THE TURNERS.

Grand Success of the Tenth Aunua Ball of the Turnverein Society Saturday Night,

The tenth annual ball of the Turnverein society of Omaha was cetebrated at their spacious and elegant hall, on Harney street, and was a grand success in every particular.

About one hundred and twenty couples participated in the festivities of the occasion, and a jollier and happier crowd of well as one of the most popular men on the people was never before seen gathered together in the city of Omaha, and as the sweet strains of Thiele's orchestra floated upon the air, it was a brilliant and merry scene to watch the dancers as they floated by as if on ange! wings.

The Turners are noted for being royal entertainers, and upon this occasion they lost none of their old-time notoriety, but rather added new laurels.

During the noon hour Saturday the offfice of the Nebraska & Iowa Insurance words of the highest praise of a successficiently strong to bear the weight company witnessed quite a lively scene. ful and meritorious affair, An old Iriah lady by the name of Kelly, who resides a few miles from town, went into the insurance office and stated that she desired to pay a note which the company held against her. The note was produced by one of the two clerks who were in the office at the loss is a severe one to Mr. Johnson, who time, and the old lady took hold of one depended upon them principally for his end while the clerk held the other end of the piece of paper.

The note called for $135, while the old lady declared that she had only signed a $100 note. During the argument which followed the old lady snatched the note and put it in her pocket and refused to give it up. She could not be persuaded to disgorge, and Officer Sigwart was called in. At the same time a friend of the woman came in and advised her to justice. give up the paper, which she finally did, although very reluctantly. Upon the street she told a story which was to the effect that an agent of the Iowa and Nebraska Insurance company had come to her house in the country, and that she had signed a note for $100, which had since been raised to $135. She was very loud in her denunciations of last night, in memory of Rev. G. F. the company, and declared that she to ably honor the memory of Emmet, would bring suit against them.

THE EMMETT'S ANNUAL.

Birth of Their Martyr Patron

It Will Take Place in Boyd's Opera House, Tuesday, March 4th.

When a year ago the members of the Emmet Monument association broke away from their old-time custom of celebrating the anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet in their meeting hall, and engaged Boyd's opera house for the event, it was a step that reflected credit upon the organization. From a free entertainment in a small hall, to a paid celebration on a grand and befitting scale was a decided move in advance. But they succeeded in gathering an audience large in number, and one that spoke nothing but

This year they are determined to even outdo the last. An active and energetic committee has been at work for a number of weeks past, and from what THE BEE can learn of the programme, nearly complete, it will be a celebration that will be an honor to the Irish peo ple of Omaha. Boyd's has been engaged for the night, and the best local talent are tendering their assistance. Col. Michael Boland, formerly of Leuisville, Ky., but now located in Denver, will honor the memory of Em-met in an oration; the Glee club will render two numbers: the trial scene from the drama or Robert Emmet will be presented with every detail adhered to:

presented by those capable of doing her Col. Boland, the gentleman who will deliver the oration, is known throughout America as one of the most thoroughly brilliant of Irishmen. As an orator he truly represents the national spirit so rapidly gaining ground, and his close counection with national affairs and the high positions of honor and trust conferred upon him by his countrymen, qualify him whose young life went out upon the altar of Irish nationality.

The Emmets will certainly meet with s good reception at the opera house on Tuesday, March 4th. When the programme is fully arranged, THE BEE will publish it, and bespeaks for the affair grand success.

COASTING.

The Boys and Girls Indulge in it Free ly Upon the Sabbath.

Yesterday morning the boys and girls down, slowly but steadily, until about two inches of the beautiful stuff had covered the earth. Then, notwithstanding the fact that it was the Sabbath day, hunwho were not so young, shouldered their Gov. Grant, of Colorado, is in the city, and hand sleds and started for the hills. All day long the coasting was kept up and small sleighs and large ones, loaded with a dozen or more boys and girls sped swiftly down the white covered inclines, while their youthful voices rang out upon the mild winter air as if to entirely abolish the old and time honored Puritan custom of strictly keeping the Sabbath. Property owners upon the streets where the children were coasting shoveled the snow off the sidewalks, while the children as quickly shoveled it on in order to make good sliding places, and it is a wonder that pedestrians are not killed or injured by the swiftly flying sleighs upon the sidewalks. Children should not be allowed to coast upon the sidewalks. A number of people were also endeav oring to make use of the snow for sleighriding purposes, but it was such as to but

A Servant Girl Steals Her Master's Watch and Chain to Wear to a Ball.

Mr. Harris, who keeps a second hand store at the corner of Tenth and Farnam streets, last night missed his gold watch and chain, and was considerably worried about its loss as it was a valuable onc. For some time past he has had in his employ a servant girl who has been con sidered perfectly honest, but as she and the watch were both gone, Mr. Harris thought he would look her up and maybe she might have taken the watch for safe keeping. He started out and found her at a Bohemian dance, and around her neck was a watch chain and attached to that chain was the watch for which Harris onged.

He gently removed the watch and chain from her neck and took his departure, leaving the girl to enjoy herself at the dance without her borrowed ornaments.

The watch and chain were valued by Mr. Harris at $100. He did not have the girl arrested.

Last Night's Fire. At 9:30 last night an alarm of fire was

U. C. L. A. Social.

The regular monthly entertainment of the Union Catholic Library association will be given next Wednesday evening at Masonic hall. This month Judge Sayage has consented to deliver a lecture on "books," and certainly there are few in national party of Ireland, her national music and her national oratory will be the city who are so well qualified to handle this subject as he. The Musical Union orchestra, under the leadership of Prof. Hoffman, will render a very choice programme including the "Librar March," arranged by Hoffman. A dele gation of editors will manage the drawing for the "crazy quilt," of which every one has heard so much, and the lucky number will be announced to the audience. The seats will be ar ranged in anticipation of the promenade and the social will be made of the fea tures of the entertainment.

The society has received permission from its spiritual director, the Right Reverend Bishop O'Connor, to make arrangement for a lecture, with Monsigneur Chapel, the distinguished English prelate. The date has not been definitely agreed upon. This will be an event of more than ordinary interest, and it is probable that the opera house will be secured for the occasion.
