LOCAL BREVITIES.

-This is the year with three hundred and sixty-six daya.

-The public library will open in the nex rooms, Wednesday, January 2, at 10 a. m. -The dummy train made Sunday runs yesterday, and many people were fooled there

-The sale of reserved seats for the Neally Stevens concert will begin this morn-

-The notorious "peggy," the terror to the police force, is again in jail for disorderly con-

-Little Burt Nason suffered a fracture of the arm by being thrown from his pony on Mr. Van de Mack, one of the most influential farmers in Butler county, was in this city yesterday. The ice is very clear and nearly one foot in thickness, and the seasons' crop will soon be harvested. -The Central Pacific train was snow bound and did not connect with the Union Pacific train as usual yesterday. -Remember the reserve sale of seats for the Neally Stevens piano recital begins thif morning at the opera house. -Saloon rows Sunday afternoon, Hov does this accord with the ordinance in regard to the closing of saloons on Sunday. -Workmen are now engaged in papering the walls of the Millard hotel office and dining hall. The new decorations will cost about $1,100,

-The piano recital of Miss Neally Stevens will occur Thursday evening at the opera house. Reserve seats go on sale this morning.

-Reserved spats for the Neally-Stevens plano recital, which takes place Thursday evening, go on sale at Boyd's opera house on Wednesday morning.

C. C. Hulett, the gentlemanly book-keeper at the Millard, has returned from quite an extended tour through the east. He visited in Wisconsin, Ohio and New York

-As the ice gathers upon the stone side walks it makes them quite treacherous, and pedestrians are called upon to sit down quite frequently without the help of a banana

-The street cars were off time generally yesterday, and many times off the track. There was just snow enough to make trouble for the street cars, and not enough to benefit

-The Denver train from the west yerterday had two sleeping cars attached, and in here was one passenger, and the other one was occupied by two persons. How is that for light travel?

-Considerable trouble was experienced last night in various parts of the city by the freezing of the ras pipes. A number of the stores were in total darkness for a time until the pipes were thawed out and placed in working Lafe Watterson, who has been employed by Markel & Swobe for a long time, left for Crete yerterday accompanied by his wife. Mr. this winter in hopes of recuperating his fast failing health.

-Railroad men say that they never have seen travel west so heavy on the first day of the year as it is yerterday. Two car-loads of emigrants went west on the Denver train last night, and the western bound train yesterday noon was made up with eleven cars.

-There are more old and dilapidated wagons and relics of all kinds standing around in the streets of the city of Omaha than would be allowed in any little one-horse town of eight hundred inhabitants, let alone a growing and busy city of fifty thousand people.

Nebraska Lodge No. 1, Knights of Pythias, have a public installation of officers at their hall this evening. There will also be dancing and refreshments, and it is expected that the members and their families will have a sociable and enjoyable time.

-It is certainly a wonder that some one is ot killed every day at the Tenth street crossing of the Union Pacific. Just at noon there is a large amount of switching being done there, and cars are being thrown in upon several tracks at one and the same time, some of them running very rapidly, too. We see narrow escapes very frequently and the result

-While Mrs. Rev. Shank and her two som were riding to church Sunday morning a little west of "Saddle creek" bridge, descending the hill, they were met by Mr Hines' hired man and lumber wagon, who recklessly crowded them into a deep cut at the right of the road, striking the front of their road cart, splitting violently, Mrs. Shank finding herself right against the horses back feet. Though one of Mr. Shank's new team of blacks, it stopped quickly, and they escaped with only herself. off the cross piece and whiffle tree, tearing and a smash up.

—Tom O'Brien, well known as one of most industrious hack drivers in the city, had a narrow escape on Saturday evening of a serious misfortune. He had backed in with his carriage at the Northwestern depot, just south of the track used by their passenger trains. A switch engine was side-tracking some freight cars near by and happened to some down on this same track, but with such force as to throw the rear box car clear over the "dead block," striking the hack and injuring it considerably. It was quite a serious thing for Tom, as he depends on the patronsge of his carriage for a living, but he has the vehicle in the shop being repaired, and will be out to-day and at work as usual. with the location and management of the rooms.

