

TENCENTS. This is the man Mr. A. Burns, three miles east of Coleridge, Ont., says he wouldn't have given for his chance of living before he used Burdock Blood Bitters. He had dyspepsia for fifteen years, and was cured by three bottles of this very excellent preparation.

NUMBER ONE. My wife considers Burdock Blood Bitters a number one medicine. They cured her of dyspepsia and liver complaint when no other remedy she ever tried would do it. This was Mr. Martin Kizer of Linn Grove, Ind., says.

Burdock Blood Bitters are sold by every druggist. You want to try them, try them in like time. FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's Buffalo, N.Y.

Mayor and Robber. MONTEREY, Mexico, December 12.—Quintana, mayor of New Laredo, was ordered arrested as one of the principals in the robbery of the Mexican national railroad and the authorities of Tamaulipas refuse to surrender him. Other prominent officials are involved. The affair is assuming a serious national aspect.

The Emma Bond Case. CHICAGO, December 12.—The Daily News' Hillsboro (Ill.) special says: States Attorney Drennan, prosecutor in the Emma Bond case, says in the examination of jurors to-day, he purposely misled the defense into believing the prosecution would have only circumstantial evidence; but he asserts Miss Bond will positively identify Montgomery as one of the men who assaulted her, and will assert her belief that the other two prisoners, Pettis and Clement, were there.

IS NOT THIS CONCLUSIVE? How the Plain Tale of a Plain Soldier puts down Injurious Slanders. An Important Statement from General Jubal A. Early.

At this time, when a parcel of malicious and ignorant busybodies are slandering and libeling the Louisiana State Lottery Company and its President, those who believe in justice and fair play will read with interest the following from the pen of General Jubal A. Early, whose veracity is unquestioned. Read what he has to say:

"Mr. M. A. Dauphin, the President of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, resides in New Orleans, which has been his place of residence for many years; and he is universally esteemed as a gentleman of high character. For the correctness of whatever he publishes in regard to the operations of the Lottery Company I am willing to vouch. The drawings of the lottery, semi-annual and monthly, are under the sole and exclusive control of Gen. Beauregard and myself, the officials of the Lottery Company have nothing to do with them, except to furnish us with requisite materials and facilities; and we take especial care that the drawings are published precisely as they take place. In the monthly scheme all the tickets are sold, and all of the prizes are necessarily drawn, so that the company has no possible inducement to make any false statement in regard thereto.

"I may say here that there are many people who cannot understand how it is that, when they have bought five, ten, fifteen or twenty tickets, they have drawn nothing. It is only necessary to say that of those who do buy tickets there must necessarily be a very great many who draw nothing. If it were not so, no one would be fool enough to establish a lottery. Where a man, by spending ten dollars, stands a chance of drawing $10,000, $50,000, $200,000, and various other prizes of smaller amounts; or, by spending five dollars, can draw $75,000, $25,000, $10,000, and various other prizes down to $25, he must be surprised if he fails after taking many chances. It is a matter of chance or luck entirely.

"Gen. Beauregard and myself, who had ample opportunity to test the integrity of the Louisiana State Lottery Company in all its dealings, and we are willing to vouch for it, as we have done on repeated occasions. If any one can satisfy himself that the company has acted fraudulently in any of its dealings, we will dissolve our connection with it very promptly, and take care to see that the means to expose its misdeeds than can be taken by irresponsible anonymous newspaper correspondents.

"The Company, which numbers among its stockholders some of the most respectable gentlemen of New Orleans, has sense enough to know that it can make a great deal more money by conducting its operations fairly and honestly, than by a resort to fraud. It has a firm financial basis to stand on, and is therefore subject to the hostility of other lottery companies which have no such basis.

"I may add that it pays annually for the support of the Charity Hospital in New Orleans, one of the noblest charities in all the country, $40,000 per annum, according to contract with the State. Besides this, its principal proprietors contribute very liberally and largely to other charities and public enterprises."—J. A. EARLY.

THE PARNELL TESTIMONIAL. The Banquet and Speeches in Dublin—A Distinguished Gathering.

