other churches will be made me, and their presence and help are earmestly solicited. J. W. Stewart, pastor.

-The Union Pacific officials reached Salt Lake by special train yesterday afternoon, and walked up to the Walker House. Among the visitors were Charles Francis Adams, Fred L. Ames, William Baker, S. H. H. Clark, J. Blickensderffer and W. B. Doddridge. A portion of their business here, besides inspecting the road, is to consider the project of extending the Tintic line from Lehl to the Pacific. It is claimed that such a line would open up a fine minera, stock raising and agricultural country. To-day, it is understood, the Denver & Rio Grande by special train will run the Union Pacific visitors over a portion of their road in Utah. So it is apparent from this that the freight wars of railroad companies d4 not engender very bad blood, -(Salt Lake

A TALK ON TOUZALIN.

A Party of Railroal Men Discuss the Great Manager.

And Tell Various Anecdotes Connected With His Early Life.

A number of railroad officials and their assistants were gathered in one of dry. the headquarters buildings yesterday and the conversation turned upon the future prospects of Mr. Touzalin, now of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. The first remark made was that he had taken or was about to take a house at Topeka to live there.

"That's just his policy," said one of the party, "immediate supervision of the road he is looking after. He wants to know all about it, and be on hand where Le can see everything that is done. I believe it is the secret of his success. He knows that he cannot manage the road as well in Boston as he can in fices are situated.' Another one added, "He does the same way if he is going to invest in the stock amination of the line and then he goes to he offices, to the auditor's office say, and ooks up the exact financial condition of the road, and learns how much it is earning before he puts any money in."

"What I like the best about Mr.

Touzalin," said one of the younger men, "is the way he takes care of 'his boys. Just see how well he has provided for them. There's W. B. Hamlin, who has ant position, succeeding a good man, Gen. Theodore F. Brown. Hamlin, you Lincoln-I don't know but what he be gan at Hastings-and then he was made general agent of the Burlington here to succeed Phillippi, and finally he went to Las Vegas to run the Montezuma hotel for the A. T. & S. F. Of course Touzalin managed it all.'

"Then there's Bert Watson and Geo. Harris, and T. A. Dawson," suggested the newspaper man "Yes, and Jim Barr," said one of the knowing ones, with a shake of his head.

"Why, yes; Barr has just gone down to Kansas City into the stock yards as a blind. He'll be railroading again inside of a year in some fat place, now I know, and don't you forget it.'

The company expressed surprise at this and some didn't think there was any truth in such a rumor, unless it came from Mr. Barr himself.

"I won't say who I got it from," said the young clerk. "Where's Dawson gone, by the way?" "Went from Plattsmouth to Topeka to be general storekeeper of the A., T. & S. F. Phillippi is now general agent at Chicago. I b lieve that completes the list of B. & M. men. Touzalin first came here as land commissioner for the Burlington, too: did you ever hear the story of his leaving the same position on the A., T. & S. F.

"Well, there was considerable dissatis faction expressed by the old fogies back enough land for the road. They wanted profitably given to the work. hopper year and people weren't What very anxious to buy. sands of the little pests. And then he made up a great bagfull of dead grasshoppers and sent it to the directors in Boston with a note saying that was the kind of land they had out in Kansas." Just like him, they all agreed and the meeting then adjourned, laughing.

In no country in the world, since the dawn of civilization to the present eventful period of the nineteenth century, has history repeated itself with more sorrowful reality than in the "Isle of Destiny, whose green hills and valleys have been Bassett, Chicago; M. The church has nobly espoused the cause of the Irish people, why not the stage? The latter is the most powerful factor in the civilized world the hearts of the people. It reaches where the church does not—the feelings of the masses. The stage in the grand banquet hall of the mind, The stage in where Jew and Christian, Mormon and Gentile, gather together to be amused and to criticise untrammeled by the boundaries of their respective creeds.

When, therefore, a true and simple story of Irish life is properly represented on the stage, without draging the priest in his sacred calling, into a low and vulgar scene of debauch in company with some villainous monstrosity that is in-tended as a type of an Irishman in Ire-land, the people of that unhappy country may be encouraged with the hope that at last they have a chance of being dealt justly by on the stage, as well as in the pulpit or on the rostrum

The people of Ireland are too much in earnest in this struggle of life and death for self-government to any longer tolerate with impunity The Harpers' Weekly Irishman on the stage, who with dthudeen in hat, accompanied with a whisky bottle and murderous looking club with a the germs of Scrofula and has the power make-up of features more brutal than the to root it out is appreciated by the afgorrilla in the jungles of Africa, traduces flicted. The Chautaqua University has been in successful operation for over five years and now has nearly 50,000 students enrolled from every part of the United States and Canada. It already numbers over 3,000 graduates who have successfully completed the four years' course, and received their diplomas.

