

THE DAILY BEE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Wednesday Morning, Nov. 28.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier 20 cents per week; By Mail $10.00 per Year.

OFFICE: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

See Joseph Reiter's fall goods. Additional local on seventh page. Cheap Railroad Tickets at Bushnell's. Ten coopers wanted by Joseph Ross, upper Broadway.

The Rescue boys have their ball tomorrow night. John Burns is wanted to answer a charge of being drunk.

The Round Table met last evening at the home of Miss Millard.

The letter carriers have their first annual ball at Bloom & Nixon's hall this evening. St. Patrick's Benevolent society gave a enjoyable dance at St. Joseph's academy hall last evening.

Justice Schurz presides with due dignity and wisdom in the superior court during the absence of Judge Aylesworth.

Phil Noonan has been complained of by his wife for being drunk, and Justice Schurz is to adjust him when the officers catch him.

Sneakthieves cleared out Robert Huntington's front window getting apples, candy etc., but no very heavy valuables.

Harry Carpenter, who was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary for bigamy has served his time, and returned to this city.

The hub-and-hub race between the Thurston team of Omaha, and the Bluff City team, is to take place this afternoon at the driving park.

E. B. Wheeler, having severed his connection with George R. Beard, on Saturday last he established himself in the interior decoration business.

Thursday evening there will be a social at the Methodist church for the benefit of the pastor, Rev. J. Z. Armstrong, who was lately injured.

Union services are to be held in Broadway Methodist church at 11 o'clock today, at which A. K. Bates, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach.

The jury has decided that David Ratliff did not steal the lumber found in his cellar, and which the board of education claimed was taken from the Hale school building.

It costs only twenty-five cents to enjoy the rich feast of art and travel to be given by Prof. Clyde with his stereopticon at the Baptist church Friday and Saturday evenings.

The family difficulty between the Kramers and Katzensteins was supposed to have been adjusted last spring, but seems to have broken out again, one of the Kramer boys being arrested for assaulting one of the Katzenstein boys.

Those who have become interested in the series of Sunday night discourses given by Rev. Mr. Lemán at the Baptist church, will be glad to hear him discuss the questions, "Is there Joy in Hell?" and "Is there Sorrow in Heaven?"

The least that the U. P. managers of the dummy train can do is to have the cars warmed. To make passengers sit shivering for thirty minutes in a car without a fire is no way to encourage travel between the two cities. Fire up.

The Baptist church folks are working zealously to make their place of worship more comfortable, attractive and convenient. They are putting in new furnaces, and are planning for elegant new steps for the entrance to the church, which faces the park. All these improvements cost money, and yet they are improvements which not only concern the church, but which concern all the citizens who are in any way interested in having the public buildings and churches of Council Bluffs in keeping with the city.

The cases of Jefferies and Johnson, charged with maliciously killing five hogs belonging to Mr. Wiley, near the transfer, occupied Justice Abbott's attention yesterday. The case of the boy, Johnson, was first examined into. After the evidence for the prosecution had been presented, his attorneys, Lindt & Hart, made a motion for dismissal, which was hotly contested nearly all the afternoon, J. W. Baird appearing for the prosecution. The motion was finally overruled about supper time, and a recess taken.

The board of trade seems to be having a revival. Five new members added at the last meeting. It matters little what the peculiar organization is, but one thing is certain--the business men of Council Bluffs should concentrate their thought and band themselves together for correcting abuses, encouraging enterprises and working for the general interests of the city. Let the revival go on, until all the business men are enthused in the matter of making Council Bluffs grow and prosper.

William Cody, "Buffalo Bill," passed through the city yesterday en route for Davenport, where he begins a series of entertainments entitled, "Twenty Nights." He was accompanied by his manager, Maj. Jno. Burke, and several others belonging to the troupe, among them an Apache Indian, the niece of the famous chief, "Red Cloud." Mr. Cody will give his first entertainment in Davenport next Saturday, and will take a trip through eastern cities, and then back, making St. Paul, Des Moines, Council Bluffs and Omaha. He expects to reach here about the middle of March, and will then reorganize his company. The play which he is to run this winter embraces thrilling scenes and adventures in the far west, adapted for the stage.

The dummy train yesterday morning did its best to make some lively runaway items. One team attached to a lumber wagon near the switch for the ferry cars broke and ran toward the depot and a boy on horseback dashed after them. The boy did not apparently understand catching runaway horses very well, and instead of running alongside and catching the reins, he kept circling in front of them and risking his life. The team kept turning a complete circle was made, and the runaway horses ran back to the transfer, about beaten out, and were there caught by the boy. As the same dummy train reached a spot near Stewart's packing house, a horse with a light wagon took a run, tipped the wagon over, freed himself, and dashing up against a fence was brought to a standstill. It afterward appeared that a mischievous newspaper reporter was perched in the cab with the engineer and kept blowing the whistle whenever he saw a team, thinking thus to get items enough to fill up the vacant columns.

Cut rates to all points at McAllister's ticket office, 565 Broadway, Council Bluffs.

STRUCK WHILE SLEEPING.

The Assailant Drops His Iron Bar and Skips.

There has been some little difficulty between two of the employes of the brewery, Gus Bloom and Raymond Sillinger. The latter seems to have been the larger and stronger man, and Bloom is said to have been afraid to tackle him when awake, and so while he was asleep Bloom is said to have picked up a bar of iron and hit the sleeping Sillinger over the head and then skipped. The wound thus inflicted was at first thought to be very serious, and Dr. Wallace was called to dress the wound. The fracture was discernible and the injury seemed mainly a bad scalp cut. A warrant was taken out for the arrest of Bloom, charging him with assault with intent to kill, but he has not yet been arrested.