DUBLIN, December 12.—At the banquet to Parnell last night the room was crowded. Davitt, in response to the toast, "Ireland a Nation," said that he was led by Parnell to believe themselves on the threshold of heralding in the Irish nation. Lord Mayor Dawson read an address to Parnell. Parnell was cheered several minutes. He referred to the formation of the land league and said: "Never was there a movement formed against such a system of robbery and fraud in carrying out which there was so much moderation displayed and such absence of crime. There were 30,000 soldiers and 10,000 police in Ireland. The law of habeas corpus had been repeatedly violated, the most significant example being when 1,000 Irishmen were imprisoned by 'Buckshot' Forster. If the liberals wish the Irish to co-operate with them there must be no more coercion or emigration. We regard any system of emigration we have not had in the country as a murderous blow against the life of our nation, being accompanied by untold sufferings on the part of the victims. Three-fourths of the emigrants from Ireland during the last year or two, have been compelled to find a home in miserable garrets in London, Boston and Montreal. The proceedings of the Tullio committee stand exposed as an indecent attempt to assist the government to get quit of the Irish people. If we are emigrated or coerced, we prefer to have the dose administered by the Tories rather than by the wolves in sheep clothing, the Whigs. The present Irish executive is characterized by greater meanness and incapacity than any of his predecessors. Earl Spencer came to Ireland as a sort of inferior bottle holder to Forster. We were not surprised that Spencer should do his best to imitate the biggest coercionist who ever came to Ireland, and that he should desire to give play to the unbridled insults and passions of the foreign garrison in Ireland. Trevelyan's greatest ambition is to prevent everybody from doing what he has a legal right to do. The instances are the imprisonment of Harrington, the suppression of The Kerry Sentinel, and the arrest of the editor, and the suppression of national meetings in the north. Our rulers want common honesty. They permit Harrington to remain in prison for an offense which the men in Dublin Castle must know he is innocent of. All our experience with English dealings in Ireland results in the conclusion that the English are always willing to employ force to the fullest extent against the masses of people. With regard to the question of including Ireland in the extension of franchise, our position is a strong and winning one. Whether Ireland is included or not, we shall return at the next election about eighty members. Although our present progress is slow we are adding to the number of members of the national cause in the days of the great league movement. We must be patient if we wish to win. Coercion cannot last. Certainly it rests with Irishmen to determine at the next general election whether the liberal or Tory government shall rule England. This is a great force, that if we cannot rule ourselves we can cause England to be ruled as we choose. We are determined that this generation shall not pass away until it has bequeathed to those who come after us the great right of national independence and prosperity. At the close of Parnell's speech he was greeted with great cheering. Dawson announced that the grand total for £38,000 as the national tribute.

COTTON AND COIN. The Condition of Both Considered by the Agricultural Bureau.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 12.—The season for cotton picking, since the occurrence of the frosts, has in gathering the bottom crop, been quite favorable. Local estimates of the aggregate product are not diminished and the tone of the general comment is comparatively hopeful. The indications of December favor a reduction of about 13 per cent from the crop of last year. The percentages of the various states point to a crop of about six million bales. It is possible that the cotton movement of the year may pass this limit. Returns on the cotton production are more conservative than in October or November, from injury to soft corn by worms and moist weather. North of the fort-hatched parallel corn that has been cribbed is in worse condition than for many years. The proportion of unmerchantable corn therefore is large. The final estimate of the cotton crop will fall. One million bushels short of the indications of previous returns or twenty-three bushels per acre. This estimate relates only to the quantity and makes no discount for inferior quality, which seriously increases the practical shortage. The losses from packing in masses, or injury to soft corn from mild and wet weather are treated as next-harvest considerations. An investigation will be made as to the extent of such injury. The wheat aggregate slightly exceeds 400,000,000 bushels. The oat crop is about four per cent larger than last year, and exceeds 500,000,000 bushels. The yield of rye and barley is little less than eighty-two and buckwheat is reduced more than one-third. The December report will include a record of average prices which also indicates the quantity grown.

