COUNT VON MOLTKE.

The German Napoleon, Who Moves Men As He Moves Chess-pieces.

London Times, October, 27 h.

Marshall von Moltke won his great renown so late in life that to many he is still a new general, though he reached his 84th birthday yesterday. His fame remains fresh also because the Franco-German war, thirteen years distant, still seems so recent. The world has not grown accustomed to the immense changes by the military events of 1870-71. After Napoleon I.'s downfall France's credit as a soldier-nation stood unimpaired. One of her poets could say: "How many were you against the dying eagle!" and another wrote no more than truth when he compared his vanquished country to a wounded lion, round which huntsmen gather half afraid and saying, "Il bouge!"

But in the last mighty struggle, which began on the Rhine and ended in Paris, the two giant powers stood alone, hand to hand, with apparently equal chances, and the defeat of France, the aggressor, was swift, overwhelming and discreditable. No such sudden collapse of a great empire could ever have been predicted; no such wholesale leading into captivity of generals and legions was ever witnessed. Yet it is a curious thing that Von Moltke, the chief hero of the surprising war, does not enjoy a reputation like that which Wellington held after Waterloo, and it would be useless to pretend that the German generals who shared his triumphs are as well-known as some of the French commanders whom they worsted.

Most people would be puzzled to describe the achievements of Gen. von Kameke, now Prussian war minister, who was chief engineer in the siege operations round Paris; or those of Gen. von Werder, who, with 40,000 men, routed Bourbaki's 140,000 after a three days' battle, performing what the Emperor William styled "one of the greatest feats of arms in history." The French make more noise than other people, and they have used their far-reaching voices to diminish the victories of their enemies by making them appear to have been won too easily, and not over France, but over a faction whose misrule betrayed France. But, for all this, men who have studied the history of the Franco-German war know that the triumphs of Von Moltke and his generals are not dimmed by any tales of French weakness. The advance of the German armies over France was like the impetus of a man skating—one false step would have brought a heavy fall—and Von Moltke was not admirable only in having drafted and executed point for point the most elaborate plan of campaign ever conceived, but in having accurately foreseen all the demoralizing effects which defeat would produce upon his foes. Had he made any miscalculation; had the French shown spirit when he expected them to be cowed; had they resisted stubbornly when he had reckoned that they would yield—the end of the war might have been very different from the beginning. More than once the silent commander must have been anxious in spirit; but he let nothing of this be seen. A foreigner who called upon him at Versailles in the midst of the siege of Paris, and on a day when a great sortie was expected, found him quietly reading an English novel.

He is an extraordinary man. A diplomatist who met him in the Wilhelmstrasse of Berlin the day before he went to the seat of war would have taken leave of him in a hurry, supposing that he must be busy; but Von Moltke said, "I have nothing to do," and went on chatting with his usual composure. In this incident was revealed the whole strength of the German military system, which allots to each officer just as much work as he can easily and efficiently perform. The formula of the whole system may be defined as the constant search after able men; and, as the princes of the royal house of Prussia have steadily adhered to the principle of letting merit be recompensed and incompetency shelved without favor or fear, they have been contributors equally with the best of their generals towards the events which have made Germany what it now is. The organization of the German army has in it much that produces awe as well as admiration on foreign minds. The state office in Berlin, over which Marshal von Moltke presides, has departments as mysterious and inquisitorial as those of the Roman curia; and the place is in fact a military inquisition. Maps of all countries and cities of Europe are there, with plans of invading these localities, and minute details as to the accommodations which the invaders would find in the way of board and lodging. When Gen. von Goben, at the head of the Eighth army corps, marched into Romen. he astounded the inhabitants by sending out, within half an hour of his entry, adjutants who marked on the door of each house the number of billets it was to furnish. Protests were of no use. The general had his instructions concerning what each house could do and must do, and he knew, moreover, that the city was in a position to supply 40,000 pairs of boots, 10,000 flannel waistcoats, and 10,000 good cigars to his men at 24 hours' notice. Perhaps the staff officer has thoroughly considered the capabilities of London in the same manner.

Marshal von Moltke may well take his ease, attend with methodical punctuality all sittings of the reichstag, play his rubber every evening, and devote so many tranquil weeks yearly to botanizing and agriculture on his estate at Kreisau. The system which has reduced the management of armies to the precision of mechanical science was not constructed in a day; but now that long experience has shown how well it works its principal engineer can leave it without misgiving to be regulated, during his occasional absences, by the expert pupils whom he has trained. The marshal himself disclaims the idea that he is a necessary man. It is the very essence of his system, as he maintains, that it shall always bring out men of genius so long as any are to be found in Germany; but on this point foreigners, while recognizing all that is good in Prussian military administration, will not readily concede that men like the marshal are easy to replace.

Work to Be Stopped.

MILWAUKEE, November 20.—An Iron Mountain dispatch says the officers of the Menominee Mining company, running the Chapin and Ludington mines, have determined to shut down for the winter, and arrangements are being made to pay off the men. The sheriff of Menominee and 25 men and a party of 100 of Pinkerton's men have gone to the mines to protect the property. No trouble is anticipated.

