SUICIDE OR MURDER.

A Dead Man Found in a Well on South Nineteenth Street This Morning.

ircumstances Point Strongly to Foul Play-A Fatal Ending to a Drunken Brawl.

Sensations have been very scarce in Omaha for a number of weeks and the slightest rumor was sufficient to provoke a "triple header." Every scheme posto this meeting, and all anti-monopolists sible has been worked to give to the of the state are cordially invited to at- papers a sensational bearing, but with very poor success.

> Yesterday, bright and early, news was received at Jacob's undertaking shop, that the body of a man had been found in an open well on South Nineteenth street, near the railroad track. The coroner was notified and at once left for the scene of the tragedy. Upon reaching the spot and looking into the hole in the A BODY COULD PLAINLY BE SEEN.

It was lying in a cramped position, the knees and chin being the only parts above the top of the water. When the body was first discovered, shortly after daylight this morning, it was in a sitting posture with the water only up around the neck, but before the arrival of the coroner it had either slid or had been 19eod-1m pushed down into the position above de scribed.

The gentleman who had accompanied the coroner to the place, descended into the well and fastened a rope around the dead man in such a manner that the rooms where it now lies.

GHASTLY CORPSE WAS HAULED OUT. The body was frozen and huge chunks of ice were clinging to the dirt-begrim-med clothing and lifeless flesh, presenting a sorry picture. It was placed in a wagon and taken to Jacob's undertaking

A search through the pockets of his clothing failed to reveal anything by which he could be identified, an empty bottle and a red handkerchief being the only articles which were discovered. On the left side of the head, and a little back of the temple was an UGLY WOUND which may have been made by falling headforemost upon some gas pipe, of which there are two pieces in the well and may have been occasioned in some other way.

It is the theory of a number of persons who reside in that locality that he was

FIRST MURDERED and then thrown into the well. It is said that a drunken brawl was had in a little house not mere than fifty feet from the well, Tuesday night, and that there was dead man was seen last night considera-

There is no fence around it, and as it stands near the road, even a sober man might stumble into it upon a dark night. In fact it is a dangerous pitfall and should either be filled up or fenced cember 1. Mr. Gault was for several years in at once. A gentleman who was present kindly volunteered to measure the water, which was found to be one foot > it was twenty inches deep. The man must either have been stun ned by his fall or else have been tapped upon the head, for certain it is that he did drown as his head was above water when discovered.

All that could be learned from parties n the vicinity was that his name was John Koschec, that he was a Hungarian by birth, and that he resided upon 23d street and was employed in the nail works. His wife says that he left home vesterday afternoon, and as he did not return last evening she supposed he was at work. He was apparently about 35 pears of age. A coroner's jury, consisting of H. O. given by this popular society are famous in Shull, John Drexel, J. B. Hackthorn, tuaking a handsome 'crazy quilt," which will oner Kent convened the jury at Jacobs' be displayed to morrow evening at the rooms. yesterday afternoon.

In all, four witnesses were examined They are the boy who discovered the body in the well, two men who came there after the body was found, and the wife of the deceased

One of these men testified he was cer tain that the second time he went to the well the body had been moved. He thought it was suck deeper. A man told witness, the first time he was at the well, that some one had gone down the well and tried to push the dead man's head down. This man did not say to witness that he had seen the other man go down the well. The last witness called was Mari

Koschec, the wife of the deceased. Being unable to speak English, her testimony was taken with a countrywoman of hers, who acted as interpreter. Witness testified that the last time she saw her husband alive was a few minutes after Tuesday evening. He did not work Tuesday. He drank occasionally. He never had trouble with the neighbors, and Koschee had been here since a year will then reorganize his company. The play ago last May. He leaves a wife and two which he is to run this winter embraces thrill-children. The family are in a destitute condition, not having a dollar of money left at the time of Koschec's death.

After hearing the testimony of the four witnesses, the jury adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning. At that time the jury will visit the well where the man was ound, and will look at the neighborhood, to see if anything additional can be learned that may throw some light upon the manner of the man's death. The jury will endeavor to find the men who saw him during Tuesday evening. The further action of the jury will greatly depend upon what is learned this morning. Meanwhile the cause of the man's death is shrouded in mystery and it re-mains to be ascertained whether this is a Meanwhile the cause of the man's of railroads.

RAILWAY NEWS.

