The Authorities Determined to Push Swindling Pension Attorneys to the Last Ditch.

"Brewster, Attorney General," Urges their Extermination by all Legal Means.

Civil Service Rule Eight Changed for the Better by the President.

CAPITAL NOTES.

HAYES'S REPORT. He recommends a separate office on the Pacific coast, and a decided improvement of the service in that important region."

THE FOLLOWING LETTER FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL EXPLAINS ITSELF: "After instructions from him, Colonel Corbitt, United States District Attorney, has nearly completed a number of cases of frauds upon pension claimants for action by the grand jury. He has reserved a large number of fraudulent circulars and letters explaining the use of them. He is desirous that soldiers or their friends having copies of such circulars or any knowledge of such attempted frauds will at once send him full information, and be particularly to send the number by which the claim in each case is known at the pension office."

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, WASHINGTON, November 7.—To the Secretary of the Interior: Referring to your letter of the 2d, respecting the appointment by the Commissioner of pensions of a person to aid the U. S. District Attorney of this district in the investigation of all claims for pensions and bounties in connection with which charges are made against attorneys, and to examine such cases as the District Attorney shall desire to present the grand jury, I agree with you that such appointment cannot be made to cover examinations where the offense charged are not offenses against the United States, but the District Attorney, in his letter to you includes cases where these pension agents make fraudulent applications to the pension office. It is well known the claims they present are fraudulent. This is an offense against the United States. So far as the District Attorney makes the charge of crime against the United States he should be aided in the examination of such cases by an officer of the pension bureau specially detailed for that purpose. The evil set forth by the District Attorney is a growing one, and all means that can legally be employed to suppress it, ought to be resorted to in this connection. To that end permit me to send to you advance proof sheets of the Second Auditor's report, which discloses a frightful condition of organized fraud against the poor and helpless, who either have served their country themselves and live maimed and broken down in health, or who have left destitute widows and children, all of whom are now victims of these designing bad men who rob them of their little savings and earnings under color of gains they are never to have and overload public officers with work that hinders the necessary progress of their proper business. If this can be put an end to by the intervention of the officers of the United States, if this can be punished, it ought to be. (Signed) BREWSTER.
