mitted to the house of representatives in response to resolutions asking for the papers relating to the exclusion of American hog products from foreign countries. He submits to the president copies of all pertinent matter found of record in the department of state, and gives in detail the history of the exclusion of American meats from France, Germany, and other European countries. In March, 1881, the secretary says, the department of state prosecuted an examination of the various phases of the pork industry in the western states, which re-sulted in establishing the fact of the entire healthfulness of pork products.
The facts thus elicited warranted the department in representing to foreign governments that the prejudiof this country was ex parte and un-founded. When it was ascertained that Germany was about to issue an order for total exclusion, the president directed the imperial government to be informed of his intention to appoint a commission to examine the whole subject, and invited it commission. The invitation was declined. The president has since appointed the commission then contemplated. It is composed of a representative of the New York chamber of commerce, Prof. Charles F. Chandler, a representative of the Chieago board of trade, E. W. Blatchford, and two members appointed by the commissioner of agriculture, F. D. Curtis, of New York, and Prof. D. E. Salmon, the whole under the chairby the commissioner of agriculture, F. D. Cartis, of New York, and Prof. D. Cartis, of New York, and Prof. D. E. Salmon, the whole under the chair-manship of the commissioner of agriculture. In point of scientific competence and elevated impartiality the formation of the commission peculiarly fits it for the execution of tis responsible task. To it should belong in a great measure the shall be policy of this government. Wr. Had elissented from these views, and the dissented from these views shaping of the policy of this government towards the pork question in its domestic or foreign aspects. In view, therefore, of the prominent part which the results reached by the pork commission must reached by the pork of the question by the executive or by congress, the secretary feels it incumbent upon him to advise that the president recommend that congress abstain from any immediate legislative action until the report of the commission, soon to be presented, is before it. The secretary further says the ques-tion to be carefully, frankly and honestly met, is whether the prepared meat products for export from this country are injurious to the public health. We believe they are not, and have so represented. Should it appear that the meat products of this country are, as we believe them to be, not deleterious but promoters of health, it is believed those friendly nations which put forth the decrees prohibiting the importation of our meats would annul those decrees. If, however, in face of the clear proof communicable germs of disease or which might be established to a demonstration by actual inspection. stration by actual inspection, as well as supported by knowledge of the precautions which surround the raising and packing industries here, any nations with which we are on terms of intimacy and amity should by legislation discriminate against the trade of this country rather than protect the health of their people, it would then have been the province of the executive to call the attention of such nations to the provisions of the treaties would be provisions of the treaties.
