THE WEEK IN CHICAGO.

Special Dispatch to The Bee.

CHICAGO, January 11.—Speculation in board of trade commodities was fair during the week. The local interest was the largest in the market, although a fair business was received from New York and the country. The outside public cannot, however, be said to be in the market. Prices tended downward, but reacted on some days a cent or more. The total range for wheat was about 3 cents, for corn 2 to 3, and provisions about 5 cents. The greatest activity was in wheat, but not a single feature is to be noticed in it. Stocks show no decrease, and the demand from Europe has not begun. There are 40,000,000 bushels in store for which there is substantially no market.

Corn shows an increase in supply, but there is nothing new affecting the theory that there is an insufficiency for home consumption. Kansas is filled with buyers from Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, who are purchasing for farm use.

Provisions advanced under, it was supposed, the manipulation of the Armour clique. At the present price of hogs there is no profit in the packing business, and the aim of the packers is therefore to depress provisions in order to lower the price of hogs, but with corn at 60 cents it is proving a difficult matter.

The whole week was devoid of events of startling interest, and matters remain much the same as they were a week ago.

General business was quiet. The dry goods market has not improved. Clothing, boots and shoes are doing slightly better owing to the cold weather. There is some likelihood of an improvement in the iron trade. The mills are preparing to start up, and steel rails are quoted $3 higher.

Money is very easy, millions of dollars lying idle in this city awaiting opportunities for investment. Shipments of currency to the country are not heavy.