THE NEW DYEWORKS.

F. R. Hurlburt has opened, at No. 34 Pearl street, a steam dyeing and French dry cleaning works. Plumes and tips, velvets, silks, satins, gent's clothing, merchant's shelf worn goods, all made as good as new.

Correct the Abuses.

The Union Pacific in its treatment of Council Bluffs seems to be getting more and more unaccommodating. It having gobbled up the $40,000, Union avenue and the street car line, it is running them directly against the interests of this city, as The Bee predicted, and the fair promises made seem to be completely forgotten. The only advantage so far gained is that some of the property owners in the immediate vicinity of the dummy depot on Broadway, have had the benefit of a little rise in property, but on the other hand property along the avenue has depreciated, and other adjacent property been damaged more than enough to make up for this.

Where are the half-hour trains promised by the company?

Where is the gain in time in crossing the river, now that the dummy trains wait fifteen minutes at the transfer?

Where are the ferry cars? Why are they not run to Broadway as promised?

Where is the big freight depot to be built at the corner of Broadway and Union avenue?

Where is the promised accommodation to heavy shippers, when the heaviest shippers in the city are now trying to get a line run up Twelfth avenue to accommodate them?

Where are the early trains to be run from Council Bluffs to Omaha?

Where are the street cars which used to connect with the incoming trains at the transfer?

The fact is that in order to make passengers remain at the transfer hotel, or go over to Omaha, and prevent them from coming up town, there are no street cars to meet the trains at the Union Pacific depot at night.

Early trains are run over from Omaha, to allow workmen to live there and come over here to work, but no early train from Council Bluffs to Omaha. The Union Pacific uses the dirt of private parties to fill up their street car line.

In fact in every way the road is trying to get all it can from Council Bluffs and give nothing in return.

COOPERS WANTED.

Joseph Ross, on upper Broadway, wants ten good coopers at once.

The Electric Light.

There is now more of an assurance of Council Bluffs having an electric light than at any time before, and each day sees it strengthened. Not only has the dynamo machine been put in place, and and nearly a hundred lights subscribed for, but yesterday the wires were being stretched along Broadway by the Pitcher & Vaughn company preparatory to putting in the lamps at the Pacific house, Esleman's, Lindsey's and other stores. The day has been much talk here about electric light, and three different companies have been promising to start here, and this company at least means business, whether the others do or not. The stretching of the wire, though in itself a simple thing, seemed to live up to the faith of doubters wonderfully, yesterday, as they stood on Broadway and watched the workers. Council Bluffs is fast getting into city ways.

BURIED IN THE BLUFF.

The Body of an Unknown Woman Found Back of the Ogden House.

Yesterday while the laborers and teamsters were at work digging away at the Bluffs in the rear of the Ogden house, they were horrified at finding the body of a woman who was buried in the bluff. The body was not in the best state of preservation, but still there was much of the flesh and some of the clothing left, while parts of the coffin were also found. Of course it was impossible to identify the body, and the most that could be learned about it was that it was doubtless one which was buried there in a legitimate way years ago, when that part of the city was used as a cemetery. Old citizens say that it has been fully twenty years, and probably more than that length of time, since a burial was made there. The body was ordered, by the city authorities, taken to the public ground, in Fairview cemetery and entered anew there.

The School Board.

The action of the board of education in forbidding the further use of any of the buildings Sunday afternoon for the Mission Sunday schools has caused much indignation. To-night the county school houses are being used for religious gatherings, as well as political meetings, lectures, etc. The court house here is used for various purposes. The city building is used on Sunday afternoon for gatherings of cigar-makers, the printers union, etc., and yet the school board will not encourage in any way a civilizing, christianizing organization, while at the same time it complains because there is so little civilization and so little Christianity that school property, lumber, etc., is being stolen. The school board prosecutes thieving with one hand, and with the other has slammed the door in the face of those who want to teach honesty. It is understood that Mr. Pettibone is the chief instigator of the door-slaming business, and that with the exception of Mr. Mott, the other members do not object to the use of the building, but Mr. Pettibone's word seems law with the board, and for practical purposes it seems as if the rest of the members might just as well resign, and let him run everything. He seems to be business manager, purchasing agent, contracting agent, superintendent of buildings, custodian of public property, in fact, the chief of all. It may be that his education or ability warrants his acceptance of so prominent and all absorbing position in the board, but even in that case, he ought not to use his power for freezing out mission Sunday schools, while he is troubled so much by the dishonesty of the boys of the present day.

Mr. A. B. Walker, who has charge of one mission school that which has been meeting in the Curtin school house, says he did not have any chance even to notify the school of the action of the board, but was peremptorily locked out. He is aroused now and proposes not only to maintain the school but to provide it with a chapel of its own. The managers and workers in other of these schools purpose going ahead also, and overcomer the difficulties. These men and women are putting in their time and money, not for amusement or glory, but for the unselfish purpose of bettering others, but the policy of the school board, pursued in other matters as well as this, indicates a narrowness of intellectual and moral vision, which can see nothing but self. The board has frozen out the Kindergarten, now it tries to freeze out the mission school. The may finally be frozen out themselves.