Speckles Has the Sugar. SAN FRANCISCO, December 12.—The rumor that Claus Speckles has cornered the entire Hawaiian sugar crop is confirmed. It is estimated that he holds 80,000,000 pounds, being sufficient to enable him to control the sugar trade of the coast.

What Men Do Who Become Rich. Kansas City Star. One of Senator Tabor's partners when he started his business was a German named Riche, who was past the middle of life, had been a cobbling shoemaker all his life, and a $50 note was an engraving had never inspected at nearer range than through the wicket of a bank counter. He got about $100,000. The first thing he did was to build a large brick house, red colored, and in the most hideous architectural design, about two miles distant from the camp or any other habitation. Then he got married, and retired into this dwelling, as the knights and barons of medieval times retired into their castle keeps, and he only emerged at long intervals to lay in provisions and chewing tobacco. This was his conception of perfect rest, and consequently estatic happiness. He had a profound mistrust of banks and kept his cash by him, where thieves could not break in nor moths corrupt. One would suppose that this scheme was open to objections on the ground of its lack of variety, but unkind rumor credited the capitalist's wife, who was a very voluble lady, with an ability to keep her entertained and excited.

A contemporaneous gentleman of fortune of Leadville was Captain Connors, well known to all residents of the camp. He has often told the story of his first "stake." He received $10,000 for his interest in some mineral property, and it was paid to him at the bank in four rectangular packages of bills of $10,000 each. The captain had kept his good fortune a secret from his wife, and he hurried home to tell her. She was sitting down after a hard day's work, and without a word he dropped the awful of greenbacks in her lap. It was a loyal and touching thing to do. For a moment she sat paralyzed with astonishment, and then hugging the mass up to her, she sobbed out: "Oh, Tom, how dirty they are! Let me put them in a tub and wash them." "Do it if you want to, dear," he replied with a tenderness that it would be well for other rich men of Colorado to emulate, "but you will never wash anything else again."

THE PEOPLE'S TELEPHONE. A Cleveland Company Which Will Introduce Telephones Designed For Private Lines.

Cleveland Leader. The People's Telephone company of this city, which was incorporated at Columbus Saturday, will add one more to the industries of Cleveland when the plans of the company are sufficiently matured to begin the manufacture here of the apparatus for the new telephone, in which the People's Telephone company has purchased the right to the patent for a considerable portion of the State of Ohio. The telephone to be introduced by this company is the invention of a Pittsburgh scientific gentleman and bears his name, being known as the Bowen patent. It works on an entirely different principle from the Bell telephone, no batteries or electricity being used with it. Its distinctive feature consists of a peculiar device for the diaphragm by which extraordinary distinctness of sound is obtained without the use of electricity. The telephone is designed for use for private lines, as it is less expensive than the telephone in common use, and fills the want of a telephone which can be used for private messages, with the assurance that no one can hear what is said over the wire except the person with whom the conversation is being held. The company which is introducing this telephone does not contemplate the use of exchanges, but a wire is to be placed directly between the two points between which means of communication are desired. This telephone is said to be especially adapted for use in mines, since no electricity is used, and the difficulty experienced with the electric telephone in mines on account of counter currents is avoided in this invention. A company has been formed in Pittsburgh and another one in Philadelphia, whose objects are the manufacture and introduction of this patent, and the Cleveland gentlemen who have bought the right to the patent for Northern Ohio and the mining districts of the state are confident that they have found an investment that will prove profitable. Among the Clevelanders interested in the new company, which was incorporated with a capital stock of $300,000 in shares of $100 each, are W. H. Saunders, Esq., Charles H. Lamprecht, David McClasky, H. E. Hayes and W. A. Fisher. It is intended as soon as the business of the company will warrant the establishment of a manufactory here to manufacture the telephones and apparatus in this city; until that time the supplies will be obtained from Pittsburgh.