Severely Censured.

STERATOR, Ill., November 20.—The coroner's jury in the matter of the persons killed in the railway accident here last Friday, severely censures the conductor and engineer of the freight train, and the yardmaster, superintendent and train dispatcher, for gross negligence.

A Maligned Minister.

GENEVA, Neb., Nov. 17, 1883.

E. ROSEWATER, Esq.:

As one of your subscribers and admirers of true manliness as manifested by you in the unflinching way wrong of all degrees has been held up to the public gaze week after week in the BEE, allow me to encroach a little upon your good nature and space.

Some time ago the readers of the Lincoln State Journal were astonished at reading a long letter published against me by some vile wretch, in which I was accused of being a swindler, quack, impostor, and at least everything bad. This hell-born stuff was of course copied by the little one-horse papers of the state. As a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church I demanded an examination of the rumors for the good of the church, an investigation was held, and I was acquitted. Also the Grand Jury of Fillmore county brought in three indictments against me, spite being at the bottom of all. Of course, I was acquitted when tried. This was not enough. Some unprincipled liar preferred charges against me at the last conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held in Lincoln. This gave a nice chance for the Lincoln Journal again to throw mud, putting their misleading comments to the charges presented. I wish to say to the public through your valuable paper, the trial of said charges took place this week. In the midst of the trial, the prosecuting counsel discovering where he stood, as fact after fact came out, forged papers were discovered, like a man confessed his wrong. Below is the verdict:

J. W. DOBBS, Chairman.
C. A. LEWIS, Secretary.

After due consideration and deliberation we find the accused, F. B. Donisthorpe, not guilty in manner and form as charged in specifications, numbered respectively 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, under charge first, and not guilty as charged in specifications 1 and 2, under charge second, charge 3 being ruled out.

W. K. LOOFBOURROW,
C. A. LEWIS,
H. PREPON,
ENOCH HOLLAND,
J. E. RIPPETOE,
J. W. DOBBS,
E. J. RANDALL.

All I need further say is this, I shall now see whether the "press" has the right to ruin a man financially through spite. Respectfully,

F. B. DONISTHORPE.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of Food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

The Preacher's Quiet Habits.

Sedentary and studious men sometimes become prostrated before they know it. Those who spend much time in close mental work and neglect to take enough exercise often find their stomachs unable to do the work of digestion. The liver becomes torpid. The bowels act irregularly. The brain refuses to serve as it once did. Their preaching becomes a failure, and there is a state of general misery. So many ministers have been restored to health by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters that the clergy generally are speaking to their friends of this medicine as the very best tonic and restorer they know of. It restores thin and watery blood to its proper condition by toning it up with the purest and most invigorating preparation of iron that science has ever made. It is pleasant to take, and acts immediately with the happiest results, not only on the parsons, but on other folks as well. 3

Catarrh.

At this season of the year everybody has a cold and some very bad ones. By frequent exposures the membranes of the nose become very sensitive, and catarrh and influenzas are epidemic. Relief may be obtained by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

For many years in succession, beginning so far back I don't remember when, I had the catarrh in my head. It consisted of a continual flow from my nose.

Ringing and Bursting Noises

in my head. Sometimes the hearing in my left ear was affected. Five years ago, about this season of the year, I began to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was helped right away, but I continued to use it until I felt my myself cured.—Mrs. Eliza H. Caulfield, Lowell, Mass.

Jerome Brownell merchant and extensive miller at Victora, Ontario county, N. Y., writes: "I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for my Catarrh, and it has helped me. I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla one of the best remedies for blood disease to be obtained.

100 Doses One Dollar.

"I have been troubled with that distressing complaint, catarrh, and have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla, and find it one of the best remedies I have ever taken. My trouble has lasted ten years, and never could get any relief until I commenced to use Hood's Sarsaparilla."—Martin Shield, Chicago, Ill

Dange. from Catarrh

Depends upon the amount and extent of the Scrofulous infection. Unquestionably many deaths from consumption can be traced to neglected catarrh. There is a violent distress, prostrated and coughing spells, the eyes weep, the nose discharges copiously, and the head seems to split.

In such cases Hood's Sarsaparilla corrects the catarrh by its direct action in discharging the poison from the blood through nature's great outlets, so that healthy, sound blood reaches the membranes and is wholesome.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by druggists, $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell Mass.

THE NECESSITY

FOR THE SPECIALIST,

DR. H. WAGNER,

Has long been acknowledged and more so at this day than any other. The vast field of medical science is ever increasing, and its numerous branches are brought nearer and nearer to perfection, and no one man can any longer grasp them all. Hence the necessity for dividing the labor. And it is true beyond all doubt that disease, affecting the genito-urinary organs need special study more than anything else, if we would understand and know how to treat them properly.

DR. H. WAGNER is fully aware that there are many physicians, and some sensible people, who will condemn him for making this class of diseases a specialty, but he is happy to know that with most persons of refinement and intelligence a more enlightened view is taken of the subject, and that the physician who devotes himself to relieving the afflicted and saving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropist and benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close application excels in any other branch of his profession. And fortunately for humanity, the day is dawning when the false philanthrophy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the lepers under the Jewish law, to die unsored for has passed away.

