SPEAKER CARLISLE has a bad cold, but it is not quite as bad as Kendall's rheumatism.

INDIANAPOLIS is so anxious to secure the next republican national convention that she offers free sandwiches and beer to every delegate.

With a smooth pavement from the Union Pacific depot to the military bridge a Herdick line of street cars would pay better than the street cars. Where is Jim Stephens?

Now that Chicago has been selected by the national committee, the Logan boom begins to take shape.

On the 22d of November Dr. Miller was in "Italy," having done Venice, and being about to start for Florence.

The doctor is now in a country where titles of nobility can be had for a hundred dollars. We shall not be surprised if he returns as the Marquis Giovanni Lorenz Millerino.

The Army and Navy Journal urges Congress to provide for a grand military encampment at Washington next spring, in which the militia of all the states are to take part.

GLOVE-FIGHTING on the Pacific coast has received a black eye. The grand jury of San Francisco has indicted some of the chief promoters of the so-called manly art.

With Professor John Longfellow Sullivan and the sluggers on the stage of Boyd's opera house on Thursday night, "The Devil's Auction" on Friday night, and a good sermon on Sunday, Manager Boyd offers a varied set of entertainments.

BONNISON, of New York, has given another twist to the tail of the British lion. He asks for information of the secretary of state as to whether the minister to Great Britain has received any title of nobility such as "lord rector" from any foreign state.

THE Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad is a good provider for the brass-collared gentlemen employed on the editorial staff of its paper, the Burlington Hawkeye. First it had Frank Hutton appointed postmaster at Burlington by Hayes, whom he had abused like a pick-pocket.

DURING the first week of the session of congress the business of the members of the house has been the collection of mileage. There has been a rush on the sergeant-at-arms.

While it is imperative that congress should abrogate this treaty we are brought face to face with another fact that every family in the United States pays from two to three cents per pound for sugar for the ostensible purpose of encouraging the sugar planters of Louisiana.

THE SUGAR MONOPOLY.

SOME seven years ago Cass Spreeckles, a shrewd German who had been engaged for some time in the sugar trade in San Francisco, conceived a very cunning and bold plan to secure the monopoly of the trade and manufacture of sugar on the Pacific coast.

Kalakaau came to the United States with a royal flourish of trumpets, and met with a cordial reception at Washington. He succeeded in effecting the treaty which originated with Spreeckles, and returning to his little island kingdom he received his reward from the sugar king, who was the power behind the throne.

Spreeckles now launched forth on a grand scale. He enlarged his sugar plantation, increased his force of contract laborers, and had vessels built to order for the transportation of the raw material to San Francisco, where he immediately increased his refining facilities by building the largest refinery in America.

It was intended on the part of the United States through this treaty to cheapen the price of sugar on the Pacific coast, but the opposite has resulted, owing to the combinations made by Spreeckles, who now virtually controls the sugar markets of the whole country.

THE organ of the pension brokers and pension sharks at Washington is making another effort to bolster up Vandervoort by misrepresenting other members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

THE bill for another bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs has been introduced by General Manderson in the senate and will be introduced in the house by Congressman Weaver.

CHICAGO had the longest pole. Indianapolis, with Ben Harrison, John C. New and the United States treasury, was no match for Chicago hotel runners.

"OUR VAL" is on his way home from Washington to look after the holiday trade of his drug store, and to superintend the manufacture of fifty-year old whisky out of 1883 corn juice.

BRANDING DESERTERS.

When General Howard, in his recent report as commander of the department of the Platte, recommended the branding of deserters we were inclined to denounce the suggestion as barbarous.

THE New York Star, in a late number, takes General Howard to task upon this point in the following fashion: "Before offering this ferocious suggestion for stamping his fellow men with iron, or otherwise branding them, General Howard manifests the lack of religious instruction in his command."

THE prohibition of gambling in the army is one of the most needed reforms. Nearly all the dishonesty and fraud committed by army officers may be directly traced to this evil.

SUBJECTS FOR STUDY.

TRADE DOLLARS? No! But ten dollars of United States money is what S. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., would pay for a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, the medicine which cured him of bronchitis, and which he cured thousands afflicted the same way.

NOT A CENT Would O. M. Holcomb, editor Seneca County Herald, Bloomville, Ohio, give for the chance of his getting rid of his catarrh before he used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Now he would give a good deal for his chance to be similarly afflicted with the same medicine available.

ALLOW US TO SAY In conclusion that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is not only a very valuable remedy for diseases of the nose, throat and lungs, but a splendid external application for rheumatism, neuralgia, aches and pains and wounds of every sort.

demolished the pipe and grazed the forehead of his nose. The pipe was doubly loaded. The sentimental opposition to capital punishment does not appear to be very strong in Plattsburgh.

AN obscure shelf is not the place for the new medical work, "The Science of Life; or, Self-Preservation," but the family library.

Literary Notes. Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, have published a brilliant book of Brazilian travels, which is entirely unlike any now before the public.