—An amusing runsway occurred on Fif-teenth street yesterday. About 10 o'clock a team attached to a heavy lumber wagon came dashing up the street with no driver be-hiad them. When in front of Kuhn's drug hiad them. When in front of Kuhn's drug store they turned on to the sidewalk and the pole of the wagon came in contact with a large telegraph pole which is located at that place. As the pole of the wagon struck the telegraph As the pole of the wagon struck the telegraph pole both horses indulged in a somerscult and came down broadside upon the pavement.

This stopped the sport and the grostrate animals were captured before they had time to get upon their feet. The harness was badly lemoralized and a new pole will take the place of the eld one in the wagon. The telegraph pole stood the shock nobly.

-As is usual on the first of the year there are many business changes, faithful employ es promoted or taken into the firm which they have served faithfully and well. In this connection THE BEE extends hearty congratulations to Joe Brussel, who has for years been the right hand man at Max Meyer & Co.'s. As a reward for his past faithful services he is now placed where he will hereafter share in the prosperity of the firm with which he has northerly winds.

For the Missouri valley: Fair, slightly oughly understands his business, having been seen so long connected. Mr. Brussel thorengaged in the wholesale cigar and tobacco in the western portions by rising barom- business with his brothers in New York city before entering the service of Max Meyer

-The common council met last evening and adjourned to Thursday next at the same hour. -Manager Nugent, of the Theater Comique, was made the recipient last evening of a handsome tollet case by the artists and employes of his theatre.

-Mr. Joe Blake presented the employes of his popular resort with the entire proceeds of yesterday's business. The sum, although by no means fabulous, was yet a very appropriate gift, which the boys richly deserved.

-The Grand Island train was delayed five hours and a half at Silver Creek yesterday afternoon, by a freight engine which was off the track and the Denver express from the same cause was two hours and fifty minutes

-The New Year's ball of the Turn Verein society took place last evening at their hall on Harney street. About fifty couples participated in the dancing, and the affair passed off very nicely. The committee of arrangements

The Meeting of the Board of Director

The meeting of the board of director of the Omaha Board of Trade, occurred on Monday at 3 p. m., with the following members present: John Evans, chairman; M. Hellman, P. Windheim and N. B. Falconer. In the absence of Mr. secretary pro tem.

Petitions for membership were presented for Chris, Hartman and Samuel J. Howell, and they were duly elected members of the Omaha Board of Trade.

The secretary was instructed to invite the Hon. F. Sthull to lecture on the Resources of Idaho, and its business opportunities for this city.

Three resolutions were presented by Mr. Nicholas. Objections were made, were referred to them by vote of the general board, which was answered, No, and was referred to the chair.

The matter of removal was discussed what desk room could be rented, and report at next meeting.

On motion the meeting was adjourned. On Tuesday evening the meeting pro-vided for by the charter, should have taken place, but as a quorum of members failed to show up the meeting was adjourned until Monday next at 7:30 p. m.

Cruelty to Animals Exemplified in Our Midst.

THE BEE reporter this afternoon ran They Meet in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms across one of the most contemptible men in the city of Omaha. His name is Porter and he lives on Dodge street.

Ever since Christmas he has kept his two horses hitched to a fence in his back Monday evening. It being the last meeting Watterson will take a trip through the south | yard, with no covering except a pair of neighbor says that they have had nothing scarcely to eat, and at last taking the matter in his own hands, he was proceed ing to the office of the president of the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" when he met the BEE man and a policeman.

The trio proceeded to the house of Porter, and found that worthy in the yard with his horses. After some very pointed comments on the subject and a proposal by two of the parties to pay for the stabling of the poor animals to-night, the man promised to provide for them better shelter to-morrow. It will be advisable for him to do so.

Porter owns the house and lot where he lives, on Dodge street, and is said to own a farm of 306 acres near Millard which only makes the offense more dis-picable.

CRUSHED.