A Few Reasons

Why you should try the celebrated Dr. H. Wagner's methods of cure:

1. "Dr. H. Wagner is a natural physician."
O. S. FOWLER,
The Greatest Living Phrenologist.
"Few can excel you as a doctor."
DR. J. SIMMS,
The World's Greatest Physiognomist.
"You are wonderfully proficient in your knowledge of disease and medicines."
DR. J. MATTHEWS.

4. "The afflicted find ready relief in your presence." Dr. J. SIMMS.

5. "Dr. H. Wagner is a regular graduate from Bellevue Hospital, New York city; has had very extensive hospital practice, and is thoroughly posted on all branches of his beloved science, especially on chronic diseases."
DRS. BROWNELL & EWING.

6. "Dr. H. Wagner has immortalized himself by his wonderful discovery of specific remedies for private and sexual diseases."—Virginia City Chronicle.

7. "Thousands of invalids flock to see him."—San Francisco Chronicle.

8. "The Doctor's long experience as a specialist should render him very successful."—Rocky Mountain News.

Plain Facts Plainly Spoken.

At one time a discussion of the secret vice was entirely avoided by the profession, and medical works of but a few years ago would hardly mention it.

To-day the physician is of a different opinion; he is aware that it is his duty—disagreeable though it may be—to handle this matter without gloves and speak plainly about it; and intelligent parents and guardians will thank him for doing so.

The results attending this destructive vice were formerly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

The habit is generally contracted by the young while attending school; older companions through their example, may be responsible for it, or it may be acquired through accident. The excitement once experienced, the practice will be repeated again and again, until at last the habit becomes firm and completely enslaves the victim. Mental and nervous afflictions are usually the primary results of self-abuse. Among the injurious effects may be mentioned lassitude, dejection or irrascibility of temper and general debility. The boy seeks seclusion, and rarely joins in the sports of his companions. If he be a young man he will be little found in company with the other sex, and is troubled with exceeding and annoying bashfulness in their presence. Lascivious dreams, emissions and eruptions on the face, etc., are also prominent symptoms.

If the practice is violently persisted in, more serious disturbances take place. Great palpitation of the heart, or epileptic convulsions, are experienced, and the sufferer may fall into a complete state of idiocy before, finally, death relieves him.

To all those engaged in this dangerous, practice, I would say, first of all, stop it at once; make every possible effort to do so; but if you fail, if your nervous system is already too much shattered, and consequently, your will-power broken, take some nerve tonic to aid you in your effort. Having freed yourself from the habit, I would further counsel you to go through a regular course of treatment, for it is a great mistake to suppose that any one may, for some time, be very, very so little, give himself up to this fascinating but dangerous excitement without suffering from its evil consequences at some future time. The number of young men who are incapacitated to fill the duties enjoined by wedlock is alarmingly large, and in most of such cases this unfortunate condition of things can be traced to the practice of self-abuse, which had been abandoned years ago. Indeed, a few months' practice of this habit is sufficient to induce spermatorrhœa in later years, and I have many of such cases under treatment at the present day.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. WAGNER will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character, which he undertakes to and fails to cure.

Middle Aged Men.

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many meny men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal-weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Relief to the Afflicted.

In medicines, as in science, the specialists are the ones who always comes to the front and accomplish great results. This remark is especially applicable to to Dr. H. Wagner, of this city. He stands at the top of his profession, and the cures he performs for the unfortunate would seem wonderful if not properly viewed in the light of scientific acquirements. He is endorsed by the most eminent of the medical faculty. His office at 343 Laramir street, where he will speedily effect a cure for the suffering of either sex, no matter how complicated their complaint.—Pomeroy's Democrat.

Chronic Complaints Require Time for a Cure.

Persons at a distance who wish to be treated by Dr. Wagner need not feel backward because of inability to visit him. If they will write to the doctor he will send a list of questions which enables him to send medicines, counsel and to thousands he has never seen. He has practice in every city, town and station in Colorado as well as all over the United States. See his advertisement.—Denver Tribune.

Shall We Reform?

Specific remedies for all diseases is the theory practice at present of educated and experience physicians, and in all large communities they have their specialties, to excel in which they direct their studies and practice. Dr. Wagner is a successful illustration of this modern school of specialties, and his unprecedented success in the treatment of private diseases is as wonderful as it is flattering.—Prof. J. Simms.

Those persons who need medical relief for the most delicate of diseases will find an accomplished and successful physician in the person of Dr. Wagner, No. 343 Larimer street, who is highly recommended by the medical profession at home and abroad.—Pomeroy's Democrat. Bigotry and ignorance must give way to wisdom, and the wise physician believes in letting his light shine for the glory of his fellow men. Printer's ink is the torch he can best use to guide the weary and sick one to the fountain of health. If this article should be instrumental as a "TORCHLIGHT" set upon a hill to guide suffering humanity to 343 Larimer street, Denver, Colorado, it will answer the purpose for which it was written.
