THE WEEK IN CHICAGO.

Special Dispatch to THE BEE. CHICAGO, January 25.—Active and generally higher markets have ruled on the board of trade during the week. Trading on speculative account was mostly local, but very heavy. Shipping demand also showed a decided improvement. Interior and western points purchased wheat steadily, and the demand for corn continued unabated. The receipts of cash showed a large decrease every day, but sixty cars of wheat being reported Friday. The largest business was in wheat, and prices fluctuated over a range of 3 cents, closing at the highest point of the week to date. Corn was bought well by country speculators, and on certain days showed a large volume of local trade. Prices advanced 2 cents, and apparently, as is the case with all grains, tend higher. Opinions of operators are well divided, with perhaps a preponderance on the bull side.