James Connell Killed at Lyons Yes-

James Connell, a passenger train brakeman, running on the St. Paul & Omaha railway, was killed at Lyons yesterday morning while coupling cars.

Connell had exchanged runs with a fellow-brakeman, in order to spend New Year's at home in this city, where his relatives reside, on Webster street. When picked up he was unconscious and

An Important Meeting of Property Holders.

Big Improvement Contemplated for the Upper Portion of that Thoroughfare.

A meeting of the principal property owners of upper Farnam street was held Monday at the city engineer's office to consider the advisability and propriety of making an easy and uniform grade of the street to the city limits and beyond, Among those present were W. A. Pax-Charles Turner, Dr. Hart, Christ, Hartman, D. T. Mount, E. Rosewater, W. A. L. Gibbon, James Creighton, John A. McShane and J. H. McShane.

A profile of the entire street as it now is from Ninth to the city limits was shown, and the new grade was agreed upon by all present, with the exception of two dissenting voices. This grade will begin at Sixteenth street and go to the city limits. The cut at the crossing of Seventeenth street will be four feet, and at Eighteenth street it will be thirteen feet. This will be the deepest cut, and also the highest elevation this side of the second hill. At Nineteenth street the cut will be eight feet, and from Nine-teenth to Twenty-second there will be a heavy fill. As agreed upon the line from Eighteenth to Twenty-second will be upon a very nicely. The committee of arrangements consisted of Messrs. Ph. Andrus, Geo. Parisen and Wm. Steckler. Hesse and Hoppe furnished supper.

level, and the approach to the top of the second hill will be so gradually that it will hardly be appreciated. Westward from the summit, near S. R. Brown's residence, there will be cutting and filling so that at no place will there be a rise of more than six feet in a hundred.

BOARD OF TRADE. level, and the approach to the top of the The county commissioners have agreed line, 100 feet wide, and the property owners beyond Thirtieth street, have agreed to donate the ground necessary to widen the street to that width.

It was concluded by all parties present that such a grade would make Farnam street the grand thoroughfare of Omaha. and that business would be extended clear out to Twenty-second street. All Driscoll, Thos. Gibson was appointed but two of the property owners present signed a petition to the council waiving their right to damages, and some of them have subscribed liberally to pay whatever damages may be assessed.

The county commissioners have agreed to open this street clear to Elkhorn, and probably macadamize four or five miles of it into the country, and eventually macadamize it to the western limits of

With such a grade as is proposed, Farnam street will be the easiest way to and the chair inquired if the resolutions reach Capitol hill and West Omaha, and will be the most feasible route for a street railway to that part of the city. A person standing anywhere between Eighteenth and Twenty-second streets will and the secretary instructed to inquire have an unobstructed view of Farnam street clear to Ninth, and a person standing at Ninth will be able to see a row of gas lamps two miles long.

and Ring in the Glad New Year.

The Chautauqua literary and scientific society met in the Y. M. C. A. rooms of the year, upon the last night of the very ragged blankets. The nearest year, it was an unusually interesting meeting. A special programme hac been the C., St. P., M. & O. R. R. prepared and a large number were in attendance to enjoy it.

After a very pleasing programme of song and recitation the following question was discussed: "Is the Study of Political Economy Beneficial?" The affirmative was taken by J. L. Kennard. while C. M. Harrison wrestled with the negative. More songs and recitations were then heard, and all of them were well received and loudly applauded.

An invitation from Mrs. C. H. Dewey, asking the circle to meet at her house next time, was accepted, after which the ollowing officers were elected to serve for the next three months: President, J. L. Kennard; vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Robins; secretary, Miss Mamie Fitch; treasurer, George A. Pritchard. A recess of ten minutes followed, when the ladies and gentlemen paired off in preparation for the elegant banquet, which then de-manded the attention of all. The following was the menu: Turkey, chicken, ham, oysters, sandwiches, pickles, biscuit, coffee, cake, oranges, apples, grapes, etc. After the guests had disposed of the liberal supply of provender, toasts and speeches were in order, which formed a

The rollcall of Chautauquans then took place and was a very charming ceremony. This concluded the very interesting programme, and after ringing out the old year and ringing in the new the party dispersed shortly after midnight.