Mr. Bunday then gave a short address on "Early American Literature," which was very comprehensive and interesting. This was followed by a brief biographical sketch of Washington Irving and other American writers, given by different members of the circle. Miss Quackenbush then read a very entertaining selection from Washington Irving's "Old Dutch Life in New York.'

After the transaction of Miscellaneous business the exercises of the evening were closed by roll call with quotations. and Skilful Workmen.

Probably no material known nature has been, and still is, put to such a variety of uses for the benefit of man as stone, which has been employed in every way from being an instrument of death to the Philistine giant to the construction of the great pyramids and the temple of King Solomon. It is to-day the support alike of the dwelling, the The Chautauqua Literary and Scien- stately house of worship and the temple of justice, It stands firm against the sweeping waters of the greatest rivers and bears commerce across them, dashes back the ocean waves and is a bulwark against their anger and in short it is the lion of the mineral kingdom.

These facts would suggest themselves to any one who should visit the yard and works of Mr. Fred Drexel, situated at the corner of Eighth and Jones street in this city, where are piles of huge stones took part in the class recitation in Greek in the rough, just as they came from the quarry, and in contrast with them the same material which has passed through the hands of skillful work nd been shaped to beautify and adorn ome magnificent public building. The ard itself is commodious and contains a convenient work shop in the center. The ra lway tracks run right alongside of it on both the north and south and material is unloaded or loaded by means of a powerful elevated derrick which runs upon a wooden tramway and conveys the stone to such part of the yard as it may be wanted. Just across the side tracks is the office connected with the works, containing the business office and a draughting room where designs are drawn and the work mapped out. Here it was that the BEE reporter yesterday met the pro-prietor, Mr. Fred Drexel, and was shown by him through the yard.

Mr. Drexel is well known to everybody in the city and county, having been a member of the board of county commissioners for six years, and a citizen of Douglas county for twenty-six years. He started his present business about twenty years ago, having learned the trade at his native place, Wurtemburg, Germany. That he has done his work well and to the entire satisfaction of the public is shown by the fact that he has increased his trade to such vast proportions and left the imprint of his own taste and skill and that of his workmen upon nearly every important and elegant building that has gone up in Omaha for the past fifteen years. At present there is but little work of this kind done by any one else either in Omaha or Council Bluffs, while he has contracts also at Fremont, Columbus, Tekamah, Blair, Schuyler, Plattsmouth and Wahoo, in this state, and Missouri Valley, Villisca, Harlan, and many other cities in Western Iowa.

Among his work recently completed or in progress in Omaha may be mentioned the new Lutheran church, Holy Family church, St. Philomena school, the two public schools the splendid blocks walks, vault floors, etc. Mr. Drexel employs a force of twenty men all the time, including fifteen cutters and five laborers. His foreman is Mr. Albert Foll, an excellent man for the position, with a thorough knowledge of the business and possessing the entire confidence of his employer. Mr. Chas. Zollicoffer is the carver, whose work is among the finest to be seen anywhere. He worked for twelve years on the Capitol and public buildings at Washington, and designed and furnished the model for the famous Grant memorial statue in Canada. He is busy at present with the work for the Council Bluffe Masonic Temple, and for the Stubbendorf block, and he has done some beautiful carving for both, the keystone which

All in all this is one of the best conducted, sbuiest and most interesting institutions in the city, and we hope the ring of steel, as it transforms the rough stone into ornamental and useful shape for beautifying the buildings of Omaha, may never cease or grow less here until Omaha has ceased to extend her limits and the last house to be erected in he boundaries is finished.

It is said that the dog is large and fierce, and has bitten several children. A man who arrived in Omaha Thursday from the southern part of the State visited the variety theater at night and suffered for his amusement. At least he claimed in the police court next morning that he had been robbed there of his pocket-book, containing $150 in money and a number of important papers. The thief must have been a slick one, because the pocket-book was in the inside vest pocket of the stranger. The police are looking for the thief. Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