Acresses and Long Lost Uncles. Dr. George W. Moore, of Cleveland, is to be congratulated on the discovery of his niece in the charming Flora Moore, of the "Bunch of Keys" combination. He to put the matter properly, was her long lost uncle. She played in city after city always consulting the directory to see if her missing uncle had, by any fluke found anchorage therein. As she traveled around in this way, shedding tears over the directories that had no G. W. Moore in them, she must have looked very bewitching, and it is not to be wondered that a brother in her art, the general McAdo, asked her to be his for life. They continue the contest together. Every George W. Moore was visited. Mr. McAdo would, it is said, fling himself on the neck of every new found Moore and proclaim himself "a long-lost nephew." It seemed to be of no use. At last they came to Cleveland, where every second man is a long-lost uncle or grandfather, and there, after the usual question, a table was formed of "The Moore, the Merrier, or McAdo an Uncle," that would make the fortune of any piece. Now to every pretty actress we wish a long-lost uncle. It would make it so interesting! It may be noted, however, that bringing around a husband to fling himself on the neck of the supposed aunt is a very different method than would commend the search to general favor among possible uncles.

A WORD CONCERNING THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY. In view of the recent unwarranted attacks made upon the honesty, integrity and fair dealing of "The Louisiana State Lottery," and the many doubts expressed as to the drawing and payment of prizes by this institution, we deem it but simple justice to make this voluntary statement regarding our dealings and experiences with the company, and to certify to the fact of having drawn and having been paid in full the prizes opposite our respective names. These prizes tickets were purchased of Col. B. FRANK MOORE, formerly of New York, but now of Chicago to whose honest, straightforward, conscientious manner of conducting his business, we bear willing testimony. He never made a statement not absolutely true; never made a promise not strictly fulfilled, in connection with, and relative to the operations of "The Louisiana State Lottery." He never concealed the purchase of tickets by parties who are unable to take the risk or lose the amount of investment. On the contrary, he tells you not to invest if you haven't the money to lose, and certainly where there is no compulsion there should be no complaint if the investor fails to draw a prize. As to the "dishonesty and immorality" of Lottery, we leave the world to judge. We are simply dealing in facts. "Fiat justitia ruat cælum." These prizes were promptly paid on presentation of the tickets at the home office in New Orleans, which establishes beyond question the integrity and good faith of the company. THE NECESSITY FOR THE SPECIALIST. DR. H. WAGNER, Has long been acknowledged and more so at this day than any other. The vast field of medical science is ever increasing, and its numerous branches are brought nearer and nearer to perfection, and no one man can any longer grasp them all. Hence the necessity of dividing the labor. And it is true beyond all doubt that disease, affecting the gen-eral system, is not special study more than any other else, if we would understand and know how to treat them properly. DR. H. WAGNER is fully aware that there are many physicians, and some sensible people, who will condemn him for making this class of diseases a specialty, but he is happy to know that with most persons of refinement and intelligence a more enlightened view is taken of the subject, and that the physician who devotes himself to the relief of the afflicted and aving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropist and benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close application excels in any other branch of his profession. And fortunately or humanly, the day is dawning when the false philanthropy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the lepers under the Jewish law, to die uncurd, is passing away.

A Few Reasons Why you should try the celebrated Dr. H. Wagner's medicine of cure. 1. "Dr. H. Wagner is a natural physician." 2. "The Greatest Living Therapeutist." 3. "Few can excel you as a doctor." 4. "The World's Greatest Physiologist." 5. "You are wonderfully proficient in your knowledge of disease and medicine." 6. "The afflicted find ready relief in your prescriptions." 7. "Dr. H. Wagner is a regular graduate from Bellevue Hospital, New York City; has had very extensive hospital practice, and is thoroughly posted on all branches of his beloved science, especially on chronic diseases." 8. "Dr. H. Wagner has immortalized himself by his wonderful discovery of specific remedies for private and chronic diseases."—Virginia City Chronicle. 9. "Thousands of invalids flock to see him."—San Francisco Chronicle. 10. "The Doctor's long experience as a specialist renders him very successful."—Rocky Mountain