The circle in Omaha is now composed of the following members: Rev. C. W. Savidge, Mrs. N. M. Lemon, Rev. E. W. Battis, Mrs. Battis, W. C. Morgan, H. Their New Rooms in Campbell Block

any of the children. On Friday morning that dread disease, scarlet fever, fastened its fatal grasp upon him, and in a short time he became unconscious. He sank rapidly until Sunday morning when he died. All that loving hands and skilled physicians could do for any one, was done for him but all to no avail. The doctor and his wife have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this, the hour of their bereavement.

> Sunday Track Laying at Grand Island, and the Usual Injunction.

It is evident that the Chicago, Burkeep out of the Union Pacific pool, but proposes to make a fight and also invade the so-called territory of the Union Pacific north of the Platte. It is more tha nlikely that a lively war will ensue between these two corporations. The preliminary skirmishing has already begun at Grand Island, to which place the Burlington proposes to immediately extend its system, and push on from that point into the north Platte country. The county commissioners have agreed commenced laying track each side of the to extend Farnam street in a straight land purchased by the Burlington company. An injunction was issued against the Union Pacific by parties interested in the Burlington, but the proper persons could not be found before Sunday morning, when the service did not amount to anything, the Union Pacific continuing to lay track all day Sunday and during Sunday night. On Monday they had a large gang of men at work and track is being laid through the center of Front street. The Grand Island people are in favor of giving the Burlington company every advantage to come there, and it is understood the city council proposes to

THE GLAD NEW YEAR.

It is Ushered in by the Ringing Bells and the Firing of Caanons.

While the Old Year is Silently Numbered Among the Things of the Past-New Year's Calls,

Monday was one of the most bitter and cold of the winter, and yet this did not prevent large numbers of our citizens from anxiously watching the dial plate of the clock and waiting until the two hands both stood upright, when the "Happy New Year" was exchanged. The boys, as usual, paid the last sad tribute to the departed year, and with guns, firecrackers and anvils, welcomed the advent of the incoming year, 1884. A number of young men, armed with triangles, paraded the streets just as the hands of the clock passed twelve o'clock mark, and as the clear and ringing tones of the three cornered steels rang out upon the crisp midnight air they produced a sound at once pleasant and beautiful.

The various noises were kept up for an hour or so, when quiet once mote settled down upon the city and its inhabitants slumbered until the break of day.

All day long and upon every hand yes terday was heard the glad welcome, "wish you a happy New Year," and to the majority of our people it is a happy New Year. As the ledger is balanced, in many cases there is found to be a larger excess upon the credit side, which cannot fail to bring peace and happiness to the business man, and the outlook for the year, upon which we have just entered is even more promising than was that of the one which has just passed away.

If all the good resolutions which were made yesterday would only be kept the millenium would most certainly be at hand. But alas, how many of them will be broken before twenty-four hours have passed away. Some of them, however, will be kept, and those who make and keep them will be far happier, if permitted to witness the incoming of 1885, than

The number of gentlemen making calls to-day was not as large as in former years. Whether the cold weather frightened them out, or whether the good old custom is on the decline we are uninterfere with the rights assumed by the prepared to say. Those who did brave the winter's blast and pay their respects to their fair friends were as well received as ever they have been in former years. Last evening numerous little social gatherings were held in various parts absolute cruelty to animals to them standing unprotected from the wind and cold, on such a day as yesterday. All day long, from early morn until the shades of night had fallen, there were a number of farmers' teams standing upon Howard street, without a blanket or anything to break the wind from them. There they stood, all doubled up in a heap, and shivering with the cold, while their owners were holding out for a half Omaha as one of the popular conductors on two whole dollars at a neighboring gin mill. This is quite frequently the case, and it is a pity that the faithful beasts are not given humane treatment.

There are also a number of citizens of this city who drive their horses down town and leave them stand for hours together without a blanket, when good heavy lap robes for their own protection are lying in the buggy.