The Belt Line Controversy Likely Reach an Amicable Settlement.

Other Railroad Matters.

THE BELT LINE TROUBLE. So far as the fight between the Union Pacific and the Omaha belt road on the one side, and the Chicago, Minnesota, St. Paul & Omaha on the other, is concerned. it is pretty safe to say that it will be 'amicably" settled, as the Union Pacific having got its opponent in a pocket, is able to dictate terms. Mr. E. W. Winter, assistant president of the Omaha & St. Paul, is in the city to adjust matters, if possible, and he is holding a conference with the Union Pacific cials. It is intimated that Mr. Winter has withdrawn the principal objections to the Union Pacific's recent extension across his grounds and tracks. He probably did so simply because he was compelled to do so under the circumstances of the case. Whatever amicable (7) arrangement may be effected between the two railroads, the result will not probably sooth the irri tated feelings of the people of North Omaha in particular and the citizens generally, who consider the action of the the Omaha & St. Paul road but upon the entire city.

C. C. WHEELER TO BECOME GENERAL SU-PERINTENDENT OF THE NORTHWESTERN It is now positively stated, although the official notice has not yet been issued, that Mr. J. D. Layng will retire from the general superintendency of the Chicago Northwestern on next Saturday, and that Mr. C. C. Wheeler, late general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, will succeed him the same day.

Mr. Wheeler, the new general superintendent of the Northwestern, is, so to speak, coming home again. He has grown big fight there. The parties who ad-vanced the theory of murder say that the and has always been considered one of the ablest and most efficient officials on bly under the influence of liquor, and that road. Previous to his acceptance of that he had some money and a watch in his possession, which he did not have this morning. the position of general manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, about two years ago, he held the position of assistant morning.

Ainsworth, chief engineer of the road, informs a reporter. They have located the line for ninety mites. The general direction is west, the terminus of the located line on Antelope creek, being nearly due west of Valentine. Capt. Ainsworth said that the grading had not been let, nor would leep on an average, while in one corner it likely be let until near spring. Indeed, it was yet no sure thing that any grade would be made west of Valentine next season, though the probabilities are that work would be done. The grading on the ninety miles located is not heavy, only about 15,000 cubic yards to the mile For the first eighty miles there is enough sand in the soil to make it work easy right after a rain.

A WHOLESOME ORDER.

It will be remembered that some time ago the general manager of the Gould roads issued an order to the effect tha any employe drinking liquor would be discharged. Superintendent Barnard, of the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs railroad has just promulgated an order which is as follows: "The use of profane and obscene language by engieers, conductors, firemen, brakemen, switchmen, or any employe of this company, while on duty, is not only unneces sary, but highly improper and demoralizing, and notice is hereby given that the head of each department is instructed to mmediately discharge any man in the company's service, in his department, for the use of such language. The order took effect on the 25th inst. RAILWAY RUMORS.

Now for a case in point: At an early hour last evening a rumor had been circulated that this new railroad improvement, the Belt line, was very likely to be torn up before morning. It is said that the effect of this rumor was instantaneous. Immediately Colonel Frank Hanlon, Frank Walters and other U. P. officials were seen hurrying in hot haste toward the Belt railway. The U. P. men rallied their forces and urged everybody to be vigilant. The enemy must be watched. The fort must be held if possible. It would not do to lose the Belt build it. Satisfactory Duty Test of the New Pump-Purchasing Another.

The duty test of the new pump for the city waterworks was finished yesterday. It has proved entirely satisfactory. Several hydraulic engineers and experts attended the test. Among them are J. D. Cook, of Toledo, consulting eegineer of the Omaha waterworks; Mr. Smith, superintendent of the St. Joseph waterworks; Mr. F. W. Holly, of the Holly works, Lockport, N. Y.; Mr. C. G. Hildreth, secretary of the Holly works. The figures for the report upon the test are not ready yet, but will be submitted in a few days. This pump has been in use at the city waterworks since July 15 last, but until now it has been impossible to get together the board of experts to make the test.

The purchase of a low pressure pump to raise the water from the river to the settling basin is not yet made. Several bids from various companies are already in and under consideration. The purchase will probably be made in a day or Several agents of eastern manufacturing companies are in Omaha in the interest of their works Who will be successful in getting the contract for furnishing the city with the low pressure pump remains to be seen.
