The Matter Discussed by the Board and Citizens and Referred to Another Meetting.

The meeting of the board of trade to hear the report of the committee upon the location and building of a city market house was held at the rooms last evening. There was a large attendance. both of the members of the board and

The meeting was called to order by C. F. Goodman.

The market house committee, which was appointed at a special meeting last week, reported. The report was in favor of securing the permission of propertyowners on Capitol avenue to place a market along the front of some suitable block, with the market house in the middle of the street. The use of the entire block was to be secured, and a market house to be erected, 40x264

After making this report the committee, though it considered it had done all that it could do in the matter, asked further time, that any preliminaries that may have been overlooked might be who cared to go or look in the direction

Immediately upon the submitting of the report, a discussion arose as to whether the consent of the property - owners along the block in front of which it was proposed to place a market and erect a market house, would be sufficient. It was thought by some of those present man. He is one of the oldest and best than more than the permission would have to be obtained. It was a question to hold them and the ties together. Mr. Hascall thought it would be a good plan to get eight lots or to get the center of the street with four lots on each side: Mr. Jones thought it a perfectly feasible plan to back the wagons against the sidewalk, with the market house in the middle of the street, as proposed.

General Estabrook suggested that the committee should report upon the law, ascertaining whether or not it was necessary to obtain the consent of the legislature before locating the proposed building and establishing a market.

Mayor Chase thought that there was no doubt about the right to vacate the street. The people were in favor of a market, and wanted one at once. He didn't think it necessary to wait upon the action of the legislature. Mr. Hascall said that he wished the city to build and own the market house. Mr. Redmon believed that there was not a street in Omaha in which the city would dare to put a market house. He was in favor of Jefferson square.

Mr. Meyer did not want sectional differences to arise at this time. He thought the city ought to first go ahead and build a market house. Let us first build a small one, and, if that pays, let

U. P. Belt Line.

But the Work Continues-Further Movements Awaited-Nothing New at Present.

The clear exposition of the masterly enterprise of the U. P. in its rapid building of the Belt-line anaconda between 10 o'clock of Saturday night and daylight Sunday morning, given in yesterday's BEE, caused a public feeling something like surprise. The manner in which the preliminary work for building this piece of public improvement was pushed through the council and the promptness with which the work of actual construction of the line was begun, were yesterday the subject of much comment. The property-owners along the line are disgusted, to say the least, with the proceedings. Other people wonder where the matter will stop, or what will happen

The correctness of THE BEE'S account of the matter is nowhere denied. The particulars given in vesterday's paper are true in every respect. The preparations of Saturday afternoon, the unusual activity and quiet work among several members of the council, the getting ready of material, and the various preliminary movements, have already been related. The meeting of council Saturday the preparation and hurried passage of the ordinance granting the right of way, and its prompt signature by the mayor, who has of late not been a regular attendant of council meetings, have not are not questioned. The same may be said of the immediate beginning and prosecution of the work. After daylight and during the day Sunday, everybody

of California street could see what was being done. To-day the work has been going on, not as actively as yesterday, but with the same determination of occupying the ground. The road is a miserably constructed one, and it is hard to tell whether the company building it really intends to run cars over it or not. The ties are laid wide apart on the street surface and the rails are spiked just enough greater portion of this road being pected to be a very substantial said, the work has continued during the

was being made. inquiries have been made as what the St. Paul company proposed to do-whether it would quietly allow itself the first was finished, another could be to be hemmed in by the fast-growing anaconda, or whether it would take prompt steps for self-defense. It was hardly thought that the St. Paul company would quietly submit to what, ac-cording to all accounts, was a flagrant violation of a recent armistice declared by the officials of the two corporations. So far, advices as to what sort of understanding will ultimately be arrived at are meagre, but it is known for a feet that the St. Paul company has instituted proceedings with a view of putting an immediate check upon the occupation of its right of way. Yesterday morning, in the district court, the St. Paul company obtained an njunction against the Union Pacific and Selt railway companies and their agents. restraining them from interfering with the St. Paul's right of way, either by operating any trains over the same or in front of its depot yards on Fifteenth street. These yards extend a distance of three blocks or more. The principal grounds upon which the injunction was obtained are that said acts were done forcibly and unlawfully, without making compensation to the plaintiff for property taken or damaged by the location or construction of said railway. A hearing of the matter is set for Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Notwithstanding this, the work of construction has gone on, and will probably be continued. This was the state of affairs yesterday afternoon. New developments may be looked for at any time.

A TEN DAY'S DISCUSSION

On the Subject of the Latter Day Salats at Wilber, Between Rev. Braden and Bishop Kelly.

A gentleman from Iowa City, Iowa, who has been attending the discussion, in president of Abbington college, Illinois, "The Latter Day Saints," called upon us as he was passing through this city on his way to his home, and gave us a brief history of the debate, which lasted ten consecutive nights.

The meeting between these two gentlemen has been under advisement for over a year and when the time and place Mrs. Frey an opportunity to displsy all her talents, of which she has a very large amount. Her audience were completely Rev. Braden from Texas, in which state the part, and repeatedly called her before the curtain, and were loth to lose sight of each other upon the platform in a friendly discussion of this subject. Bishop Kelly is considered one of the ablest speakers among his people, and Rev. Mr. Braden was looked upon by his followers as a man thoroughly compe-Their styles of delivery are exactly of posite, the bishop being a pleasant, affa-ble speaker, elicited the admiration of his hearers at once, and many who did not in any way sympathize with his doctrines were great admirers of his oratory.

Rev. Mr. Braden was exactly the opposite, being a debater of long years' perience, sarcastic, unmerciful, and ex-tremely logical, and did not lose a single opportunity for subjecting his opponent the ridicule of his hearers. There were three propositions dis-cussed, the last of which was the most hotly contested, and here it was that Mr. Braden "got in his work" with the most telling effect.

The opinion of the large audience, which was sufficient each night to fill the court room where the discussion was held to overflowing, was about equally divided, however, as to which had the best end of the argument, and the two gentlemen will return to their respective fields of labor, each thinking, no doubt, that he completely squelched the other.