Plain Facts Plainly Spoken. At one time a discussion of the secret vice was entirely avoided by the profession, and medical works of but a few years ago would hardly mention it. Today the physician is of a different opinion; he is aware that it is his duty—disagreeable though it may be—to handle this matter without gloves and to speak plainly about it, and intelligent parents and guardians will thank him for doing so. The results attending this destructive vice were formerly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored. The habit is generally contracted by the young while attending school; other companions through their example, may be responsible for it, or it may be acquired through accident. The excitement once experienced, the practice will be repeated again and again, until at last the habit becomes firm and completely enslaves the victim. Mental and nervous affections are usually the primary results of self-abuse. Among the injurious effects may be mentioned headache, dizziness, or irascibility of temper and general debility. The boy seeks seclusion, and rarely joins in the sports of his companions. If he be a young man he will be little found in company with the other sex, and is troubled with excessive and annoying sensitiveness in their presence. Lascivious dreams, emissions and eruptions on the face, are also prominent symptoms. If the practice is violently persisted in, more serious disturbances take place. Great palpitation of the heart, or quillipic contractions, are experienced, and the sufferer may fall into a complete state of idiocy before, finally, death relieves him. To all those engaged in this dangerous practice, I would say, first of all, stop it at once; make every nervous effort to do so; but if you fail, if your nervous system is already too much shattered, and consequently, your will-power broken, cause some nerve tonic to be prescribed, and take it. I would further counsel you to go through a regular course of treatment, for it is a great mistake to suppose that any one indulgence in this vice, be it ever so little, give himself up to this fascinating but dangerous excitement without suffering from its consequences at some future time. The number of young men who are incapacitated to fill the duties of a citizen by weakness is alarmingly large, and in most of such cases this unfortunate condition of things can be traced to the practice of self-abuse, which had been abandoned years ago. Indeed, a few months' practice of this habit is sufficient to induce spermatorrhoea. 10 years ago, and I have many of such cases under treatment at the present day.

Young Men. Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. Wagner will guarantee to forfeit $50 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character, which he undertakes to cure and fails to cure.

Middle Aged Men. There are many at the age of 30 to 40 who are troubled with too frequent ejaculations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system often to the extent that the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of this milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases and a healthy restoration of the generative organs. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. All communications should be addressed, Dr. Henry H. Wagner, P. O. 228, Denver, Colorado. The Young Man's Pocket Companion, by Dr. H. Wagner, is worth its weight in gold to young men. Price 15c. Sent by mail to any address.

Let Your Light Shine. Dr. Wagner, the celebrated specialist, of Denver, Colo., 343 Larimer Street, believes in letting the world know what he can do, and is doing for thousands of his fellowmen. His treatment for lost manhood is not to win him a name that posterity will blaspheme, but to show to all eyes that he is a specialist in chronic and sexual diseases of every kind will not hurt his best friend. Read his advertisement in all our city papers, and call on him for advice, as we know you will corroborate us in saying, he is the sufferer's true friend.—Rocky Mountain News.

Relief to the Afflicted. In medicine, as in science, the specialist are the ones who always come to the front and accomplish great results. This remark is especially applicable to Dr. H. Wagner, of this city. He stands at the top of his profession, and the cures he performs for the unfortunate would seem wonderful if not properly viewed in the light of scientific requirements. He is venerated by the most eminent of the medical faculty of his office at 343 Larimer Street, where he will specifically effect a cure for the suffering of either sex, no matter how complicated their complaint.—Pennyroyal Democrat.

Chronic Complaints Require Time for a Cure. Persons at a distance who wish to be treated by Dr. Wagner need not feel backward because of inability to visit him. If they will write to the doctor he will send a list of questions which they may send to him, and he will answer them in every city, town and station in Colorado, as well as all over the United States. See his ad. in "The Necessity"—Denver Tribune.

Shall We Reform? Specific remedies for all diseases is the theory practiced at present of educated and experienced physicians, and in all large cities they have their specialties, to excel in which they direct their studies and studies. Dr. Wagner is a successful illustration of this modern school of specialists, and his unprecedented success in the treatment of private diseases is as wonderful as it is flattering.—Ives' Signal.
